NEWSPAPER DIVISION

Today

Obregon, of Mexico
Peace, Peace
Heir to Coolidge
Money Down, Stocks Up
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

OBREGON, newly elected President of Mexico, will not succeed Calles. Six bullets, fired into him as he sat at a banquet, have sent him out of the world's activities.

Violent times are expected in Mexico, unfortunately.

Just before receipt of the Associated Press "flash," telling of the assassination, the following paragraphs had been written, for publication:

"Obregon, recently elected President of Mexico, says his nation will not change its attitude on religion, and it seeks 'the establishment of capital's responsibilities and labor's rights in their fundamental aspects.'

"If he can establish that he will do something never done before.

"The world has always taken it for granted that labor's right is the right to a living, and 'capital's responsibilities' consist of taking and keeping anything over and above what labor requires to live."

So far as Obregon is concerned, questions affecting capital, labor and religion are now settled for eternity. Others must struggle with them.

Once more the question will be asked, "Does assassination ever change the course of history?"

European nations are coming into line signing the Kellogg peace treaty, which many hope and some believe, will put an end to war.

We didn't invite Russia to sign, but she is willing to sign anyhow.

French statesman [illegible] treaty, saying they are satisfied because it "binds the United States to Europe more than it binds Europe to the United States.

Time will tell to what extent this country is bound to Europe by this treaty.

There are many ways of killing a cat, many ways of disguising a Laverne or Nelson.

Herbert Hoover has finished his visit to Calvin Coolidge. They fished together for three hours and the fish learned something about the power of silence.

The President will speak during the campaign at least twice for Hoover as "heir of the Coolidge policies."

The last five words are important.

The President will tell the country, which elected him with 7,000,000 votes to spare, that continued prosperity demands Hoover's election.

Money went down yesterday, stock prices went up.

The price of money will go up again, then stocks will go down.

But, for the long run, substantial properties in this country are selling for less than they are worth, even at present prices.

If you could only recognise them, which you can't from the outside looking in, many stocks are selling far below prices they will bring some day. Others, of course, that even a fool ought to recognise at sight, are in for a bad time.

Henry L. Stimson, governor-general of the Philippines, wants business men in those islands to borrow money from America, to build up their country.

He says there wouldn't be any "serfdom."

The Philippines might ask the people of Porto Rico how they feel. Our postoffice has just established an air mail service, linking Porto Rico with all the United States. Uncle Sam isn't such a bad senior partner.

Harry K. Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the architect, and was set free, then put in the

Please Turn to Page 16, Column 7.

TODAY'S BANK STATEMENTS

Boston balance	$38,000,000
Boston clearance.....	$7,000,000
New York balance	136,000,000
New York clearance...	1,072,000,000

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight: Thursday possible thunderhowers and cooler.

High tide 12:23 a. m.; 1:00 p. m.
Sun rises 5:23; sets 8:17.
Light all vehicles at 8:47 p. m.

Gen. Gray Hurt at Devens

SPORTING
CLOSING STOCKS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
A HOME PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE WHO THINK

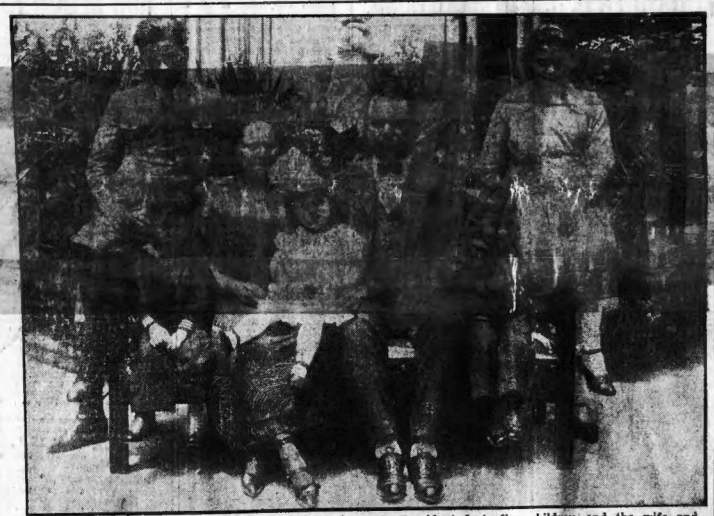
THE Peach

VOL. 25—No. 99 Published Daily by New England Newspaper Publishing Co., 8 Winthrop Square BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1928 Entered as second class mail matter at Boston, Mass., under the act of March 3, 1879 2 CENTS WITHIN 50 MILES OF BOSTON 3 CENTS ELSEWHERE

MEXICO CITY ARMED CAMP: OBREGON FOES IN FLIGHT

Revere Boy Mute Talks After Plane Ride

General Alvaro Obregon & His Wife and Children



This picture, taken in Mexico City, shows the family circle of the President-elect, five children and the wife and mother now plunged into grief by the assassin's bullet. In the group are Humbor, Alvaro, Jr., Mrs. Obregon, Alvita, General Obregon, Mayo and Refugio.
—Boston Evening American Staff Photo.

REVOLUTION FEARED AFTER OBREGON ASSASSINATION

Mexico City, July 18 (AP)—Assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon caused stringent measures today to curb disorder. Censorship was in force. Police and soldiers patrolled the streets of the capital and the roads of the surrounding countryside.

The army was prepared for an emergency, all troops being ordered to barracks and held in readiness in case of disorder.

There were innumerable rumors in the capital of uprisings and other killings, but all proved untrue.

Intense excitement prevailed everywhere, but neither the newspapers nor the government had any information of trouble breaking out anywhere in the republic.

The War Department today issued an official communique saying that the army would guarantee the public peace.

President Calles was surrounded by a strong guard. All saloons were closed as were theaters and other places of amusement.

Many of those known to be opposed to Obregon fled from Mexico City before the fury of his friends and supporters which was kept in bounds only by police precautions.

Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

Hub Hottest City in East

	Yesterday	Today
1 a. m.	74	78
2 a. m.	73	75
3 a. m.	72	73
4 a. m.	70	73
5 a. m.	70	73
6 a. m.	70	71
7 a. m.	72	73
8 a. m.	74	76
9 a. m.	76	80
10 a. m.	80	84
11 a. m.	83	85
12 noon	86	88
1 p. m.	87	89

Boston was the hottest point in the East today, being only surpassed by cities in Perth, Louisiana and Texas.

At 1 o'clock the mercury reached 89 and seemed scheduled to go several degrees higher.

The bare possibility of thunder

Please Turn to Page 1, Column 7.

Mrs. Hoover's Father Dies

Placerville, Cal., July 18—Charles D., first father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, presidential nominee, died here today following a stroke of paralysis. His illness has been seriously ill for the past two weeks. He was 84 years old.

Henry died without having realized his last wish—that he might live to see Mrs. Hoover, his daughter, once more.

The end came at the special train bearing the Republican standard bearer and his wife toward Placerville on home, was racing westward seven hours.

Hoover has abandoned his reception and welcome in California, scheduled for San Francisco, as a result of the death.

RUSSIANS RENEW HUNT FOR LOST NOBILE MEN

Moscow, July 18 (AP)—Soviet rescuers today continued their efforts to clear up the fate of Roald Amundsen and his five missing companions.

Preparations also were made to begin an extensive search for the six men who drifted off to the east over the ice field in the balloon part of the Italia after its crash north of Spitsbergen.

A special conference of scientists reiterated their belief that Amundsen had joined the balloon group. It was pointed out that Amundsen's pilot, Capt. Rene Guilbaud, could easily have taken Amundsen to them in the French seaplane. It was thought possible that the chassis of the plane had been damaged in alighting on the ice and that

Please Turn to Page 6, Column 4.

GEN. GRAY INJURED AS HORSE FALLS AT DEVENS

Camp Devens, July 18—Brig.-Gen. Albert C. Gray, commander of the 51st Infantry Brigade, Massachusetts National Guard, received a fractured collarbone and numerous contusions and abrasions about the face and body when he was thrown over his horse's head as the animal galloped down a rocky embankment.

The horse stepped on a loose rock and stumbled. Gen. Gray, who was accompanied by members of his staff at the time, was quickly rushed to the camp hospital where he was treated for his injuries and placed in bed.

At the hospital it was said the

Please Turn to Page 6, Column 3.

LAGER · PALE · BOCK · STOUT OLD COLONY BREW

"Be Ale-wise"
Sold by more than 6000 stores in New England
OLD COLONY BREWING CO
BOSTON

THRILL OF PLANE RIDE RESTORES MUTE'S VOICE

A Revere boy, eight years old, who had never spoken a word in his life, was "thrilled" into talking by riding in an airplane which performed death-defying stunts half a mile above the beach city.

"Daddy . . . mother . . . airplane," he said, as the flight ended and the motor stopped its roaring, and he has spoken freely ever since and always will, according to specialists.

The boy is George Porter, Jr., son of Capt. George Porter of the Revere fire department, living on Payson st.

His vocal cords were perfectly formed, but by some psychological twist he could not use them. Such a case is rare, but not unique. His cure, however, is the first of its kind on record.

All known cures were tried by the

Please Turn to Page 6, Column 5.

Enjoy Summer Pleasures In Your Own Automobile

Through the ownership of a car to take you to the beaches and out in the country, you, too, can share the enjoyment of healthful summer days.

A car selected from the Classified automobile columns will give you good service. It can be purchased on most reasonable terms.

Decide right now to make THIS summer different. Select a car from the Classified columns of today's

Boston Evening American
Largest Evening Circulation in New England

Judge Charles J. Brown Picks ELCHO Cigar Contest Winner

Judge Charles J. Brown of the East Boston Court, after reading over a thousand letters written as answers to the Elcho Cigar offer to give $100 to the best letter telling why manufacturers making cigars by machine describe them as hand rolled, awards the $100 to H. E. Klein, 89 Sanborn Ave., West Roxbury, Mass. Mr. Klein's letter follows:

"HAND-MADE implies the embodiment of those essential human attributes—intelligence, care, skill, in the making of a high-grade product. Describing 'machine-made' cigars as 'hand-rolled' is misleading, and appears to be an attempt on the part of the machine-made producers to capitalize on the enviable reputation of HAND MADE CIGARS for SUPERIOR QUALITY."

Remember—the Elcho Cigar Company is the only big Boston cigar manufacturer making cigars by hand.

HUNT DRIVER WHO THREATENED OFFICER WITH GUN

Riot guns and automatics were called into play today in a man hunt at Forest Hills cemetery after the driver of an Illinois auto thrust a gun in the face of a patrolman and fled among the tombstones. Patrolman John Ashmore of the Jamaica Plain station spread the alarm that brought squads of police and the flying squadron.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET STRONG

New York stock market was strong in the closing period today when call money dropped to 5 1-2 per cent. Burroughs jumped $14 a share and Byers over $5. Adams Express soared $12. National Tea added $9. Macy added $11.25.

ALL POWERS ACCEPT U. S. ANTI-WAR PACT

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Acceptance of Secretary Kellogg's proposals for a multilateral treaty renouncing war by the nations, which, with the United States, would comprise the original signatories to the pact, was completed today when the British note was handed to the American charge in London.

It speaks not only for the London government itself, but also for the Australian, New Zealand, Indian and South African units of the British commonwealth.

At the same time announcement came from Poland of acceptance by that country, and Ottawa announced that Canada had also accepted and

Please Turn to Page 6, Column 2.

Frozen Wastes Yield Human Life ⁓ As 'Eagle of the Arctic' ⁓ Flies in Thrilling Iliad of the Air

ITALIAN PILOT FIRST HERO IN DRAMATIC STORY OF NOBILE PARTY RESCUES

Italian Pilot Major Maddalena, and portion of the Arctic landscape he flew over in his hunt for General Nobile and his party, after the wreck of the Italia. This photograph was taken by Signor Luce, official photographer with the Maddalena rescue plane.

ON WINGS COMES AID WHEN HOPE WA

The Maddalena plane, swooping from the sky, was the an peril of death beyond Spitzbergen. The plane is shown as graphed from the plane. It was one of the great mome

S FAST FADING IN STRANDED PARTY

swer to the Nobile party's prayers for safe delivery from it appeared to them, and the Nobile camp as it was photo— —International Newsreel Photo

CALLES MOBILIZES TROOPS TO STEM MEXICO REVOLT

Continued From First Page.

The headquarters of Luis Morones, secretary of labor and Obregon's greatest political opponent, were surrounded by a guard at the instance of President Calles, who feared that there might be some attempts at violence.

The one armed warrior-president was slain yesterday afternoon at a banquet in his honor by a man who approached under the guise of showing Obregon some cartoons he had drawn of the dinner. He fired six bullets into the general from a gun concealed among the sketches.

The assassination occurred in a restaurant at San Angel, near Mexico City.

The assassin was almost torn apart by maddened friends of the slain general. He was rescued by police and rushed to jail. There he confessed the crime, although his motive was not made known.

President Calles made a futile attempt to learn the motive of the crime from the assassin.

"It is useless," the slayer said, "for you to attempt to force me to tell anything. If I was resolute enough to kill Obregon in the presence of several hundred of his supporters, knowing full well that it meant my death, I am resolute enough to say nothing."

RAISES RELIGIOUS CRY

Newspapers had an unconfirmed report today which attributed this statement to the assassin:

"I killed Obregon because I want Christ the King to reign completely and not partially."

The assassin gave only the name of Juan. In rumors that spread about the capital it was referred to as Juan Escapularo, "Escapulario," Spanish for scapula, a religious emblem, is a term of derision used by anti-Catholics in Mexico.

Police said the slayer's shirt had on it the initials: "J. J. G." They were investigating the theory that the assassin might be Juan Jose Gonzalez, alleged to have been the driver of the automobile from which bombs were thrown last year in an attempt to kill Obregon.

Detective Alvaro Basail, who investigated that attempt on Obregon's life, declared that the man had been among the previous plotters.

Basail, who was arrested some months ago on a charge of blackmailing Catholics, was looking out from behind the bars of his cell as the slayer was brought into the jail. He exclaimed:

"I recognize that face; I have his picture among my collection of plotters against Obregon."

President Calles issued an emergency order removing the heads of the Mexico City police department and putting in charge new officials who have been among Obregon's closest supporters.

NEW POLICE CHIEF.

Gen. Roberto Cruz was supplanted as chief of police by Gen. Antonio Rios Jertuche, one of Obregon's closest friends. Arturo R. Orci, another Obregon adherent, became secretary-general of the police headquarters.

Calles also issued preemptory orders that the police and army officials co-operate immediately in an investigation of the assassination in an effort to determine whether it was an irresponsible act or the result of a deep political plot.

Evidence that the crime was premeditated was found in a paper discovered in the pocket of the slayer. It was addressed to "To my family" and said:

"Knowing that I will die in carrying out my principle, I bid you farewell." It was signed simply "Juan."

Another slip of paper contained the names "Romero, Topete, Robinson" and it was assumed that these names were of men also singled out for death.

Thomas Robinson, young American mining engineer, recently married Ernestina Calles, daughter of President Calles.

There are a number of Romeros prominent in Obregon ranks. Ricardo Topete is the leader of the Obregon forces in Congress.

CALLES TO HOLD OFFICE

The general opinion was that President Calles, whose term expires in December, would continue in the presidency.

Gen. Obregon many times narrowly escaped assassination. Several times during the presidential campaign his headquarters was bombed.

The slaying came unexpectedly. Obregon was sitting at a banquet given him by political supporters at the little town of San Angel, near Mexico City. While he chatted with his hosts, a band played Mexican music and a cartoonist drew sketches of the notables.

Suddenly the cartoonist rose and approached Gen. Aaron Saenz, governor of Nueva Leon, who was seated on Obregon's left. He noted permission to show the cartoons to the guest of honor.

The man turned to Obregon, pretended to show him the sketches and then with a gun, which he had concealed under the papers fired directly into the President-elect's body.

Obregon slumped back in his chair moaning. There was a dash for the slayer and guns and knives were pulled. He was in imminent danger, but Gen. Cruz jumped in front of him and held off the men who thirsted for his blood.

"No, let's keep him, we want to find out who's back of this," Cruz shouted.

Obregon was in the greatest agony as he was carried to his automobile. He died before he reached it. In a few moments the body had been taken to his home, which was already surrounded by a large force of soldiers and police. Later presidential guards on horseback were added to the guard.

Recalls "Open Door" Message of Obregon to Hammond

The assassination of President-Elect Obregon of Mexico throws into high relief the promise he made in a telegram last week to John Hays Hammond of Gloucester, world famous American engineer, who had felicitated him on his election.

"I hope to interpret for Mexico the desire that henceforth its frontiers are open to all men of enterprise who, inspired by the noble purpose of mutual co-operation, wish to come here and work with us to develop our great natural resources," was Gen. Obregon's message.

Upon receiving it, Hammond predicted a continued era of good feeling between the United States and Mexico and a great future for the latter country, with American capital flowing there to develop its great wealth of natural resources.

Exiled Mexican Bishop Shocked by Assassination

New York, July 18 (AP)—Bishop Pascual Diaz, exiled bishop of the Roman Catholic Church in Mexico, regrets the assassination of President-elect Obregon.

"I regret it with all my heart," Bishop Diaz said. "As an apostle of peace and reconciliation this news shocks me terribly. No good can come of such violent measures. Plots can only create further strife in our country and make matters much worse than ever before. Peace must come from love and not from hate."

Vatican Had Been Hoping to Make Peace With Obregon

Rome, July 18 (AP)—News of the death of President-elect Obregon of Mexico produced considerable impression at the Vatican because only recently the congregation for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs met several times to examine and discuss a possible modus vivendi concerning the status of the church in Mexico.

This possible plan is supposed to have had Obregon's approval and it is understood would have been accepted once he became president.

Asserts Calles Is Seeking Mexico Dictatorship

Washington, July 18 (INS)—Virtual martial law in Mexico City, with the prospect that President Calles will immediately convoke Congress and request dictatorial powers, was reported today in long distance telephone conversations to the Mexican embassy here.

Calles is reported prepared for the strongest measures to preserve order and to have invoked article 29 of the constitution, which clothes the President with unlimited powers in emergency.

'OBREGON BEST FRIEND TO U. S.' SAYS CONSUL

"With the death of President-elect Obregon, the United States lost the best friend it ever had in Mexico," said Raul G. Dominguez, Mexican consul in Boston, today.

"I am very, very sorrowful because we considered him and Calles the two greatest men in Mexico.

"Obregon was assassinated to further the intrigues of an enemy political party—and we know who directly are to blame.

"I knew Gen. Obregon intimately since 1911 and served under him for three years in the northeastern army. He was always courteous and had a keen sense of humor. All who knew him loved him.

OBREGON BODY ON WAY HOME TO SONORA

Mexico City, July 18 (AP)—Headed by President Calles an impressive cortege today escorted from the National Palace to the railroad station the body of Gen. Obregon.

The body had rested in state at the National Palace all night, watched over by a special guard of army officers and viewed until a late hour by long lines of mourners of every class.

The crowds began gathering near the palace before dawn today and stood patiently behind the lines of troops waiting for the funeral procession to pass to the railroad station. The highest dignitaries of the government and a large military escort prepared to board the special train which was routed to Guadalajara and thence up the Southern Pacific of Mexico to Sonora, the home both of Obregon and Calles.

Dog Howls 48 Hours Before Obregon Is Shot Down

Mexico City, July 18 (AP)—Some associates of Gen. Obregon recalled today that for two days and nights a dog next door to Obregon's home had been howling steadily and that nothing could induce it to cease.

Gen. Obregon even sent a beefsteak to the dog in an effort to quiet it, but the howling continued.

Obregon with seeming jocularity had expressed wonder if the howling foretold misfortune.

The dog continued to howl dolefully to the time when Obregon's body was brought into his home. Then with one last wild howl it ceased.

GLIDER TO TRY FOR RECORDS AT TRURO

Truro, July 18—A lost rudder bolt today delayed the endurance flight of the trim little German glider plane which is poised on Corn Hill, overlooking Cape Cod bay, preparatory to an attempt to break the motorless glider record of 14 hours, 23 minutes.

The attempt at the record will start tomorrow at daybreak, according to Capt. Paul Franz Roehre, who added that he hoped to make a trial flight before nightfall today. The bolt, which was lost in transit from Detroit, will be replaced by one being made at Provincetown.

Even with the bolt, the endurance test would have been delayed because the official barograph, which will record the altitude and length of time in the air, has not arrived. It is expected momentarily.

TECH MEN THERE

J. C. Penney, Jr., son of the chain store magnate, is due at the Boston airport tomorrow and to reach here by automobile soon thereafter. The arrival of the 24-year-old Princeton graduate, who is sponsor of the endurance test, as well as the glider school which is being opened here, is eagerly awaited.

About 100 persons, townspeople and tourists, were at the hill today, but hundreds more are expected when the endurance test gets under way, gliders being a novelty in this country.

Fifteen Tech students are enrolled in the school which is experimenting to determine if Americans are interested enough to warrant the establishment of others in various parts of the country.

CAN "FEATHER DOWN."

Penney brought Capt. Roehre Peter Hessebach and Dr. Paul Laubenthal from Germany to conduct the school. Hessebach will pilot the glider in the endurance test.

Four of the German gliders are here, but the one in which the record-breaking attempt will be made is an exact duplicate of the one that set the world's record. The country hereabouts is considered ideal for the tests, the hill being an excellent starting point, and the fliers are not fearful of being blown over the water.

Should they lose control the planes "feather" down and require no landing wheels or other gear, except a skid.

OBREGON HELD FIRM CONTROL OF TROOPS

Washington, July 18 (INS)—Surprising reports reached the capital today in private advices to persons closely identified with Mexican affairs.

Reports from three sources attributed the killing to a political plot calculated to end the Obregon-Calles regime.

"Anything can happen now," said one authority, who declared the most threatening element lies in the fact that Obregon was the absolute dictator of the Mexican army, and it was his power over the military leaders that kept the garrisons all over the country lined solidly behind the Calles administration.

With this firm hand of control removed, the army becomes virtually a prize of war for rival political groups opposed to the Calles rule.

Advices to the Mexican embassy and to the State Department reported popular feeling running high against the assassin.

The tenor of the private advices reaching here is confirmed by the clamping down of a vigorous censorship in Mexico City.

Ambassador Morrow is understood to have given Sec. of State Kellogg a true picture of the situation over long distance telephone but Kellogg is bound by diplocatic usage to make public no details unless released by the Mexican censorship.

A provisional President must be selected by Congress, and here will be found representatives of all the elements opposed to Calles in a position to either dictate a new leader for the government or to block the selection of an "heir apparent," it is stated.

Mexican Bonds Drop in N. Y. Despite Lamont Assurance

New York, July 18 (AP)—Mexican government bonds opened 1 to nearly 2 points lower on the New York Stock Exchange today on selling caused by the assassination of President-elect Obregon. Mexican 4s, large, assented of 1904, showed the largest loss.

Despite the reassuring statement of Thomas W. Lamont, chairman of the international commitee of bankers on Mexico, that the status of Mexico's foreign debts was not affected by Obregon's death, considerable uneasiness was apparent.

Mexico's Ambassador Rushes to New York

Washington, July 18 (INS)—Mexican Ambassador Manuel Telles left Washington for New York on a secret mission, it was disclosed at the embassy today. He is believed to have gone for a conference with New Yor kfinanciers, heavily interested in a Mexican bonds, affected by the Obregon assassination. He also is expected to confer with Consul-General Arturo Elias.

JAIL FOR EX-POLICEMAN WHO THREATENED WIFE

John J. (Porky) Allen, former Cambridge patrolman, was sent to the House of Correction for two months today when a previously suspended sentence was invoked after he appealed from a sentence of six months in Cambridge court on charges of threatening his wife, Catherine E. Allen of Springfield st., Cambridge. A threatening letter signed "Pork's Gang" was introduced by Mrs. Allen today. Allen admitted threatening, but protested the length of the sentence.

ELLEN TERRY, FAMOUS ACTRESS, SERIOUSLY ILL

London, July 18 (AP)—Some anxiety was felt today for Dame Ellen Terry, noted actress, who became ill at her home in Kent yesterday. Her condition had not improved today. After her indisposition last February the famous octogen enjoyed satisfactory health until now.

'Wind Bird' to Fly ⁓ Without Power on Cape

←Boston Evening American Staff Photo.

MECHANICS ASSEMBLING GERMAN GLIDER AT TRURO

Photo shows the assembling of the German glider plane in which Capt. Paul Franz Roehre will endeavor to smash the endurance flight record for motor planes at Truro. J. C. Penney, Jr., who bought four German gliders, is backing the tests.

FIRST GLIDE GIRL

Jane Underwood of Detroit, at Truro, is the first American girl to sit in a German glider.

HUB HOTTEST IN THE EAST

Continued from First Page.

showers tomorrow night gives the only hope of relief, but local weather officials point out that they must come from the storm area centered in Michigan today.

Official forecast for Boston and vicinity: For tonight: Thursday possible local thunder showers; cooler by afternoon or night; moderate westerly winds.

Heat Kills 2 as Mercury Reaches 102 Degrees in Italy

Rome, July 18 (AP)—The first victims of the terrific heat wave which is holding all of Italy in its grasp were recorded today. One person died from sunstroke in Milan and another succumbed in Savona.

In the far north region of the Undie thermometers registered a temperature of 98, the hottest in 70 years. The same temperature in the shade was reported from Balzano in the Upper Adige, from Turin and elsewhere.

Gorizia, on the old battle front in the mountains, and Florence tied for high mark with 103 in the shade.

SLAYING OF OBREGON STIRS ALL LATIN-AMERICA

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, one-armed master of many battlefields, who fell a victim to an assassin's bullets.

But a few days ago, cheering throngs in Mexico, as the one shown at the capital city, acclaimed the election of Obregon as President. He was called "The Lucky" and "The Idol of the People."

BOSTON AMERICAN
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1928

Mrs. Alvaro Obregon, in her bridal costume at the time of her wedding to the General. She was his second wife. Today she wears widow's garb, token of the sorrow into which she has been plunged by the tragedy which rocks all Latin-America.

Refugio Obregon Ponce de Leon, daughter of the slain President-Elect. She is the wife of General Rafaelo Ponce de Leon, of Guadalajara, Mexico.

International Newsreel Photos.

Thomas A. Robinson, American mining engineer in Mexico, and his bride, who was Senorita Ernestine Calles, daughter of President Calles. It is believed that the assassin of Obregon had Robinson marked for death also, as a paper found in the assassin's pocket had three names written on it, and one of those names was Robinson.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon and President Calles of Mexico are shown together in this picture taken in Mexico City. Obregon was Calles' choice for president to succeed him, and was greatly shocked by the assassination of the president-elect, and has ordered the army to be prepared for any emergency. Soldiers patrol Mexico City and the censorship is in force.

Alvaro Obregon Had Colorful Career

Mexico City, July 18—A poor "chick pea" farmer, Alvaro Obregon, fought his way up to the presidency of Mexico by sheer force of personality and courage, and first won the coveted seat of power over bloody battlefields.

In 1920 he was first elected President and for four years enjoyed a moderately peaceful administration.

In his youth he rented a piece of land as a farm and later saved enough money to buy it.

At his death he was reported to be a millionaire, most of the fortune made by a monopoly on the bean crop in northern Mexico.

Obregon took to arms when news came of the assassination of President Madero. He became a brigade commander in Carranza's army, where he won one of the most important battles of his career, leading the advance on Nogales.

DEFEATED VILLA

Later, at Celeyo, he brought the military career of the bandit, Pancho Villa, almost to an end.

The "chick pea" farmer became minister of war while Carranza was serving as provisional President, but upon the latter's election as President, Obregon retired from office—breaking with Carranza. In 1918 Obregon announced he would oppose Carranza at the next election.

The manner of his succession was typical of many Mexican administrations. Carranza fleeing the capital and Obregon entering with his troops.

General Obregon was a popular idol in the north, where he had organized and led his Yaqui Indians into many a battle since he left his little farm at Huatabampo, Sonora, when the Madero revolution broke out. He came out of the Orozco rebellion in 1913 a colonel of volunteers, and was about to disband his now considerable force of Indians when news arrived that Huerta had overthrown Madero.

LOST ARM IN BATTLE

With his Indians, Obregon was probably the first officer to take the field against Huerta. Venustiano Carranza organized the rebellion against Huerta about himself, calling himself "first chief," and he was supported by Obregon and Villa.

Obregon led his increasing forces toward the capital and received the surrender of what was left of the Huerta army when Huerta had fled.

Then Villa revolted against Carranza, although Obregon remained loyal to the first chief, but was forced to leave the capital before Villa's superior forces. Zapata and Villa occupied Mexico City and Obregon remained inactive for several months.

Obregon suddenly swept down on Zapata's forces at Puebla and proceeded against Villa at Celaya, and here Obregon defeated his former ally, but he lost an arm as he led his troops into the battle.

Gen. Gomez and Gen. Serrano, revolutionary leaders who were candidates for president of Mexico, opposing the election of Obregon. They were both executed as traitors, leaving Obregon alone in the field election day. The assassination of Obregon now illustrates how dangerous it is to run for president in Mexico.

Obregon's Widow Collapses; is Under Doctor's Care

Nogales, Ariz., July 18 (AP)—Dispatches to the Nogales Herald from Navajoa, Sonora, said that Sonora Maria Obregon, widow of the assassinated president-elect of Mexico, suffered a complete collapse on her home in Navajoa when informed by friends of her husband's death.

LIFE AT STILLINGTON ONE REHEARSAL AFTER ANOTHER, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Under Direction of Leslie Buswell and Mrs. Fitz-William Sargent Players Are Ever Kept Busy Practising

ON A JULY AFTERNOON STILLINGTON HALL, AT GLOUCESTER, is the essence of serenity. Outwardly, the lambent sunlight bathes the hall's ancient charms with a golden brush. But the outward calm gives not the slightest indication of the hectic activity within. Every afternoon and all afternoon, every day and all day and every evening, it is rehearsal, rehearsal, rehearsal. Leslie Buswell's co-eds follow religiously the strenuous program of their inspired leader, and next Monday evening "Pygmalion" may be presented to a typical Stillington Hall audience with all the faultless perfection that is the Stillington manner.

YESTERDAY WAS A TYPICAL AFTERNOON AT STILLINGTON. Tea time came and went, quite unnoted. And the late dinner hour crept on approached apace before either Mr. Fitz-William Sargent or Mr. Buswell considered the day of rehearsal should end. As leads in the play's satire, these two carry much of the burden of the play's success. Mr. Sargent is the flower girl raised to high estate, and Mr. Buswell is the "Henry Higgins" who works this miracle in the wittily caustic Shavian way. Neither is new to stage acclaim, and neither considers a day well spent not devoted hour after hour to rehearsal.

GOOD LOOKS AND TALENT RUN RIOT AMONG FEMININE members of the "Pygmalion" cast. There are Miss Cecile Sherman and Miss Margaret Williamson, both of whom sang at Stillington last summer when bijou opera held the stage. Mrs. Frank D. Stranahan of Toledo and Bass Rocks is cast for an important part. Mrs. George Morgan of Baltimore and Miss Evelyn Duerler give grace and charm of no small degree of histrionic gifts to their places in the ensemble.

A TINY PART HAS BEEN ENTRUSTED TO MISS GABRIELLA LADD, talented daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd. And very wisely entrusted, since this brilliant daughter of gifted parents has a flair for the histrionic that had full fling during four years at Vassar. Miss Ladd also labors with another detail, that of commandeering the ushers who serve each evening. And not content with two duties, cheerfully undertakes another. She it is who sees to it that the waiting world is duly informed, via the press and otherwise, of Stillington's theatrical activities.

THERE IS A VERY ATTRACTIVE POSTER MISS LADD HAS TO distribute. Its design is the work of Mrs. Evelyn Naegele Parker, and she is sister to the Charles Naegele, pianist, who will appear later in the season at one of the Stillington musicales. Technically, details for back stage and scenery, et cetera, are in excellent hands. John M. Ross of Utica, keenly interested in theatricals of the amateur brand, is arranging electric and lighting features, and Miss Pintard Meredith and George Freedley are painting scenery.

BAKER PRODUCTS, THESE TWO, FROM THE WORKSHOP wherein have deived ever so many budding geniuses. Not far from Stillington is a studio, where Miss Meredith and Mr. Freedley work in a frenzy of artistic creation. Results are way beyond the brightest expectations, and something splendid in scenery has been evolved. So declare the few privileged to a private view. Mr. Freedley also is technical director, an appelation carrying all sorts of duties, far too numerous for listing. And each supremely important to the play's success.

THE STILLINGTON TELEPHONE GOES TINKLE, TINKLE, every hour of the day, as reservation lists grow in length. Mrs. Hendricks Hall; Whitman, amateur actress and adept at play writing, is bringing a party. Mrs. Whitman's presence is pre-destined. She has an active and abiding interest in the Buswell stage affairs, having acted there a season or two, and being author of last summer's "Fool's Paradise." The Charles R. Codmans, Eben Comins, the artist; Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Sargent, the Maynard Ladds, Dr. and Mrs. Lancashire, Mrs. Raymond Farr and all the regulars are down for places.

STILLINGTON AUDIENCES are inclined to rise up and call Mr. Buswell blessed. For his love of beauty and keen appreciation of necessity have provided at Stillington a cloister approach absolutely rain defying; a quite indispensable feature in this summer of sudden and pelting showers. From one's motor to arched cloister is but a step. And last Friday, when a Stillington night for the first time in three summers experienced rain, Buswell thoughtfulness supplied a flunkey and an enormous umbrella that Milady's high-heeled slippers and filmy chiffons might pass unwet the few steps from cloister to hall. A gentleman, all-seeing and all-providing, is Mr. Buswell.

Betty Alden

Everything at Hall Is Arranged for Comfort of Patrons

Little Mary Bush is a curly haired sand sprite, whose seashore playground is at Cohasset, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dacre Bush, 2d, have their summer place. —Boston Evening American Staff Photo

LEVIATHAN COMING TO HUB DRYDOCK

The Leviathan will arrive in Boston Friday afternoon for her semi-annual overhauling at the South Boston dry dock, the only one in the country large enough to accommodate her. The liner arrives at New York Thursday and leaves for Boston at 9 a. m. Friday. Her next transatlantic trip is August 4.

Yale Glee Club in Paris

Paris, July 18 (AP)—The Yale glee club, which will make its Parisian concert debut tonight, was formerly presented to Paris officials at the City Hall. The visitors signed the city's golden book which is reserved for notable visitors to Paris.

HOTEL GUEST FOUND DEAD; LEAVES NOTE TO PAY BILL

A man who registered at the Hotel Essex late last night as N. Gear of Chicago, was found dead in his room today. Beside his body a small bottle half filled with liquid was found and nearby was an envelope containing a sum of money and a note which read, "This will pay my bill."

VIRGINIA BROWN-FAIRE GRANTED A SEPARATION

Los Angeles, July 18 (AP)—Virginia Brown-Faire, film actress, known in private life as Mrs. Virginia Dougherty, was granted a separate maintenance decree from Jack Dougherty, motion picture cowboy.

The actress charged cruelty, accusing her husband with being extremely temperamental, sullen and morose, which testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Dougherty's housekeeper. The couple was married in February, 1927, and separated last March.

Domino
THE HOUSEWIFE'S NAME FOR Granulated Sugar
American Sugar Refining Company

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT for MEN

SECONDS, odd lots or clean up lots of a New York maker before stocktaking at 9 THURSDAY

big lot men's SILK shirts

$2.85 sizes 14 to 16½ in lot blossom radium radio silk radium crepe pongee

Buy a silk shirt to take with you on your week-end or vacation. For summer wear these shirts are always good taste and cool. Plain colors, white, tan, blue or gray. Collar attached or separate collar to match styles. Be early for yours Thursday.

Hundreds of other bargain lots not advertised—so mail orders

Montgomery Co.
121 TREMONT ST. BOSTON
Successors to Glen Shirt & Collar Co.

REMOVAL SALE
OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY
Starts Thursday A. M.
REDUCED!
SILK
Dresses
Formerly $12.98—$15.75—$19.98
SALE PRICE
$6.98

All the newest shades and fashions! Fascinating Models—mostly individual styles and show room samples!
Dresses for Daytime, Business or Evening Wear!
Misses' Sizes 14 to 20
Women's Sizes 36 to 48
Foulard Prints, Rajah Silks, Crepe de Chines, Georgettes, Tub Silks, Novelties, Chiffon prints, etc.
The Dress Opportunity of the year!
All Sales Final—No Exchanges—No Refunds!

Beattie & McGuire
29 TEMPLE PLACE

VALUES IN SILKS
For Summer Wear

Bigger and better than even in our late June Clearance, because of extraordinary price concessions on special purchases from many overstocked manufacturers. Read values below.

SALE
JAPANESE
Pongee SILK
Imported Natural Color Washable 33-inch ALL SILK
Special at 44¢ Formerly 69c and 75c
The Silk of many uses. Dresses, Underwear, Blouses, Window Draperies, etc.
(Mail Orders Filled)

SALE
HONAN
Pongee SILK
60 Colors ALL SILK 33-inch Semi-Rough Weave WASHABLE
85¢ Usually $1.19 and $1.25
For Dresses. For Window Draperies and for all manner of Interior Decorations.
(Mail Orders Filled)

Quality—Style—Value
ALL THREE ARE HERE THIS WEEK IN PRINTED Crepes and Georgettes
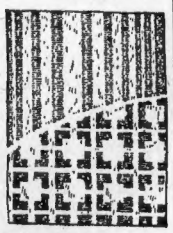
At $1.35
Former Selling Prices $1.85 up to $2.45 a yard
Thousands of yards. Hundreds of styles. Geometric, modernistic and floral designs. Plenty of coin spots and the small dots that so many ladies favor this season for smart gowns. Buy for Now! Buy for Later! when the cost of such excellent qualities and beautiful designs is so small.
(39-40 inches wide) (Mail Orders Filled)

SALE—ODD LOT—480 YARDS
40 Inch Washable
SPORTS CREPE
STRIPES PLAIDS CHECKS
$1.68



For summer outing wear nothing smarter. Golf or tennis, seashore or mountain. Every yard all silk and washable. These light colors: White, Nile, Pink, Maize, Copen, Orchid and Biscuit.
(Mail Orders Filled)

Mail Orders Filled Charge Accounts Invited | Business Hours 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. | Store Closed Saturdays In July and August

Beattie & McGuire

HOOVER TO MAKE FARM RELIEF BIG ISSUE

Aboard Hoover Train, Omaha, Neb., July 18 (AP)—A prediction that Herbert Hoover will offer a plan of farm relief more practical and intelligent than any heretofore advanced was made today by Governor John Hammill of Iowa, after a conference with the Republican presidential candidate aboard the special train.

This is the message which the Governor said he would take to the Republican State convention today at Des Moines, to which city he is to fly by airplane from Council Bluffs, to address the State political gathering.

CHAMPION OF FAIRNESS

After half an hour's conference with Hoover, Governor Hammill declared the farmer has in Hoover "a real champion." "When his final explanation of his platform is made it will challenge the admiration of all those interested in agriculture and the nation as well," Hammill said.

"I can speak with a knowledge that is specific," he said. "Mr. Hoover is going to make farm relief the first principle of his administration. He regards it both as a moral and positive obligation of the party and of himself. He recognizes there is a problem and it is an obligation upon the whole people."

BEST FARM PLAN.

"The farmers are going to have faith in Hoover and in his program. In my judgment he is going to offer a plan more sound and intelligent than any offered to the American people."

The Governor predicted Iowa would go for Hoover by a majority of at least 200,000. After his conference Governor Hammill issued this statement on the action of the corn belt committee recently in commending the Democratic agricultural plank and condemning the Republican farm plank:

"The corn belt committee which met in Des Moines, composed largely of Democratic leaders, passed a series of resolutions from which it appears they believed the Democratic party, Governor Smith and Mr. Raskob (chairman of the Democratic national committee) have promised them the equalization fee legislation.

WHERE DOES SMITH STAND?

"It is important to the people of Iowa to know whether the corn belt committee has any assurances from Governor Smith or Mr. Raskob upon which to base their action.

"The corn belt committee, Mr. Smith and Mr. Raskob owe it to the people of Iowa to clear up this question."

Secretary Hoover continued his farm relief discussions with Charles A. McCloud, Republican national committeeman for Nebraska, and also with Judge W. R. Smith of the Federal Court at Claims, a native of Iowa.

Coolidge Warns Hoover of Danger to Health

Superior, Wis., July 18 (AP)—President Coolidge is concerned lest Secretary Hoover, fresh to the political game, shall not take sufficiently good care of his health in the heat of the coming campaign.

The chief executive was heard to say he found Mr. Hoover looking worn and in need of a rest.

As an old campaigner Coolidge learned through long experience the drains which an extended electoral struggle imposes upon a candidate, and appreciates the importance of unimpaired vitality to meet successfully all obstacles, and was reported as solicitious that Hoover should take precautions to rest up and remove the fatigued look from his countenance.

Mr. Coolidge, in fact, was said to have told Mr. Hoover as much.

NANTASKET WATER SHUTOFF A "THREAT"

The threatened shutting off of water at Nantasket was admitted a "scare" today by Supt. Michael Gorman of the Hingham Water Co., who issued 400 notices that shutoffs would follow non-payment of bills today. "It's just a threat," he said. "We have trouble every year, especially with summer residents, who neglect their bills."

GOODWIN AUTO PLATES APPEAR IN BOSTON

Automobile plates bearing the facsimile signature of Frank A. Goodwin, candidate for governor of Massachusetts, appeared on automobiles in Boston today. The lettering of red was on a white background. The signature is familiar to motorists as most of them in this state carry documents signed by him when he was registrar.

Don't go on your VACATION without

in your TRAVELING BAG

Sure Relief

25c & 75c Pkgs. Everywhere

GREETED BY GOVERNOR

International Newsreel Photo

HOME AGAIN

Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller and daughter, Alice, as they appeared in New York, where they were met by Governor Fuller on their return from a trip abroad.

EASTERN GRAPE FREIGHTS CUT

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Reductions approximately of 28 per cent in the railroad rates on fresh grapes from New York and Pennsylvania to consuming centers in the eastern half of the United States were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, effective September 1.

The rates will apply to production of Chautauqua, Erie and Cattaraugus Counties in New York and Erie County, Pennsylvania, co-operative associations from this territory complained that a reduction recently allowed by the commission on California grapes had injured their status as competitors. The commission held that the complaints had been justified.

COOLIDGES MAY VISIT VERMONT

St. Albans, Vt., July 18 (AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge may visit Mr. Coolidge's native state during the late summer or early autumn, Harry C. Whitehill, collector of customs, said today in making public a letter the President sent to Governor John E. Weeks.

In the letter President Coolidge said: "I still hope that later in the season it may be possible for us to come to Vermont but I cannot make a definite commitment as to the date as yet."

WINSOME "WHEEZER" WINS MORE HONORS

Winsome "Wheezer," whose amusing antics in "Our Gang" comedies have caused hundreds of children to enter the Boston Evening American's novel movie contest, has had a new honor thrust upon him. He has been chosen by a committee of Massachusetts Safety Council as the symbol of the playground children of the state for the summer campaign just opened in 30 cities and towns. He succeeds Jackie Coogan.

In a special playground pose his mischievous figure adorns the cover of the new booklet being placed in 65,000 homes in metropolitan Boston to get children off the street and stimulate attendance at playgrounds and to teach safety through a new series of stories. A new movie, "The Verdict," will be shown at morning safety rallies in 11 leading theaters. The police are aiding.

WHEELER HAS BIG LEAD IN MONTANA

Helena, Mont., July 18 (AP)—Scattered returns from primary election balloting in Montana gave Sen. Burton K. Wheeler a lead of nearly three to one in the three-cornered race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Reports from 103 of the 1490 precincts gave Sen. Wheeler 2726 votes, former Gov. Samuel V. Stewart 954 and Sam Teazarden, 153.

In the contest for the Republican senatorial nomination, Joseph M. Dixon, former United States Senator and governor had 3249; Charles H. Williams, Deer Lodge rancher, 1845 and Charles F. Juttner, Butte, 119.

MAD DOG'S CAREER IN SOMERVILLE ENDED

The career of a mad dog was abruptly ended today on the piazza of a Prescott st., Somerville, house after he ran amuck among scores of children in the neighborhood.

Patrolman Dennis F. Kearney, sent to the scene after a deluge of phone calls, forced the animal into a corner and fired two shots into its body. The dog will be examined for rabies.

HERE'S BOY WHO WON'T BOTHER WITH MONEY

"Dicky" Barrett, 11, of Newton Highlands, "learning to fly," has a job millions of red-blooded American boys would like, but cannot get.

But then, "Dicky" is not like other boys. He doesn't want to be "bothered" with money. Maybe he's following in Lindy's footsteps in more ways than one.

Dick blew into the Boston Evening American office today with some pictures sent in by a photographer over at the airport.

"Give us a dime for carfare back," he said.

"I'm not Rockefeller and you'll get the usual, a dollar," said the assistant city editor, reaching for a voucher pad.

"Nothing doin'," shot back Sir Richard. "I won't be bothered with a lot of money. Not me. I'm a flier."

"Well, you work for money, don't you?" persisted the a. c. e.

"No, sir," said the boy. "I'm office boy for Eddie O'Toole, head of the Associated Aircraft people over at the airport. He gives me half a buck a day for carfares from Newton and back and that's all I'll take, because I'm taking the rest out in learning to fly. Why, I've been up any number of times."

After listening to long argument, he took the dollar, but left scowling over his burden.

Scorns Dollars

HE'S A FLIER

"Dickey" Barrett, all of 11, who has been up in a plane innumerable times, doesn't want to be bothered with money and had to be begged to accept a dollar today.

SMITH TO RAP 'MYTH' OF G.O.P. ECONOMY

Albany, N. Y., July 18 (INS)—Governor Al Smith will devote a considerable part of the speech he will deliver here next month in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination to the financial condition of the national government.

The governor, according to friends, will attempt to show there is something of a "myth" in Republican claims of great economy at Washington.

Smith has bluntly charged that the handling of national finances by the Republicans has not been as economical as that of New York State during the eight years he has been chief executive.

While cost of New York State's government has increased more than $100,000,000 in the years Smith has been chief executive, he contends a large part of this was necessary for State improvements held in abeyance during the World War, and pointed out that the appropriations always have been made by Republican legislatures.

Representative James W. Byrnes of Tennessee, ranking Democratic member of the House appropriations committee, was a visitor at the executive mansion and spent several hours with Smith going over the financial condition of the federal government.

Chicago, July 18 (AP)—George E. Brennan, national Democratic committeeman for Illinois, today revealed plans for what he termed one of the greatest political mass meetings ever held when Governor Smith comes to Chicago.

At a conference with Governor Smith, Brennan said the candidate agreed to make an address here. The committeeman said he would reserve the Stadium at Soldier Field for the event as there was not a hall in the city large enough to accommodate all the voters who would want to hear Governor Smith.

About 150,000 persons attended the Tunney-Dempsey fight at the Stadium last fall and with the aid of amplifiers Brennan said he thought about 200,000 persons could be seated.

HOME TOWN SEEKS HOOVER "COURTING DAY" COACH

Stanford University, Cal., July 18 (A.P.)—Older residents of Stanford University today were searching barns, abandoned buildings and forgotten places for an antiquated coach with which they hope to conjure up pleasant memories for Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover when they arrive here for the Summer.

The old coach, dubbed "Marguerite," is recalled as the vehicle in which Hoover and Miss Lou Henry used to ride to Stanford University from Palo Alto. It was last remembered as wearing a coat of flagrant red, that may facilitate its rediscovery.

Iced La Touraine—Cool and Refreshing

You might as well have the best

OUR NEW TELEPHONE NUMBER IS CAPITOL 6611

Small Deposit Reserves Your Purchase

You need not take immediate delivery unless you wish to. A reasonable deposit holds your purchase sixty days.

HOUGHTON & DUTTON CO.

See This Furniture in Our Thrift House

Our thrift house on the fifth floor will give you many new valuable ideas on home decoration.

Phone Capitol 6611 | Tremont and Beacon Streets | Legal Stamps Given and Redeemed | Mail Orders Filled | Store Hours 9:00 to 5:00

Mid-Summer Furniture Sale

Record Breaking Response Monday and Tuesday

Savings Only Possible Twice Each Year

$200,000 worth of the new furniture styles from the markets of the world—furniture picked by experts as typifying the new thought in furniture styling—furniture of true H. & D. quality at savings of ¼ to ½!

No wonder our furniture floor has been crowded all week. No wonder New Englanders bought as never before. If you have not visited this great sale we advise you to do so even if you don't need furniture immediately.

Savings of ¼ to ½ Savings of ¼ to ½

Free Delivery in New England

Free delivery anywhere in New England on purchases of $2.50 or more by our own motor system, or by express or by freight to the nearest shipping point at our option.

Profit by These Values On Easy Payments

No need to disturb your savings. A small payment down delivers your purchase to your home. Balance in monthly payments out of income.

We've Offered Beautiful Sets, Durable Sets, Sets at Low Prices, but Only Once Before a Set Like This

All Over 100% Mohair Suites $165

Choose Any Three Pieces

—Large Roomy Davenport!
—Smart New Style Club Chair!
—Comfortable High Back Chair!
—Cozy Roomy Wing Chair!
—Ultra Fashionable Cogswell Chair!

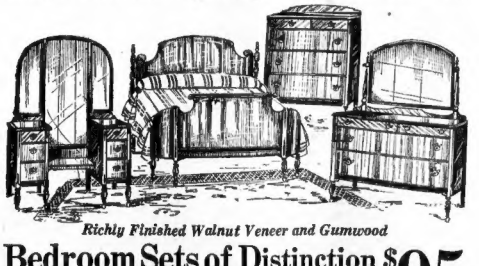
Made With These Features

—All Webbing Construction Throughout!
—All XXXX Double-Ginned Moss Filled!
—All Pure White Layer Cotton Felt Padded!
—All With Famous Nachman Springs!
—All Carved Legs and Mouldings!

Small Deposit Secures Delivery Balance Monthly

Every Suite Custom Made to Your Selection of Mohairs

Don't be deceived in buying furniture—secure only the best, for a poorly-built set is poor economy. Buy now when GUARANTEED suites are priced lower than any we've seen in a long time! Choose three pieces from the FIVE styles pictured here. Remember that EVERY suite is custom made to our specifications. Even made with ALL WEBBING construction, guaranteed by the maker for the life of the suite. Even made with ALL outside seams blind tacked and sewn—a feature almost never found in suites at this price. Secure for yourself one of the very finest suites we know of—rich—massive—honestly built—and at a clear saving of $104 on every one! Choice of taupe, walnut, burgundy, blue or green mohairs. Every set with reversible cushions. Don't hesitate, don't delay, for this is an opportunity we never expected to be able to offer again—one we do not believe will soon be duplicated.



Richly Finished Walnut Veneer and Gumwood

Bedroom Sets of Distinction $95

A very beautiful set, quality-built throughout, like sets at much higher prices. Attractive mahogany veneer top drawers. Full dustproof construction. 48-inch dresser, large chest and full-size bed. $95. 4 pieces with vanity, $133.

New Design! Large Pieces! Remarkable Price!

Eight-Piece Dining Sets $95

An exquisite new design that you will instantly admire! Of selected walnut veneers and gumwood with mahogany veneer overlays. 60-inch buffet, 42x54-inch table and 6 chairs with velour covered slip seats. $95. 10 pieces, including china cabinet and server, $139.50.

H. & D. CO.—FIFTH FLOOR

GOODWIN WARNS AUTO DRIVERS ON DRINKING

By Frank A. Goodwin

Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In view of existing conditions no automobile driver should take even one drink and then get behind a steering wheel, for if he does, he may become a potential murderer.

Frank A. Goodwin

Before prohibition persons usually knew their capacity and their brand, but today no one knows what one drink will do.

A few days ago there appeared in the newspapers a statement that provides food for speculation. It read: Never have so many drunken drivers been arrested here and convictions found against them as this year. At both the Metropolitan and Hull police stations the number arrested exceeds that of previous years by more than 50."

Another statement in the report was as follows: "On several occasions men in an unconscious condition have been picked up on the roadside."

These conditions in Hull do not mean that poisonous liquor is being sold there because thousands of motorists go to Nantasket Beach, which is in Hull, on pleasure bent, and no doubt many of them carry their liquid refreshments with them and the records at the registry department show drunken driving on the increase everywhere.

What do these records show? Tables giving the number of cars registered and the number of licenses revoked for a 10-year period beginning with 1918 and ending with 1927 show nine times as much drunken driving and an increase of only four times as many cars.

What is the answer to this extraordinary situation? I suppose the real big answer is failure to properly enforce the Volstead Act. Then again, so much stress has been placed on the dangers of drunken driving that the police and courts, as well as the registry department, have paid special attention to enforcement, much more attention than has been paid to stopping the sale of the poison.

Speaking of the poison that causes men to drop unconscious on our streets—there may be something in the quality of the so-called liquor of today that accounts in part for the big increase in drunken driving. The safe thing to do is to leave it alone. If you plan to drive a car. You may be in court for murder if you don't.

'MDSE.' BUT NOT FOR SALE!

—Boston Evening American Staff Photo.

NOW THERE'S MORE AT HOME LIKE HER

"Delivering merchandise," was the defense of Edward S. Mealia of Malden, in court for parking at a restricted curb. When he explained that he was delivering his daughter, Ruth, 2, to her mother, his excuse was accepted by Judge Davis. Ruth was almost too excited to pose today, having just welcomed a baby sister to her home.

Italy's 'Pet Prince' to Wed '$5,000,000 Widow'

London, July 18—Culmination of a romance connecting English millions with the famous "black aristocracy" of Rome will be reached soon with the marriage of Mrs. Hector Sassoon, five million dollar widow of the famous industrialist, to Prince Cesare Orsboni.

Notice of the forthcoming wedding was entered at St. George's registry office in Hanover sq.

Mrs. Sassoon is famous in the society of London, Rome and New York for the pearls she wears. She also wears a wrist watch, the face of which is covered by a diamond instead of a glass as crystal.

The prince is the handsome, dashing favorite of the famous Romma Society of the Vatican. He met and immediately fell in love with the beautiful widow at a large reception in Rome several years ago.

SOVIET RENEWS SEARCH FOR NOBILE MEN

Continued From First Page.

Amundsen's party had been unable therefore to return.

The scientists believed that the group of five survivors headed by Lieut. Alfredo Viglieri would have perished but for the timely arrival of the Russian ice breaker Krassin, since the ice on which they were marooned was rapidly thinning.

Viglieri in an interview with the Tass (Soviet news agency) correspondent aboard the Krassin said he believed the condition of the ice and the fogs made the discovery of the balloon group impossible at this time. He said a successful search should be considered only when the fog cleared. Nevertheless the Russian rescue vessel went ahead with their plans.

The ice breaker Maligin was moving toward the southeastern shore of Spitsbergen today while the filer, Sergeyev, prepared to start with his seaplane from the vessel to look for Amundsen's party.

TELLS OF RESCUE.

The Krassin was en route to Advent Bay for fuel. It will return to North East Land as soon as possible and establish a flying base. Pilot Chukhnovsky, who directed the Krassin in the survivors of the Italia, will begin a search from that base and every square mile of the ice on the southeast and northeast shores of North East Land will be explored. The sea northeast of Foyn Island will also be thoroughly combed.

The correspondent of Tass sent this story of Chukhnovsky's rescue by the Krassin after he had been marooned when he came down on the ice near Cape Platen:

"A thick fog and a wet snow screened Chukhnovsky, who sighted the Krassin at a distance and rafted to the exact location. Progressing very slowly the Krassin sent two sailors towards Chukhnovsky.

"Four hours after they left, Chukhnovsky and his group accompanied by four sailors from the ice breaker Braganza boarded the Krassin. Chukhnovsky in coming aboard said:

"Our first worry after the discovery of the Krassin party and our forced landing was to supplement our provisions. We went hunting and killed two reindeer. For four days we suffered from the cold. We slept in the plane's cabin but had to fuel to heat it.

"At the Krassin's approach we gave smoke signals. In our spare time we did research work, obtaining much interesting data."

Lieut. Viglieri Scores Malmgren's Heroic Act

Moscow, July 18 (AP)—Lieut. Alfredo Viglieri today was quoted as criticising Dr. Finn Malmgren's heroic attempt to reach land to send aid to the survivors of the Italia.

Viglieri was one of a group of five men rescued from an ice floe by the Russian ice breaker Krassin. Malmgren, Swedish scientist aboard the airship, was left alone crying on the ice as he urged his two companions to continue on to land in an effort to send rescue to the group of which Viglieri was a member.

The correspondent of Tass, Soviet news agency, aboard the Krassin quoted Viglieri as saying:

"Personally I regard Malmgren's plan to reach North Cape as unwise, believing we all should have remained on the ice and tried to establish radio contact and at the first opportunity move for the shore in the collapsible boats in our possession.

"Malmgren insisted he could reach the shore in 17 days and took provisions for 45 days. The group was hungry at 13 days, probably because of the greater consumption of food at the beginning."

GEN. GRAY HURT IN FALL

Continued from First Page.

officer's injuries are not of a serious nature and that he would soon be able to resume his work here. His horse received a deep cut and was treated for this injury by veterinary officers of the 26th Division.

Governor Fuller, accompanied by his son, Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., and members of his staff, reviewed the 26th Division today. An unusual feature of the review was that the Governor was mounted.

This is the first time in recent years that a chief executive of the commonwealth has reviewed troops while on horseback.

LONG EXLAINS STATE'S NEW AUTO TAX LAW

Worcester, July 18—Citing the new auto excise law as the solution of tax evasion that other States are bound to follow, Henry F. Long, State Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, today explained its working to the Association of Massachusetts Assessors in annual summer meeting at Hotel Bancroft.

Under the law, he pointed out, vehicles are taken from the personal property class, where owners were exempt if machines were not registered on or before April 1.

"The law will eliminate inequalities in auto taxation and eradicate the rapidly growing practice of not acquiring a car until after the taxing day and thus avoiding a substantial tax," he said.

ROXBURY BOARD OF TRADE OUTING AT PEMBERTON

Several hundred members of the Roxbury Board of Trade attended the annual outing of the organization today at Pemberton. They left in automobiles, parading through the principal streets of Roxbury before proceeding on their way to Pemberton. The program included a long list of sports. Harry I. Wasserman heads the committee, which also included Frank E. Granger, Frederick A. Cronin, Councilor John F. Down, W. P. Creamer, S. Masterson, John Devlin, George Duttro, George E. B. Meihado, and Benjamin H. Ludwig.

FARMERS MADE $157 MORE IN 1927 THAN IN 1926

Washington, July 18 (AP).—The farmer made $157 more in 1927 than he did in 1926. A report issued today by the Department of Agriculture said the figures were taken from a survey of 73,853 farms in all parts of the country. The average farm for 1927 showed an average net return of $1,259 as compared with $1,133 on 13,475 farms in 1926.

The average size of the farms reporting in 1927 was 275 acres with an average investment of $15,445.

Heat Booms Beer Drinking

Berlin, July 18 (INS)—The heat wave has increased beer drinking in Berlin until more than 600,000 quarts are being sold daily.

DEATH CRASH AUTOIST GETS YEAR IN JAIL

A year in jail, fines of $45 and probable cause on a manslaughter charge were placed against Joseph W. Battle in Cambridge court today following an auto crash in which Miss Grace Olin, 42, Somerville radio artist, was killed.

Battle was held in bonds of $2000 on the manslaughter charge when police told Judge Arthur P. Stone of the crash in Broadway, Cambridge, with Battle's auto on the wrong side of the street.

The machines met head-on, and Miss Olin was sent to the Symmes Hospital, Arlington, where she died July 10.

Separate sentences of six months each were given Battle for driving under the influence of liquor and driving so as to endanger the lives of the public.

For driving on the wrong side of the street, the court assessed him $20 with an additional fine of $25 for speeding.

Lieut. John Hooley and Patrolman Lester Peabody of the Arlington police told the court that Battle admitted he had been drinking wine and beer. Battle denied the statement in court today.

REGAINS VOICE ON PLANE RIDE

Continued from First Page.

Porter boy's parents before the stunt ride was essayed, but the only result was that time might prove a remedy, nothing else would.

Then came a policeman to Capt. Porter with the suggestion that an air trip be tried, because of the remarkable cures of deaf persons by thrilling nose dives out of the sky.

Capt. Leroy Dutton d'Arce, air mail pilot and operations manager of the Old Colony Airways Corporation, which has a flying field at Revere, was interested and consented to take boy and father up for the scientific experiment, not for pay.

"Up we soared to more than 2000 feet," said Pilot d'Arce, telling of the flight today, in the presence of the Porters and several of the lad's enthusiastic chums who looked as if they wished they, too, needed a "Lindy cure."

"At that height I barrel-rolled the plane, following up with a side slip, which always sends the uninitiated full or fearful sort of thrill through a novice, whichever way he happens to be constituted.

"After that I dipped, cut the motor, then zoomed upwards and performed every stunt I knew for a full half-hour.

"When we landed and the boy stepped from the plane with his father, he astounded us by saying, 'Father, daddy.'"

SPEECH IMPROVING.

"Those were the first words he ever spoke," said Capt. Porter. "His next said, 'airplane.' Then I asked him to say, 'motor' and he did. He mumbled a lot more words in his intense excitement, but he has added words to his vocabulary daily ever since.

"We decided to keep quiet about it to see if the cure was permanent. It is now five weeks and I am convinced, as is everybody else, that he is cured.

"The thrill was what did it. I sat in the plane with my arm around George, and he was so excited that his heart pumped as though it would break through his ribs. Some specialists had told us that a thrill or powerful suggestion was needed, and I guess they were right, after all. Only they thought it would have to come by accident or chance."

At the flying field today the boy repeated any word that was said to him and showed that he knew how to use his voice as well as any boy, except that he is unaccustomed as yet to forming sentences.

PLANE "CURE" RISKY

Capt. d'Arce said that, until time passed with signs of nothing but continued improvement, he was skeptical because it was his understanding that deaf persons cured by airplane rides had later reverted to their previous state.

"The so-called 'deaf cure' is very dangerous, and two pilots have lost their lives," he said. "The procedure is to rise to a height of 5000 or 6000 feet and nose dive with the engine running full blast."

MYSTERY SOS CALLS OF PLANE CALLED HOAX

Portland, Me., July 18 (AP)—Army officers at Fort Williams today branded as a "fake" an SOS distress call from an airplane. A call was picked up here by amateur radio operators.

An investigation convinced army officers that some person with a broadcasting set and a perverted sense of humor sent out the message saying that a plane was in distress off Kennebunk.

'Educating' Women Voters

August 25, 1927.

DOCKET No. [illegible] INSURANCE LIMIT $ 1351

IN THE MATTER OF S. O. S.

DATE 8/4/27 WITNESS [illegible]

Mr. C. I. Weaver, [illegible]
East Central Division, S. S. L. A.
Springfield, Ohio.

My dear Mr. Weaver:

I am forwarding you my expense account for the trip to Chicago to attend the meeting of the Women's Committee Divisional Chairmen at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

I understand you will, upon approval, forward the account to Mr. Caskill who can then reimburse me.

Miss Corwin and I spent a profitable day together, and this meeting brought out some very good ideas. However, I have decided upon one thing - along the line of our ideas - that we are not going to crowd too much into our East Central Division program.

Mr. Martin Insull addressed the women on Monday morning. He is urging the study of private versus government ownership. I understand he is somewhat alarmed over the fact that the Senate is going to conduct this investigation of public utilities. Mr. Clapp explained the Boulder Dam project. This, therefore, is one of the subjects brought out for the women's program during the coming year, as of course, women now have the right to vote. If this can be presented to the women in a simplified manner, do you think it is a good plan to stress the subject at this time? We would bring in, of course, the benefits of private and customer ownership.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Esther Rooker

(The Dayton Power & Light Company)

THIS report of a woman's committee chairman of the National Electric Light Association, dominant Power Lobby organization, tells of propaganda plans devised at a chicago meeting last August. Members of these committees join women's organizations of many varieties and maneuver to have them addressed and instructed on subjects selected by the power interests, it is shown in the Federal Trade Commission record in which this letter is an exhibit. Paul S. Clapp, stated here to have "explained" the Boulder Dam project to the chairmen, is managing director of the light association, which has led a fight costing millions to defeat this project. The writer asks whether the "explanation" shall be passed on to other women, "in a simplified manner," but with attention given to "the benefits of private and customer ownership."

PUBLIC PAYS FOR PROPAGANDA OF POWER TRUST

By M. L. RAMSAY

Washington, July 18—Inside workings of the powerful public utility machine which deluged the Middle West and Southwest with propaganda against the Boulder dam project during the last two sessions of Congress were exposed in records under investigation by the Federal Trade Commission yesterday.

The propaganda campaign was promoted by New York headquarters of the National Electric Light Association, dominant organization of the power lobby, the records showed.

Public utility companies were assessed to foot the bills. Expenditures of this sort are charged in turn against consumers on their bills, the commission's record shows.

WOULD SWAY EDITORS

George F. Oxley, chief propagandist of the light association, struck the keynote for the campaign in a letter to J. B. Sheridan, director of the Missouri propaganda committee.

Oxley declared there was overproduction of many farm products. Editors were to be told that irrigation of land near the dam would bring more products on the market to "compete with products raised elsewhere."

Industrial development was to be represented as having the same effect on other sections of the country.

J. E. Hillemeyer, of the Union Electric Light & Power Company, St. Louis, urged Sheridan to turn out all possible printed matter "and get it reproduced as often as possible in such sections of the state in which it will do the best good as a means of effecting improper and malicious inclinations."

DATA FOR THE PRESS

He approved Sheridan's suggestion to hand "some of these metropolitan newspaper editorial writers such facts as would tend to influence their statements regarding these national subjects which affect our business, before editorials are written which will tend to influence and affect the opinion of our public and especially our consumers of utility service."

All material sent out should first be submitted to the steering committee of the propaganda committee, Hillemeyer added.

FIGHTER HELD AFTER ANTAGONIST DIES OF BLOW

Charged with manslaughter in the death of John F. Driscoll, 38, of Saratoga st., East Boston, Albert E. Goddard, 33, of London st., East Boston, was arraigned today and held in heavy bail for hearing in a week. Driscoll's died at City Hospital from a fracture of skull following a street fight July 6.

POWERS AGREE TO WAR BAN

Continued from First Page.

that her note would be made public with the British note on Friday.

Secretary Kellogg is now expected to take up for final decision the question as to when and where signatures of the powers will be attached to this peace pact. He is known to have looked with favor on the proposal first made by Ambassador Claudel, of France, some weeks ago that the ceremony take place in Paris and that Mr. Kellogg himself go to France to sign for the United States.

It is obvious from the trend of events that he will be relied upon by the foreign offices of the other signatory powers to name the time and the place for the ceremony. The German, French, Italian and Irish notes accepting the Kellogg project all expressed appreciation of his initiative in the effort to set up new world wide machinery calculated to make war a discarded weapon of national policy.

DENIES VERMONT ROADS ARE IN POOR CONDITION

St. Albans, Vt., July 18 (AP)—An appeal to hotel and tourist agencies in New England and Canada to correct the impression that Vermont's highways are in poor condition as the result of the November flo od was issued today by Leo F. Willson, president of the State Chamber of Commerce. Willson said several tourists' information bureaus outside the state have advised travelers to keep out of Vermont.

Willson said the roads here are in normal condition except where new construction is underway and these points may be avoided by good alternate routes.

Pani's Daughter Injured

Paris, July 18 (AP)—Senorita Consuelo Pani, daughter of the Mexican Minister to France, was seriously injured in an automobile accident on the Bois du Boulogne last night.

Lesleys
LESS IN PRICE
610 "SIX-TEN" WASHINGTON ST.
NEXT TO KEITH-ALBEE THEATRE

THURSDAY—9 SHARP!
Sale of Regular $5.75 Values!

PIQUE ENSEMBLES
Novelty printed coats cotton linen dress. Ideal for this warm weather.
Coat or Dress can be worn separately!
$3.95
Just the thing for the beach
Sizes 16 to 20

Washable SILK Sleeveless Dresses
2 for $10

Pongee DRESSES $2.95
9 Styles Sleeveless
All 12 Mumes Novelty Trim'd!

SuperRayon UNDERWEAR 2 for $1
VESTS, BLOOMERS, STEP-INS
In all the popular shades — pink, flesh, peach, orchid and green. ALL SIZES.
VALUES 98c Each

Absolute value $8.95
BOTANY FLANNEL DRESSES
One-piece Two-piece
Braided, Jacquard, Appliques, Leather Belts, Novelty Tops, Pastel Shades.
3.95
$5.95 Elsewhere
Sizes 14 to 44

KEEP YOUR DENTAL PLATE TIGHT KEEP YOUR FACE RIGHT
DON'T HAVE YOUR UPPERS RIDING ON THE LOWER JAW
CHENEY'S HOLDS-RITE HOLDS-TITE DENTAL-POWDER
It completes the suction between Dental Plates, False Plates, Dentures and the gums, holding them right and holding them tight in correct and natural position.
CHENEY'S HOLD-RITE powder forms a velvet like, adhesive, transparent film on the inside of the plate, preventing any soreness or gum irritations.
Wear your plate all the time. Just wash it once a day and apply the powder.
Your druggist can supply you, or at our store.
LARGE CAN 60c BY MAIL 65c
G. S. CHENEY CO.
HERB SPECIALISTS
15 UNION STREET BOSTON, MASS.

Absolutely Fresh
Old tea is bad tea — the SALADA system assures that every package is fresh
"SALADA" TEA
365

If your vacation takes you near Hyannis, Magnolia, York Harbor, Falmouth or Portland, be sure to visit Filene's shops.
Filene's
Built on value; growing on value

"Toyo" bags that look like straw
$1.85
Summer Styles we have sold all season at a higher price
They're ideal Summer bags—make you feel cool just to look at them as a red or navy chair seems invitingly cool on a hot day. They suggest Summer in every way.
—small and dainty in size—pretty summerish colors—blue and white, green and white, rose and white, black and white, shades of beige—all with leather trimmings in matching colors.
Pouch shapes—envelope bags—even O'Rossen styles —celluloid clasps—gate top frames—embroidered bags
All leather trimmed or finished
A bag for each frock is suggested by this low price—the lowest we have seen for bags like these.
Mail or telephone orders filled while quantity lasts. Call HANcock 3800. THURSDAY—opposite main elevators—street floor

A Choice of 40 Different Routes to California Given in This Free Book
"40 ways and more to California and the North Pacific Coast." Select the route best suited for this season of the year. Detail maps indicating these routes from Chicago together with fares and other information sent free on application to C. W. Gray, General Agent, Chicago & North Western Ry., 310 Old South Bldg. Phone Liberty 9168, Boston, Mass.—Advt.

JUNIOR GOLFERS FIGHT FOR STATE TITLE

SPORTS

Sox Open Series With Cleveland

Sharkey in Boston | Canadian Baseball
Fans Want Him | Ed Holley Succeeds
Cheers, Not Boos | Gus White Back

By NICK FLATLEY

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS
NEWS THE DAY IT HAPPENS

FANS WELCOME CHANCE TO SEE SHARKEY

BOSTON ring fans have accorded a sincere welcome to the announcement of the omniscient Mister Boston that Jack Sharkey was going to fight at Fenway Park next month. Boston ring fans, who used to boo at Jack, have been more than anxious to take a peek at him since he has become one of the "big shots."

Sharkey was not popular in his own home town because he happened to come along at the wrong time. He knocked off James Edward Maloney just when the boys were beginning to tab James as a second John L. That upset the hero worshippers, who took it out on the innocent Sharkey.

Nick Flatley

Times have changed quite a bit since then for the large ex-gob. He stepped right into the big money picture, collected plenty of gold and made a national reputation for himself. Tex Rickard would give several right eyes to have Boston Jack, rather than Heeney, meeting Tunney next week.

For Sharkey is a drawing card, the best in the ring, now that Jack Dempsey apparently has retired. Sharkey was right in line for a title shot when Dempsey pushed him aside. Jack got over that hurdle, then fooled around to a draw with Heeney and a close decision loss to Risko.

That last affair took a Tunney match away from Jack and made him realize that champions have to fight and work to get up there. Sharkey was very serious in his preparation for Delaney, and he knocked the Connecticut Frenchman endways in short order.

He will be next in line for Tunney, after Gene disposes of Heeney. He is down to training steadily and seriously. He intends to fight as often as he can get opposition. And naturally he will want to show Boston fans all he has.

Boston fans want to see what Sharkey is all about. They are set to be as kind as they used to be harsh, for Jack seems to be headed for a sure crack at the pinnacle just now.

OUR BRAVES ARE MAKING A DETERMINED STAB AT THE LOST GAME RECORD. AND WHAT A BATTLE THE PHILS ARE GIVING THEM.

The golf the kids play at Unicorn is junior only in name. Some of the games up there would tax the big champs. Youth is no bar to fame on the links, as Bobby Jones proved more or less conclusively.

BASEBALL GOING OVER BIG IN MONTREAL

JOSEPH PAGE, father of baseball in Canada and godfather of hockey in the United States, is visiting these parts. Joseph, among a million and one other activities, scouts for the Chicago White Sox.

He has been preaching the big Canadian cities as big league spots for years, and is not excited as a novice about the Montreal team in the International League. This team, as you may know, was put in Montreal by George Stallings, who is fighting death now down in Macon.

Stallings had accidents, sickness and bad weather to fight, but got the proposition rolling before he collapsed. Now, according to the eminent and enthusiastic Mister Page, Ed Holley, who is piloting pro tem, is doing a whale of a job. The boys are all cheering for the return of Stallings, but know that George can take his time convalescing. They feel things will be safe with Holley.

Montreal has become a real money maker in a single season, just as Page claimed it would to many a deaf ear in the past five years.

THE YANKS ARE ON ANOTHER OF THEIR WILD RAMPAGES. MUST HAVE READ SOME OF THE YARNS WHICH POINTED OUT THAT THEY WERE BEGINNING TO CRACK.

The champ dislikes the boxing game, so tickets will be dear:
For he must get himself enough to loaf another year.

GUS WHITE BACK ON JOB AT SANDY BURR

GOLFERS will be pleased to know that Gus White has recovered from a serious illness. The genial Sandy Burr director lost an appendix, but saved his life. Now he's busy with plans for a dinner that will usher in the greatest series of exhibition matches ever, at the Wayland layout. No real golf enthusiast lets a mere appendix bother him much.

Stribling in Chi for Tom Kirby Bout

Chicago, July 18 (AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight, was in Chicago today to complete training for his bout Friday with Tom Kirby of Boston.

This is Stribling's second appearance here. Two years ago he won from Johnny Risko, Cleveland. About a year ago Kirby defeated Rocco Stramaglia at Comiskey Park.

FIDEL LA BARBA STAGES A SUCCESSFUL COMEBACK

Los Angeles, July 17 (AP)—Fidel La Barba, who retired while fly-weight champion, staged a successful ring comeback tonight in a new weight division, taking a ten-round decision over Huerta Evans, hard-hitting Los Angeles bantamweight last i.

League Leaders

(By the Associated Press)

NATIONAL

BATTING—Hornsby, Braves, .398.
RUNS—Bottomley, Cards, 81.
RUNS BATTED IN—Bottomley, Cards, 79.
HITS—Douthit, Cards, 128.
DOUBLES—Bottomley, Cards, 30.
TRIPLES—Bottomley, Cards, 12.
HOMERS—Wilson, Cubs, 25.
STOLEN BASES—Frisch, Cards, 16.
PITCHING—Benton, Giants, won 16, lost

AMERICAN

BATTING—Sicelin, Senators, .380.
RUNS—Ruth, Yanks, 91.
RUNS BATTED IN—Gehrig, Yanks, 82.
HITS—Manush, Browns, 128.
DOUBLES—Goslin, Senators, Red Sox, 33.
TRIPLES—Goslin, Senators, 12.
HOMERS—Ruth, Yanks, 24.
STOLEN BASES—Meusel, White Sox, 16.
PITCHING—Crowder, Browns, won 10,

For Two Cents! More Than You Could See If You Went Yourself

CHAMPIONS ALL!

THE staff of experts who will cover the world's heavyweight title bout between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney in the Yankee Stadium, New York, a week from tomorrow night, for the BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN is one of the greatest ever assembled, and assures the readers of this paper of a most complete account of every angle of the struggle.

Headed by Tunney, himself, the list includes such nationally known ring authorities as JACK CONWAY, boxing editor of the Boston Evening American; NICK FLATLEY, sports editor of the Boston Evening American; DAMON RUNYON, DAVIS WALSH, FRANK MENKE, SID MERCER and ED. FRAYNE.

Nothing that takes place in the ring will escape the attention of these scribes, so if you want the most complete and authoritative account of the battle, order your copy of the BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN reserved at once.

INDIANS AT FENS FOR 4 GAMES

Jack Russell Due for Slab Duty Today; No Twin Bills on Program

By NICK FLATLEY

THE Red Sox didn't linger long in the cellar.. One whiff of the lonesome air down in the depths, and the Carrigans up and stopped their losing streak. Incidentally, they crashed the victory run of the Chisox, and are in good form to take on the Cleveland Indians today.

These Indians have just been ironed out by the Yankee steam roller. They lost five in a row, so the natives who have recovered from a similar slump, may have a romp or two before the invaders find their bearings.

It hasn't been much of a year for the Cleveland entry. After a flying start, the club fell to pieces, and the fragments are still strewn along the trails. The Feyways hope to do a little strewing of their own in the next four days, during which stretch, strangely enough no doubleheaders are billed.

JACK RUSSELL will go to the hill this afternoon. The slim chucker has had more rest than the other pitchers. He only worked one inning in the Chi series, but he worked plenty in that one.

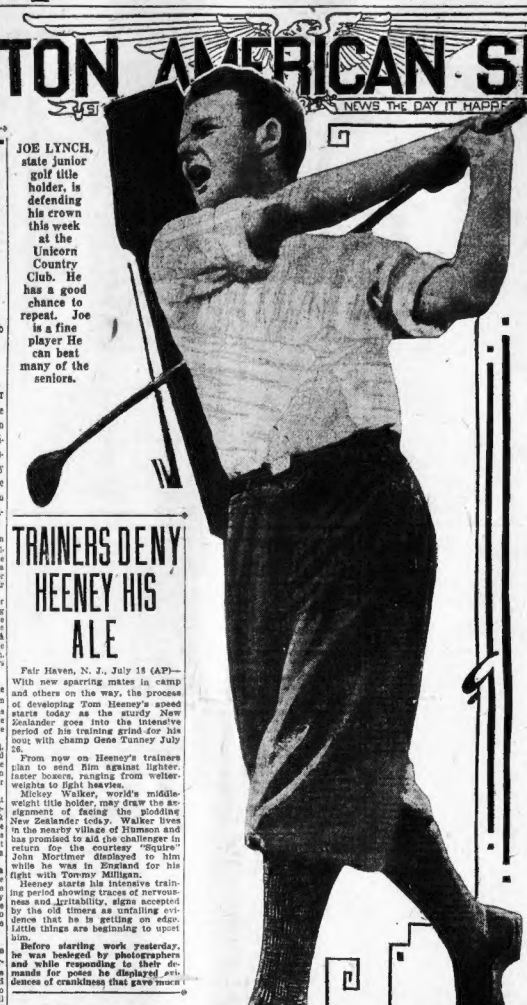
Jack, when he gets a real start, generally manages to go along, and in the past has been more effective against the Cleveland troupe than he has with Chicago on the other side.

Mgr. Carrigan announces that Bill Regan, his star second baseman, will not be able to get back in the game until the team hits the road next week. Bill's back muscles were badly torn, and nothing but complete rest will make him a whole player.

Bill's vacation is giving Rogell a chance to show what he has. The sub has been a bit unsteady for the past couple of days, but that may have been due to nervousness. Some of his playing has been quite up to snuff, and he looks better at the bat the longer he sticks in there.

DANNY MacFAYDEN broke the losing streak, although Ed Morris had to round into the tiring line at the finish. Danny was hit hard now and again, but managed to work through with a big lead, until the eighth. Then a three-run surge by the hostiles caused Carrigan to chase in reinforcements.

The game started to hit the ball, a sign of better times. Flagstead led the assault with three blows, while Todt, Williams and Tutt each registered a pair. A little more punching of this sort would hoist the club up into fifth place in short order.



JOE LYNCH, state junior golf title holder, is defending his crown this week at the Unicorn Country Club. He has a good chance to repeat. Joe is a fine player He can beat many of the seniors.

TRAINERS DENY HEENEY HIS ALE

Fair Haven, N. J., July 18 (AP)—With new sparring mates in camp and others on the way, the process of developing Tom Heeney's speed starts today as the sturdy New Zealander goes into the intensive period of his training grind for his bout with champ Gene Tunney July 26.

From now on Heeney's trainers plan to send Bim against lighter, faster boxers, ranging from welterweights to fight heavies.

Mickey Walker, world's middleweight title holder, may draw the assignment of facing the plodding New Zealander today. Walker lives in the nearby village of Humson and has promised to aid the challenger in return for the courtesy "Squire" John Mortimer displayed to him while he was in England for his fight with Tommy Milligan.

Heeney starts his intensive training period showing traces of nervousness and irritability, signs accepted by the old timers as unfailing evidence that he is getting on edge. Little things are beginning to upset him.

Before starting work yesterday, he was besieged by photographers and while responding to their demands for poses, he displayed evidences of crankiness that gave much satisfaction to his trainer, Jimmy Hennessey.

The next seven days will be extraordinarily tough for Heeney because they have taken away his ale. He is one of the old school fighters who believe that a couple of bottles of ale a day are just the thing for a fighter in training.

He has been drinking one bottle daily, but has consented to forego it for the rest of his training period. "And it was such good ale," Heeney sighed.

The challenger faced two new sparring partners yesterday, and while they hit the old hard rock with everything they had, he kept charging in until he got within range and then let punches fly from all angles.

The new mates were James J. Braddock, a 170-pounder from Jersey City, and James J. Lawless, weighing 190 pounds and hailing from Harrison, N. J.

Braddock and Lawless had no apparent trouble in hitting Heeney, but he never broke ground, never once changed his charging pace through the barrage they laid down all around him. Getting in close he whaled away with his powerful arms, once jarring Braddock with a left hook to the body and a short right cross the chin.

Heeney weighed 205 pounds when he started work yesterday after a day's layoff. He was out on the road at 5 o'clock in the morning in an effort to escape the heat, and melted off some five or six pounds before he reached the showers at the end of a long day.

A few hundred dollars wisely invested in Boston real estate now, will be worth thousands in a few years. See the wonderful property values offered today in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

FARRELL IS TO DEFEND TITLE

Westfield, N. J., July 18 (AP)—Johnny Farrell, national open golf champion, starts today in defense of one of his few remaining titles, the metropolitan open championship, at the Shackamazon Country Club here.

Since winning the open, the greatest crown of them all, at Olympia Fields in June, Farrell has been shorn of one other another of the numerous titles he held, principally the Shawnee and Eastern open championships which he lost last week.

A field of more than 100 of the leading amateurs and professionals of the metropolitan district will stand in the way of Johnny's defense of the metropolitan title. To the already fine field, the names of three more stars were added yesterday, Jim Barnes, former American and British open champion, "Light Horse" Harry Cooper of Los Angeles, and George Voigt, North and South amateur titlist.

Offsetting these entries, the British professionals, Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer, announced their withdrawals, due to falling after taking part in the Shawnee and Eastern events and many exhibition matches within a short time.

On today's program for the championship was the first 18-hole qualifying round. The second 18 holes will be played tomorrow and the 18-hole final on Friday.

BYRD FLIES TO TUNNEY CAMP TODAY

Speculator, N. Y., July 18—Our camp is agog with the message from Commander Richard Byrd that he will fly here today.

Pants Lawrence will be out on the lake at daybreak with several sheets to mark the aviator's parking place.

One thing Pants wants to know: "Does a seaplane splash when it lands?"

If lavish praise from boxing writers ringing in one's ears is to be taken as an indication that I have reached the near peak of form for the bout next week, then I should be satisfied with my present condition.

My workout, consisting of ten rounds, two with the light bag, two with the heavy and six rounds sparring with Maya and Vidaback, was without doubt the best training workout of my career.

"You look ten years younger than you did at Chicago last year," was the comment of Sydney Smith, Saratoga sportsman with whom I played golf in Florida last winter.

It was the first time he had seen me in ring togs since the last Dempsey match.

Bill McCabe and Jimmy Eagleton, who arrived last night from New York to complete my training camp family, were equally enthusiastic, as was Jimmy Bronson, who is now here to remain until we all leave for the big city.

In view of the form shown today, my boxing it is likely my schedule of workouts may be altered and planned from day to day until next Monday, when my sparring practice shall cease.

Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Gene Tunney

Ladies Play

Plymouth, July 18—The weekly ladies' golf tournament was held at the Plymouth Country Club. It was a best selected nine-hole affair, on-

JOE LYNCH FACES CRACK FIELD AT UNICORN

LITTLE Joe Lynch sets out to defend his State junior golf title at the Unicorn Country Club today. With a group of the finest young players in the Commonwealth to wade through, the competent junior title holder will have to be at his best to repeat.

Foremost among Lynch's opponents is Johnny Merwin, from the Concord Country Club. That youngster succeeded in reaching the semifinals of the State amateur at Essex last week, and that achievement was not his first in local tournament golf.

Merwin qualified in the State amateur a year ago at Charles River, and he has improved his very fine all-round game since that time until he is able to give almost any player in the State a lot of trouble over the route, in either match or medal play.

WOODLAND FAIR GOOD

Bill Donnelly of Woodland is another contender who is going to be in the thick of the fighting. With John Slattery, also of Woodland, he should qualify and proceed to the higher stages of the tourney with little trouble.

Tommy Fahey, present caddy champion of the State, has a good chance to upset Lynch. He is a much smoother and more consistent player than many of the youngsters.

Fahey reminds one of a pro when in action. There is a certain combination of balance and judgment displayed by the lad that recalls some of our best professional players.

Each year the competition among the youths becomes closer and their play more nearly approaches the standard of the senior golfers of the State.

UP FROM KID RANKS

Most of the best players of the Commonwealth are recruits from the junior ranks. Among others might be mentioned Eddie Lowery, George Aulbach, Francis and Ray Ouimet, Fred Wright, Clark Hodder, Emory Stratton and Chick Grasse.

In the recent amateurs there were several of the boys who will tee off in the junior makings a strong bid for honors. So when the list of qualifiers is completed after today's play, there will be some real championship score to look over.

The opening matches start at 8:30, and it will be nearly three hours before the parade has passed from the initial tee.

Tomorrow the survivors go forth to play to contest over the 18-hole score for the balance of the week. If Lynch comes through all this tough play with flying colors he will be the third junior champion to do this. The last one was in 1920, when Eddie Lowery managed to repeat.

BRAVES END SERIES WITH PIRATES

Pittsburgh, July 18—The battered Braves tackle the Pirates here today in the concluding game of their four-game series with the home team.

With yesterday's win ever the Boston team, making it eight in a row for the Pirates, that club is out to make it nine straight at the expense of the visiting club.

Even the great Rogers Hornsby and his batting mate, George Sisler, could not come through in the final pinch yesterday and so the Tribe dropped another game to the upward bound Corsairs.

Rated on paper as one of the potentially great teams of the league at the beginning of the season, the Pirates have just begun to show signs of life the past few days.

The Braves will have to win a game today or they will have lost an entire series to the Pirates, something that has not happened very often since the traditional rivalry between the two teams began to spring up some years ago.

Ed Brandt will probably toss them up for the Braves today. He has been a bit more effective than some of the Tribal hurlers recently, and may manage to bring the club out of the doldrums.

May Bar Boxing in California

Los Angeles, July 18—California's present boxing law is doomed if the voice of the people, as registered by signed petitions is an indication.

Registrar of Voters William M. Kerr yesterday certified to the secretary of State, Sacramento, that there on file at his office a total of 63,748 names of qualified electors out of a total of 81,420.

Official reports from San Francisco and Alameda counties show a total of 34,046 names, making a total of 97,834. Only 91,839 are needed.

This makes it certain that the initiative measure will go on the ballot for the November election if not another name is filed. However, sponsors of the initiative are still getting signatures to supplementary petitions which will be filed on or before July 27.

Morgan Favored Over Eddie Martin

New York, July 18 (INS)—The 15-round bout between Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, and Eddie Cannonball Martin is scheduled to come off at Ebbets Field tonight after half a dozen postponements. The champion is a 7 to 5 favorite.

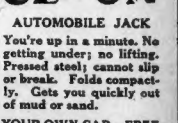
Win for Rialtos

The Rialtos swamped the Morton Theater, 10 to 1, at Fallon Field, Roslindale, last night.

Hatch banged out two doubles and a single, while Clasby had a double and a single for the winners. Vitkin featured for the Mortons.

Your Car Does the Work

Drive "UP and ON" This NEW AUTO JACK



Demonstration
ST. JAMES AVE.
AND BERKELEY ST.
PARK SQUARE

UP and ON AUTOMOBILE JACK

You're up in a minute. No getting under; no lifting. Pressed steel; cannot slip or break. Folds compactly. Gets you quickly out of mud or sand.

DRIVE IN—TRY IT ON YOUR OWN CAR—FREE

APPLIED MANAGEMENT, INC. (Managers), Philadelphia, Pa.
Distributed by
WETMORE-SAVAGE AUTOMOTIVE EQUIPMENT CO.
LINSCOTT SUPPLY CO.
GEORGE COLLINS CO., BOSTON
Quincy—Brockton—Lynn
THE FOST & LESTER CO.
Boston, Mass.—Providence, R. I.

Braves Have Been Massacred Under Cover of That Pittsburgh Smoke

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

All Seeded Women Survive Second Round at Longwood

SEVERAL MATCHES GO LIMIT

Mrs. Corbiere and the Misses Sarah Palfrey and Marjorie Morrill Advance

All the seeded players survived the second round of the women's invitation singles in the 36th annual Longwood Bowl tourney on the Longwood Club courts, Brookline, today.

Miss Sarah Palfrey, Marjorie Morril and Mrs. J. Dallas Cobiere were among the Hub entrants who advanced into the third round.

Mrs. Cobiere and Miss Palfrey won in straight sets, the former eatin Miss Eleanor Holton of Boston, 6–0, 6–0, and the latter defeatin Miss Mollie Thayer of Philadelphia 6—3, 6—3, at Miss Morrill was forced to the limit to vanquish Miss Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia, 8—3, 7—6, 6—1.

Other winners were Mrs. L. A. Harper of California, who beat Mrs. J. L. Berner of Boston, 2—6, 6—1, 6—1; Miss A. B. ownsend of Philadelphia, who defeated Miss Rosamund Newton of Brookline, 6—4, 6—3, 6—1; Carolyn Swartz of California, who turned back Mrs. William Endicott of Boston, 7—3, 6—1; Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco, who triumphed over Mrs. Roger Griswold of Boston, 6—2, 6—2, and Miss Evelyn Parsons of San Francisco, who was a victor over Mlsanne Palfrey of Brookline, 6—1, 6—4.

SECOND ROUND WOMEN'S SINGLES

Mrs. J. D. Cobiere defeated Miss Edith Holton, 6—0, 6—0.
Miss Sarah Palfrey defeated Miss Mollie Thayer, 6—3, 6—3.
Mrs. L. A. Harper defeated Mrs. J. L. Berner, 2—6, 6—1, 6—1.
Miss Ann Townsend defeated Miss Rosamund Newton, 6—4, 6—3, 6—1.
Miss Marjorie Morrill defeated Miss Virginia Hilleary, 8—3, 7—6, 6—1.
Miss Carolina Swartz defeated Mrs. William Endicott, 7—3, 6—1.
Miss Edith Cross defeated Mrs. Roger Griswold, 6—2, 6—2.
Miss Evelyn Parsons defeated Miss Misanne Palfrey, 6—1, 6—4.

Outdoor Sports -:- -:- -:- By TAD

SAY, KID, I JEST WATCHED YOU COMIN' UP THE ROAD — PICK UP YER FEET AND THROW YER SHOULDERS BACK - D'YE WANNA BE A SHIPTLESS GOOD FER NUTHIN SLOUCH WHEN YA GROW UP???
AW—THESE KIDS NOWADAYS AIN'T GOT NO GET UP AN GIT ABOUT 'EM
ITS EASY TO PUT DOWN LICKER IF YOU HAVE GINGER ALE ON THE SIDE
OUTDOOR SPORTS
GETTING A LOAD OF ADVICE FREE OF CHARGE
TAD 7-16
Great Britain rights reserved
© 1928, by Int'l Feature Service, Inc.

Rogers Says St. Louis Is Not Safe Yet

DEAR LOU—Here we are with the season gone past the half-way mark, and things working out pretty much as most of the boys doped them early in the spring.

You Yanks have the pennant all sewed up, apparently, while the merry fight is still on in our circuit.

The Cards manage to stick out in front, but every now and then the Giants or the Reds or the Cubs spurt and close up the gap. St. Louis has a good ball club, but it can't afford to let up any. Nothing short of a 10-game lead looks safe to me at this stage of the game.

I remember one year in our league the Pirates were seven games to the good on Labor Day and lost the pennant to the Giants. The New York team went into Pittsburgh, took five in a row and that ended it.

A sudden slump can raise whack with any kind of a ball club. It's hard to get out of the defeat habit once you slip in.

The Braves are a good sample of that. They just can't get going. They have games won coming into the ninth, then somebody, myself included, kicks one and away she goes. There is a lot of psychology to that. The boys get fretting for fear they may blow the ball and sure enough they do.

I have never been up against such a tough streak as we are in now, but there's nothing to do but stick and wait till the turn comes. It is depressing trying to figure out what is the matter, too.

The players are hustling, but no matter how I toss them around, it is all the same. Early to speak, but I know things will be better next year. That's a new record for July predictions.

What a batch of new pitchers are up near the top in the American League! Morris of the Red Sox, Crowder of the Browns and Pipgras with your club, to name three. These comparative youngsters have been showing the veterns stars the way. The same old gang is up there in our league.

I do think that another parade of good young ball players is on the way. Read the other day where President Barnard of the American League said that the game was beginning to get the first effects of the normal baseball development that followed the reconstruction period of the war.

He pointed out that for a matter of five or six years there was no time or incentive for the young men of the country to take up the game professionally. So there was a gap in the procession of good players up from the minors. That made it necessary for the clubs to depend on very old veter ins.

Now Barnard thinks the new kids are beginning to march up in usual numbers, and I agree with him. There certainly have been some pretty good regulars bust in in the last season or two. I only wish I could grab a few of them, I do.

Some of the Yanks subs look to me like birds who might be stars now, if they were around where they could break into a steady job. But the world series money is a lot of consolation for sitting on the bench.

Yours truly,

Rogers Hornsby

Copyright, 1928, by The Christy Walsh Syndicate

Speed Beat Races at Hull July 28

By GEORGE W. GRIMM.

The biggest outboard and speed boat regatta to be held in local waters will take place Saturday afternoon, July 28 in Hull Bay. These races for the outboards are the official New England Power Boat Association races and up to date there have been 63 entries received.

The races are to be run over a two-mile course, starting from the Hull station of the Boston Yacht Club to Waveland to Bayside and back to a finish line off the yacht club floats.

ENJOY A SAIL ON THE OCEAN
NANTASKET BEACH
Hourly Trips—Week Days
Free Tickets to Parsons Park for Mothers and Children Week Days.
Boats Leaving Continually Sundays
Enjoy the pleasant 50-mile sail to the Landing of the Pilgrims
PLYMOUTH THE ALL DAY SAIL
On the Palatial Steamer BETTY ALDEN
Boat Sails Daily Excepting Mondays at 10 A. M. Round Trip Fare $1.75
Children 6 and under 12, $1.00

Mounts, Selections, Prices

OPINION OF LEADING HANDICAPPERS

At Empire City	At Lincoln Fields
Sipurn	Panini
Star Flyer	Pennimotoe
Last Charge	Mrs. Vandusen
Brandywine	Ida
Jim Bean	Mimi
Mint Sirrah	Scotland
Paragraph	Zo Zo Tri Til
Pebble's Last	Minerva
Wrench	Waite Jones
Recognition	Neddie
Highland Maid	Black
Kay Dee	Hot Shot
Last Charge	Oh Susanna
Lasso	Prince of Wales
Lillian M	Class Flyy
So Long	Flagskiff
Mawell	Golden Racket
Shannon Shore	Pendasto
Fetching	Profiteer
Tobi	Dr. Rankin
Simply Step Comstockery

At Empire City

FIRST RACE.

Horse.	Prob. Odds
Star Flyer, W. Kelsay	3-1
Sipsrn, S. Watters	5-1
Gunther, J. Mcgrier	8-1
Last Charge	15-1
Lemonade	20-1
Pebble's Last, Y. J. Baker	10-1
Wrench, F. Catrone	15-1
Recognition, M. Garner	12-1
Highland Maid, O. Rose	15-1
Kay Dee	4-1
Last Charge, E. Barnes	5-1
Lillian M., A. Collins	20-1
So Long	30-1
Brandywine, J. Moon	8-1
Regus's Gold, C. Powers	20-1

SECOND RACE

Clairdine, M. Garner	6-1
Symabisus, K. Puco	4-1
Jim Bean, O. Wathen	6-1
Mid Hour, A. Collins	15-1
Kinkaine, P. Mcdonald	8-1
Mariner, J. Hastings	4-1
Lillian M., W. Kelsay	8-1
Flying Scud, O. Rose	6-1
Shes	4-1

THIRD RACE

Fondy	12-1
Argus, F. Weiner	10-1
Paragraph	6-1
High Game, J. Callahan	5-1
Mint Sirrah	3-1
Notes, P. Goodwin	6-1
Leonardo	4-1
Lass o' Gowrie	6-1
Fleeting Fire	15-1
Millson, G. Watters	20
Seawall, F. Coltieri	30-1
Marie Blache, Jd. A. McKechnie	20-1
Mysticism	8-1

FOURTH RACE

Proxima, F. Catrone	15-1
Omare Beshe, C. Walters	5-1
Hesper	20-1
Frank	20-1
Helga	8-1
Campbell, D. McAuliffe	4-1
Sandy	15-1
Nap, E. Barnes	8-1
Alice, A. Schuttinger	30-1
Crumpler, E. Watters	20-1
Joe Swope, F. Weiner	7-1
Flood Gate, F. Moon	10-1
Bedford Dream	20-1
Nat Clyman	10-1

FIFTH RACE.

Francis Victoria, M. Fields	12-1
Anterior, F. Catrone	6-1
Shannon Shore, H. Garner	5-1
Manwell, E. Koehn	20
Lucky Bragger, A. Robertson	10-1
Vic, J. Shanks	15-1
Saratoga Maid, C. Yassell	15-1
Drama, A. McKechnie	15-1
Vaulting, J. Mcdonald	30-1
Hazard, O. Rose	30-1
Dona de Richo, S. Resick	20-1

SIXTH RACE

Toki, L. McAtee	7-10
Comstockery, G. Ellis	6-1
Eagle Scout, E. Kelsay	3-1
Turk's Cap, G. Rose	20-1
Sefton	15-1
Ben Marshall, F. Weiner	7-10
Red Lantern, O. Fields	10-1
Calwich, A. Robertson	20-1
Sandwich	30-1

CLOCKER'S REVIEW—Algol, Lincoln. CLOCKER'S BIG FREE CODE—Prince Tri.

GRAPHIC WEEKLY—Plain Dealer, Devonshire. Or Rockland, Lincoln Fields.

MASTER CLOCKER—Black Darling, Lincoln Fields, Devonshire.

TIME RACING COMMISSIONER—Sipsrn or Rockland, Dr. Rankin, Devonshire.

TURF FACTS—Rockland, Lincoln Fields.

Lincoln Fields, Fan, Rockland, Mercedes, Dorval, Duchess, Devonshire; Frances Victoria, Sipsrn.

THE'S SUPER-SPECIAL—Lady Geeler, Excelsior.

At Lincoln Fields

FIRST RACE

13—Panini, A. Pendergrass	8-5
7—Black Flyer	3-1
16—Golden Art	8-1
2—Peach Rose, L. Fiches	6-1
5—Mrs. Vandusen, W. Steel	20-1
14—Burma Maid, J. Mcgrath	30-1
10—Stella Beth	10-1
11—Black Velvet, J. Finnerty	8-1
12—Black Velvet, J. Scott	30-1
9—Managerial, L. Morris	20-1
15—Ida	30-1
15—Reflection	30-1

SECOND RACE

10—Miss. C. Meyer	3-1
6—Scotland	2-1
3—Algol	3-1
8—Mally Jane, F. Chiavetta	15-1
4—Lady Ann, J. Mcgrath	4-1
1—Black Patty, A. Pendergrass	20-1
12—Zerbille, Steel	30-1
9—Fairyman, W. Durran	15-1
11—Fairy Tale, J. Mcgrath	12-1
7—Lady North, W. Woolf	15-1
5—Gulgeller, L. Leyland	15-1
12—Patsy Jane	40-1

THIRD RACE

6—Rosetta Stone, R. Doggett	8-1
10—Prince Tri Til, J. Kelly	10-1
3—Minerva	4-1
2—Speedometer, W. Garner	30-1
1—Agatha	20-1
1—Button
13—National Beth, M. Hoffman	30-1

FOURTH RACE

4—Hot Shot	3-1
6—Black Jack, J. Leyland	3-1
7—Prince Pat, L. Hasty	8-1
5—Black Darling, D. Smith	6-1
3—Mayor Walker	10-1
2—Paul Shayan, R. Jones	4-1
1—Lucky Lad	15-1
12—Rainshurg, C. E. Allen	20-1
8—Lancaster	30-1

FIFTH RACE.

9—Oh Susanna, W. Garner	3-1
3—Captain Hamilton	4-1
1—Goan Play	4-1
2—Green Road	4-1
5—Gracious Girl	8-1
6—Hornbacher, L. McDermott	8-1
8—Wood Lore	20-1

SIXTH RACE

8—Golden Racket	12-1
7—Flagstaff, H. Elston	4-1
1—Red Jay, A. R. Patzwell	4-1
11—Miss Up J. Kelly	6-1
5—Mally Jane, W. Garner	6-1
10—Devon, E. Dubois	8-1
3—Brook Air	10-1
4—Caskan	15-1
9—Long Ridge, J. Howard	20-1
10—Shasta Nut	30-1

SEVENTH RACE

8—Chairman, J. Leyland	10-1
3—Mysterious	5-1
5—Pandesto, C. Meyer	4-1
9—Bright Shawl, E. Tellos	6-1
1—Dr. Rankin, W. Garner	6-1
2—Friar Mint, W. Curran	15-1
6—Profiteer	3-1
4—Flora M., R. Doggett	8-1
7—Marlboro	30-1
10—Brown, W. Crump	30-1

COLLYER'S SELECTIONS—Most probable winner, Panini.

COLLYER'S SYSTEM HORSE—Mrs. M. Vandusen.

BERT PARLAY—Speedometer. Algol. Mornlogue, Glacial, to place.

EXCURSIONS
SUNDAY, JULY 22
Old Orchard
A Day at the Seashore
ROUND $2.50 TRIP
Train leaves North Station 7:45 A. M. (E. S. T.). Stops to take at Wakefield, Lawrence, Haverhill, Dover, Somersworth and Rochester. Arrives Alton Bay 10:45 and Weirs 11:25. Leaves Weirs 6:45 P. M. (E. S. T.)
Winnipesaukee
ROUND $2 TRIP
Mt. Tom
HOLYOKE—SPRINGFIELD
ROUND $2.50 TRIP
Round Trip to Mt. Tom $1.00
Train leaves North Station 7:30 A. M. (E. S. T.) Arrives Holyoke 11:30 and Springfield 11:45. Returning leave Springfield 4:20 and Holyoke 4:30 P. M. (E. S. T.) Tickets good from Andover, Ayer, Beverly, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, Salem, Wakefield, Waltham, Reading
Enjoy a fine outing by train and avoid motoring worries and strain on congested highways.
BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

HUB HORSE WINS STAKE RACE

Northampton, July 18—A good crowd turned out for the opening day's program of the Bay State Circuit at the Northampton Fair Grounds.

Jeanette Royal, owned by Allan J. Wilson of Boston, won the 2:20 pace stake, winning the third and fourth heats. Wayne Hal, winning the first heat in 2:06, lowered the track record of 2:06½ held by Sir Roch.

Miss Modesty, out of the stable of Ed Kirby, won the two-year-old race in straight heats. Guy Express, favorites for the event, was disqualified for a lone running break.

Best time 2:16¼. Harry Brusie put Bronx over in the 2:18 class trot, but took a heat to Hodson Summers. Best time 2:19½.

There are two races on the card today, 2:15 pace, three-year-old trot, free-for-all trot, and free-for-all pace.

Martinetti May Be Cycle Sprint Titlist

Avanti Martinetti, one of the performers in the three-cornered special sprint match at the Revere Cycle track this coming Saturday night, looms up as the next American sprint champion.

He is far in front in his division in points scored in the qualifying races and expects to breeze right through to the title.

In the sprint at the Revere track he meets Bobby Walthour, Jr., the popular blonde haired rider, and Freddy Spencer in a match that will be settled in three heats, points to decide the winner.

Seven riders, all stars, are entered in the Golden Wheel race, one of the classics of the bike sport. It will be over 50 miles and with such a field, bike followers are confident that a new mark will be set up for the track.

Other races for amateur and pro riders will also be staged.

Crescent A. C. Stages Lynn Bouts Tonight

Tonight at Lynn the Crescent A. C. will usher in the open-air boxing season for that city. The feature bout, one of ten rounds, will bring together Micky Sears of East Boston and Pinky Kaufman of Hartford, Conn.

In the semifinal of eight rounds Johnny Kid Herman will clash with Georgie Paulin of Revere. There will be two six round bouts, in the first of which Marty Sullivan will meet Jimmy Birch of the U. S. S. Nevada and in the second six Louis Zizso of Revere will meet Frank Mayo of Revere.

Landis Will Help Everett Benefit

A letter of acceptance from Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, to the invitation extended him by Mayor James A. Roche of Everett to come to Boston and aid in the plans for the twilight game at Everett August 9, has come to the committee in charge.

The Boston Red Sox will play the Roche Club of Everett, augmented by the addition of Babe Ruth and maybe Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri.

ALL-STARS VS. ATHLETICS ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The first game of a series between the South End Athletics and the Brandon A.C. All-Stars, for baseball supremacy on the diamond, will take place Sunday afternoon at Columbus ave. playground.

Both teams will have their strongest representation. G. Fields, 20, formerly of Worcester Academy, will do the pitching for the Athletics, while Otis Reed, pitcher for Nashua when that city was in the Twi League, will do the honors for the All-Stars.

BOSTON EMPLOYES SLATE HANDICAP RACES

The City of Boston Employees, Local 649, A. F. of L., will hold one-mile and 10-mile handicap runs at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury, next Tuesday night.

The mile run will start at 8 o'clock and the 10-mile run will get under way at 8:10.

FENWAY PARK

TODAY AT 3:00 P. M.

RED SOX vs. CLEVELAND

Seats at Barnes Turnbridge's Liberty 5070

Bouts Last Night

(By the Associated Press)

New York—Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, outpointed Jack Hevey, New York (10).

Buffalo—Johnny Murray, Pittsburgh, knocked out Willie Jones, Cleveland (2).

Otto Atterson, Terre Haute, defeated Paul Darr, San Francisco (10).

Amusements

Movieland's Princess of Pep!
Bebe Daniels in 'HOT NEWS' in Paramount's lively comedy-drama featuring Neil Hamilton, star cast Boston's Joy-Boy
Rodemich
and THE PUBLIX PLAYBOYS in "HAREM SCAREM," PUBLIX REVUE bringing Arabia to Boston!
Metropolitan Grand Orchestra
MARTEL at the ORGAN
Doors open at 10:15—Sun. before 1
Starts FRIDAY
Thomas Meighan in "The Racket"
AND A MARVELOUS PROGRAM OF STAGE AND MUSICAL FEATURES—THAT THRILL!
Doors open at 11:15 A. M.
35c before 1 o'clock
Ever De Luxe Performance.
Always CHEERY COOL and COMFORTABLE METROPOLITAN

KEITH-ALBEE BOSTON WASH ST. AT ESSEX
LOIS WILSON in "RANSOM"
JIMMY ALLARD & CO.
Assisting by OTTILIE COMINAY
FOWSER BOB—GEORGIE HUNTER
DEMARIS & MOORE REVILE
New Mal Reach Comedy "Fleeing Father"
Hattie M Weddon—Helen—Tarzo
SID MARION BOSTON'S OWN
BIG 3-HOUR SHOW 10 A. M. 25c 1:30 P. M.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
Week Sat. & Hamilton Pl.—Castle, from P. A.R. Theatre Cooled by Refrigeration
Direction Nat. Lewis & Harry Weber
Loew's Vaudeville Trapped by Julius Hall & Band | Cesareo Bros. Lyra Featuring Dave—Hicks Ateart, Mary Baxter Esther Ring Art Conley
Evenings 25c to 12:30 50c 1:30 to 5:30 35c Sunday 2:30 to 6:30 50c

LOEW'S STATE
Mat. Am. at Norway St. Cont. from 1:00 P.M.
RAMON NOVARRO
in "A CERTAIN YOUNG MAN"
MAX DAVIDSON in "TELL IT TO THE JUDGE"
On the STAGE DAVE WHITE & Whole Band
ROME & DUNN Other Acts
MAT. 35c—EVES. 40c and 50c

COPLEY Tues., Thurs. & Sat., 2:30 Evens. at 8:30
Another Clever Farce Comedy
Don't Tell George!
Best Orchestra Seats $1.50

MODERN BEACON EVE SOUTHERN MALCOLM McGREGOR
"STORMY WATERS"
LOUISE FAZENDA-CLYDE COOK
FIVE and TEN CENT ANNIE

OLYMPIA WASH. ST. FENWAY NEAR HUNT. PARK
See! VITAPHONE Hear!
Lionel BARRYMORE—Ray NAVARRO in "The LION and the MOUSE"
Starts Today—Norma TALMADGE in "KENDERLOIN"
A Vitaphone Act on the Stage
VOICE of HORUMBEGA FUN PLENTY

MAJESTIC Evens. 50c to $2 SCHWAB & MANDEL'S MUSICAL COMEDY SUCCESS GOOD NEWS
with GEORGE OLSEN'S GOOD NEWS BAND

SCOLLAY SQ. CONT. 7 DAYS
CROOKS CAN'T LOSE
ZOOMING
CHARLES RAY—IN PERSON!
"THE GARDEN OF WEEDS"
CENTRAL SQ. ALLSTON
Vitaphone Act
"The Lion and the Mouse"
Vaux & Schuck—Warings Penn'sylvanians
Fox Harriers Rose & Vitaphone Acts

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE CONTINUOUS
RAMON NOVARRO and NORMA TALMADGE in "ACROSS TO SINGAPORE"
GEORGE O'BRIEN in "HONOR BOUND"
THE GARDEN OF SNAPPIER KINDERGARTEN
Vitaphone Act—"SAILORS' WIVES"

Amusements

At the Tip of Cape Cod
PROVINCETOWN
PILGRIMS' FIRST LANDING
Steamship DOROTHY BRADFORD 1800 Tons
DANCING ON THE LOWER DECK
ACROSS Stateroom Restaurants Music
DOWN THE HARBOR
Daily: 9:30 A.M. Sundays 10:00 A.M.
Due on Return 7:30 Daily 8:00 PM Sunday Local Time
MASS BAY
Free LONG WHARF ATLANTIC AVE. Foot State St. Tel. Hubbard 9392
100 MILE ROUND TRIP $2.00

Amusements

NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRES TONIGHT

ALLSTON
ALLSTON — Basil Lone in "SALLY OF THE SAWDUST" Bin-Tin-Tin in "A DOG OF THE REGIMENT" Best Week—Vitaphone
PUBLIX APITOL SOMERVILLE AVE. — Richard Barthelmess in "Wheels of Chance" Bebe Daniels in "THE FIFTY-FIFTY GIRL" Starlight Promenade

CAMBRIDGE
PUBLIX CENTRAL SQUARE CAMBRIDGE — Ramon Novarro in "Across to Singapore" Bebe Daniels in "The Fifty-Fifty Girl"
HARVARD SQUARE THEATRE — Adolphe Menjou in "A Night of Mystery" Betty Peterson in "Mirth of a Mouse" "The News Parade"
PORTER EXETER ST. PORTER SQUARE — Lew Cody, Ellinor Private in "TEA FOR THREE" Wallace Beery in "OLD IRONSIDES"
UNIVERSITY MASS. AVE. HARVARD SQ. — Laura La Plante in "THANKS FOR THE BUGGY RIDE" "THE LITTLE YELLOW HOUSE"

CHARLESTOWN
HOLLYWOOD MAIN ST. CHARLESTOWN — Richard Barthelmess in "THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME" Tom Wilson in "MAN AND BRAND AT THE FRONT"

CHELSEA
OLYMPIA CHELSEA — Basil Lone in "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" Bin-Tin-Tin in "THE DOG OF THE REGIMENT"

DORCHESTER
ODNAC SQ. DORCHESTER — Ramon Novarro in "Across to Singapore" Bebe Daniels in "BRINGING UP FATHER" Thurs. Revels Nat. 10c
DORCHESTER THEATRE — Marie Prevost in "THE RUSH HOUR" Jacqueline Logan in "Broadway Daddies"
FIELDS COR. DORCHESTER — Ramon Novarro in "Across to Singapore" Comedy "BRINGING UP FATHER" Gazette Mat. Today, 10c
NETOCO FRANKLIN PARK — Phyllis Haver in "CHICAGO" Tom Mix in "FOREIGN DEVILS"
NETOCO NORTH END THEATRE — Lloyd Hughes, Mary Astor in "SAILORS' WIVES" Also Out in "SUNSET LEGION" Pvt. "THE BIG CITY"

GROVE HALL
NEW SHAWMUT NETOCO — Emil Jannings in "The STREET OF SIN" Col. Tim McCoy in "The Law of the Range"
PUBLIX CAPITOL SOMERVILLE — Richard Barthelmess in "WALLFLOWERS" Starlight Promenade
GALESTON Next to Gallivan Sq. — Mabel Julienne Scott in "LADY BE GOOD" Sat.—Gift Nite

JAMAICA PLAIN
THE JAMAICA — Cooled by Typhoon Joan Crawford in "13 WASHINGTON SQUARE" Ben Bernard in "THE CANYON OF ADVENTURE" Fri.—"Hands of Tony Cisco"

REVERE BEACH
CRESCENT GARDENS — Mary Mulvey, Conrad Nagel in "SLIGHTLY USED" Ricardo Cortez in "BY WHOSE HAND"

ROSLINDALE
PUBLIX RIALTO NETOCO — Cooled by Typhoon Joan Crawford in "13 WASHINGTON SQUARE" Ben Bernard in "THE CANYON OF ADVENTURE" Fri.—"The Yellow Lily"

ROXBURY
DUDLEY DUDLEY ST. — Bronco Day in "BEAU GESTE" Ben Lyon in "HELL'S HEROES"
NEW RIVOL NETOCO — Bela Lugosi in "HOLD 'EM YALE" Billie Dove in "THE YELLOW LILY" Sat. Nite—Gift Nite

SOMERVILLE
DAY SQUARE OLYMPIA DAVIS SQ. — Ralph Lewis in "CHICAGO AFTER MIDNIGHT" Wallace Beery in "OLD IRONSIDES"
PUBLIX STRAND SOMERVILLE — Gert Lytell in "ALIAS THE LONE WOLF" "A Sailor's Sweethearts" All New Vitaphone

SOUTH BOSTON
SOUTH STRAND BOSTON — Bebe Daniels in "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" Neil Hamilton in "The Flyin' Cowboy"

SOUTH END
NATIONAL TREMONT ST. — "THE THREE SINNERS" Rod La Rocque in "THE FRONT PAGE" Ed Cronin in "Hot Heels" Pathe News Fri. Pictorial Review of Parades' Game

WALTHAM
EMBASSY MOODY ST. — Ramon Novarro in "Across to Singapore" All Star Vodvil Show Tuesday Thursday Saturday Free Auto Parties

What a War the Youngsters Will Stage in the Junior Golf at Nicorn

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

MacAuley Smith Entered in Two Olympic Events

ATHLETES OPPOSE CHANGES

Ray Barbuti Suffering From Tightening of the Muscles

..S. S. President Roosevelt, En Route to Amsterdam, July 18 (AP)—MacAuley Smith, Yale distance runner, has joined Lloyd Hahn and Joie Ray in the ranks of those who will lattempt to gain two victories for Uncle Sam in the Olympic track and field championships at Amsterdam.

The young cross-country ace has been permitted by the Olympic committee to enter both the 5,000 and 10,000 meter run at Amsterdam.

Smith amazed track experts during the eastern sectional trials in the Yankee stadium, New York, when he beat Leo Lermond, Boston A. A. flier, in the 5,000 meters. Lermond gained revenge, however, in the finals at Cambridge when he led home the field in the same event with Smith second.

The Yale star feels that he has a better chance of winning the 10,000 meter at Amsterdam than the 5,000 despite the fact that in the longer run he will meet such rivals as Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, the Finns, and Joie Ray and chinny Romig, his American teammates.

ATHLETES OPPOSE CHANGE.

The decision that put Smith in both of the longer flat races was the one change the Olympic committee made in the individuals selections announced before the team left for Europe.

Before the final entries were transmitted to Amsterdam last night the coaches suggested shifts which would have put Henry Russell, former Cornell sprinter, in the 200-meter dash instead of the 100-meter, and Henry Cumming, the Newark A. C. star, in the 100 instead of the 200.

There also was discussion as to the advisability of placing Eric Krens, Stanford field event star, in the discus as well as in the shot put.

Krens was off form in the discus during the finals but when in shape he ranks up among the best in the United States.

Another move was suggested that would have put John Anderson of Cornell, who qualified in the discus throw in the shot put.

BARBUTI HURT

All of the athletes affected, however, were opposed to the changes and the matter was ropped. Ray Barbuti, the big Syracuse University speedster, strong favorite to capture the Olympic 400-meter championship, tightened his big muscles in an impromptu deck walking race but is confident he can work out the kinks before the Olympics. He's using the hot water cure to relieve the soreness.

K. of C. Council Plans Big Field Day

Valladelid Council Knights of Columbus of Lynn, will hold a field day and barbecue at the Topsfield Fair Grounds on August 11.

There will be a 12-mile marathon run with a six minute limit on the handicap, for ten prizes.

The other handicap events, will be 100-yard dash, 440 and 880 yards and one-mile runs. Gold watches will be given to first and second and there will be a third prize also.

The prizes for the winner and for second, third and fourth in the marathon run will be gold watches and there will be prizes for the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth.

All the events will be held on the race track. Entries will close on August 7 with Humbert Ciraffice, 30 Lancaster ave., Point of Pines.

The games have been sanctioned by the New England Association of the A. A. U.

Al Mello Wins in N. Y. Fight

New York, July 18—Al Mello of Boston knocked out Joe Schlocker, Cleveland welterweight, in the ninth round of a scheduled ten round bout at the Queensboro Stadium, Long Island, here.

The Lowell boy dropped his opponent to the mat three times for counts of nine before he finished him.

BENNETT A. A. WOULD PLAY S. E. MIDGETS

The Bennett A. A. would like a game with the South End Midgets at or away from home for Sunday. Phone E. B. 2250 and ask for Louis Poto.

"All's Well"

A famous physician says every mother should have an occasional rest, away from husband and children.

Try it. We can help.

Tell them your route. In case of need, they'll telephone. If they don't, rest easy. All's well.

If you would like to "call the roll" at bed-time, give your home number to our Operator wherever you may be.

It will not cost much in time or money because we're organized to put calls through quickly and at low cost. Service on this basis will give you comfort and give us pleasure.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company

SPORT SHOTS

HORSE, RING, AND RUNNING STARS

At top, Sun Forward, Burke up, is winning the Palisades Purse at the Empire City track. In center, Champion Gene Tunney signs contract for big fight July 26. Better late than never for signing, thinks Tex. Bottom, Lloyd Hahn, B. A. A. middle-distance flash, with a few of his prizes. Lloyd is now on the S. S. President Roosevelt with the U. S. Olympic team. He may be a double winner at Amsterdam. —International Newsreel Photos

Baseball Statistics

American League

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	62	31	.732
Philadelphia	50	35	.581
St. Louis	47	41	.534
Chicago	41	46	.471
Cleveland	40	46	.465
Washington	36	50	.419
BOSTON	33	49	.415
Detroit	32	53	.405

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Boston 8, Chicago 7.
New York 4, Cleveland 3.
Philadelphia 6, Detroit 3.
St. Louis 3, Washington 2.

GAMES TODAY

Cleveland at Boston.
Detroit at Philadelphia.
Chicago at New York.

New England League

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Haverhill	10	2	.909
Lewiston	7	3	.538
Brockton	6	4	.600
Attleboro	6	7	.462
Lynn	5	7	.417
Portland	3	8	.467
Manchester	2	8	.333
Salem	2	9	.200

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Attleboro 7, Haverhill 1.
Lewiston 5, Lynn 1.
Brockton 5, Manchester 1.
Portland 8, Salem 7.

GAMES TODAY

Haverhill at Brockton, 2 games.
Lewiston at Salem.
Attleboro at Lynn.
Portland at Manchester.

Twilight League

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Dorchester	3	1	.750
Quincy	3	1	.750
Malden	2	2	.500
Reading	2	2	.500
South Boston	2	2	.500
Roslindale	1	3	.250
East Cambridge	1	3	.250
Chelsea	1	3	.250

GAMES TONIGHT

East Cambridge at Quincy.
Malden at Roslindale.

National League

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Louis	55	35	.611
Chicago	52	37	.584
New York	50	36	.575
Cincinnati	48	38	.558
Brooklyn	45	44	.506
Pittsburgh	46	46	.500
BOSTON	36	55	.396
Philadelphia	31	56	.356

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Pittsburgh 7, Boston 6.
Cincinnati 5, New York 4.
Chicago 6, Philadelphia 3.
St. Louis 7, Brooklyn 2.

GAMES TODAY

Boston at Pittsburgh.
Brooklyn at Cincinnati.

Eastern League

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	Won	Lost	Pct.
New Haven	56	36	.609
Providence	53	39	.619
Hartford	48	44	.522
Pittsfield	46	41	.529
Springfield	44	46	.506
Bridgeport	42	48	.467
Albany	40	47	.460
Waterbury	34	53	.391

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

New Haven 6, Hartford 5.
Albany 4, Providence 2.
Pittsfield 8, Waterbury 1.
Springfield 8, Bridgeport 2.

GAMES TODAY

Hartford at New Haven.
Albany at Providence.
Waterbury at Pittsfield.
Springfield at Bridgeport.

FORDHAM FLASH OUT OF GAME FOR 10 DAYS

St. Louis, July 18—Frank Frisch, who hurt a muscle in his left leg in a game, was taken to a hospital for treatment.

He will be out of the game for a week or ten days.

St. Catherine's Team to Defend Title

A tug-of-war between teams representing the St. Catherine's Holy Name Club of Charlestown and the Salem Hibernians is the feature of the program of the St. Thomas field day, which will take place Saturday at St. Joseph's Juniorate grounds, Peabody.

A purse of $100 will be given to the winning team and medals will be awarded the contestants.

The St. Catherine's team won the Mayor Nichols' trophy in competition last May and is a favorite to triumph Saturday but the Hibernian outfit is a strong one and should put up a great fight.

More than 500 members of the St. Catherine's club will accompany the team to Salem.

Wright To Play In South Shore Tilt

Starting tomorrow and continuing through Saturday, golfers from all parts of the State will be trekking to the South Shore for the annual Plymouth and Scituate joint tournament. The Plymouth-Scituate event is the banner attraction of the open tournament season.

Jesse Guilford, Freddie Wright, Emory Stratton, Billy McPhail, Billy Whitcomb, Charlie Crane, Harold V. Kaler and Jack McCarthy are a few of the low handicap men playing at Plymouth and Scituate.

Got a good place or real estate, buy it wisely, say for it, keep it, and later it will keep you. See the sound values listed today in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

LAMAR'S LEFT MENACE TO MALONEY

By JACK CONWAY

HENRY LAMAR, a former amateur champion, will try to show that Jim Maloney is an easy target for a left hand when he battles the South Boston heavyweight in a 10-round bout at Braves Field on next Monday night under the direction of the Argonne A. A.

Jack Conway

Lamar has one of the best left hands in the boxing game. Like Gene Tunney and Tommy Loughran, he scores with his left while going away. This was the style of ring warfare that enabled Loughran to successfully defend his world's light heavyweight championship against Pete Latzo on Monday night.

Lamar, originally a light heavyweight, has put on weight and now scales 186 pounds. He has been training in the mountains of New Hampshire and should be at the peak of his form when he goes into action against Maloney.

Shanus displayed plenty of fighting heart in his recent engagement with Jack DeHave and will give Lamar an interesting evening.

It is expected that Maloney and Lamar will attract the largest crowd that has witnessed a boxing show at Braves Field this summer.

It appears as though it will be quite necessary for Al Mello to give Billy Murphy another shot at the New England welterweight championship if he is to retain his standing in his home town. When Mello and Murphy met recently, most of the good citizens of Lowell, from Mayor Corbett down to the humblest voter, were gathered around the ring. The official decision in favor of Mello, was very unpopular.

In the eighth round, Murphy had Mello in poor condition as a result of a terrible attack to the head and body. Mello was socked more often in the eighth frame than at any time since he started boxing in Boston. If Murphy had maintained the same pace during the last two rounds, he would have had such a big margin in his favor that it would have been necessary for the officials to have given him the duke.

WHO WANTS TO TAKE UP THIS CHALLENGE?

The Cambridge Quoit Club would like to arrange games with any quoit club in suburban Boston that pitches a 3 1/4-pound quoit at a distance of 45 feet. Games with the Lynn Quoit Club and the Alston Quoit Club are desired. Arrangements for Sunday and twilight games may be arranged by writing to C. J. Dalton, 233 Walden st., Cambridge.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"GENE TUNNEY is rooting harder than anybody else for a million-dollar gate in his championship bout with Tom Heeney in New York on July 26," said Mr. Boston as he stepped in out of the heat today.

"Why shouldn't he," remarked the practical Freddy Lane. "He's to get quite a chunk of the gate receipts, isn't he?"

"It's not the money that Gene is going to get that interests him entirely this time," went on Mr. Boston.

"What does Tunney put ahead of money?" queried Freddy rather cynically.

"Pride," was the reply of the veteran. "This will be the first time that Tunney has ever been in a world's heavyweight championship match without Jack Dempsey being the party of the second part.

"At Philadelphia a year ago last September, Dempsey and Tunney drew $1,890,000. Last September in Chicago the same team attracted $2,600,000 into the box office.

"There has never been a million dollar gate in the boxing game without Dempsey being mixed up in it. The old Tiger and Carpentier pulled $1,600,000 while the Dempsey-Sharkey and Dempsey-Firpo bouts each topped the million dollar mark.

"RICKARD, cold blooded in promoting boxing shows, has repeatedly stated that Dempsey was the greatest drawing card in the ring. He even made this assertion last summer before the Sharkey bout when Tunney was heavyweight champion of the world.

"Dempsey struck Tunney the hardest blow of his career when they were miles apart last summer. Gene was at Speculator Lake when Dempsey marched into New York to sign for the Sharkey bout. The old Tiger was greeted like a conquering hero. He received hundreds of columns of newspaper space, while scant mention was made of the champion. It was then that Tunney was named 'The Hermit of Speculator.'

"One day Tunney got so wrought up that he called Rickard on the long distance telephone and told him to remember that he was still champion.

"'Tunney believes he drew the gate at Philadelphia,' Rickard told me at the time. 'In all, I think he sold about 25 tickets to some friends of his in the marines. There never was a card like Dempsey.'

"Rickard continued to talk Dempsey until after the record house at Chicago. He also talked Dempsey through the fall and winter until he knew definitely that the Jack of Hearts was sincere in his statement he had retired.

"TUNNEY now receives his opportunity to prove he is as good a ring attraction as Dempsey. On the 26th he will be facing an opponent who only drew big gates when opposed by Sharkey and Delaney, two of the most cowardly men in the ring. If the gate of the championship match goes to $1,500,000, or even tops a million, the credit will be due Tunney.

"THE champion believes a million dollar gate will be convincing proof that he has a tremendous hold on the public, that Dempsey is not the only heavyweight who can draw the crowd from all parts of the world.

"Rickard says most of the choice $40 tickets have already been sold. It is a practice in New York for the banks and big business houses to purchase ringside seats in blocks of from 20 to 100. Big business uses an important ring bout as a means to invite business associates to New York for a general get-together.

"Of course the kings of finance talk about business, but they probably get more of a kick out of the fight and a flying trip around to the various night clubs and those handy little places where they still have old fashioned brass rails.

"The trouble will come when Rickard tries to sell $40 tickets in the 40th row. Then there will be the little matter of trying to convince Average Mister Fight Fan that he is getting a bargain when offered a $30 seat a couple of hundred yards away from the ring.

"WHEN Tunney is considering a million-dollar gate, he should bear in mind that it only takes 10,000 seats at $10 to net $100,000. It is the high-priced seats which make the million-dollar gates possible."

You can't beat Budweiser — you can't even tie it — for quality, satisfaction or results. That's why the big red can is America's favorite household package today . . . Sold everywhere.

To add flavor and nutriment to bread, cakes, cookies and doughnuts, use Budweiser Malt Syrup in your baking.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH—ST. LOUIS

Budweiser Malt Syrup

HOP FLAVORED OR PLAIN

S. S. PIERCE COMPANY, Distributors, Boston, Mass.
RIVAL FOODS CO., Inc., Cambridge

WATCH FACTORY WILL LAY OFF 300 WORKERS

Between 200 and 400 employes of Waltham Watch Co. who went to work Monday after a month's layoff, were told today they would be laid off at the end of the week for an indefinite period. Many of them quit at once, in an effort to obtain other employment.

It is said the company plans to lay off 100 more employes soon. All are told they will be asked to return when conditions warrant.

The reason given is that the factory is going through a period of readjustment, made necessary by the changed demand for smaller watches by men and women. Women are using much smaller watches than formerly and men are buying more wrist watches.

Mrs. Besant Better

London, July 18 (AP)—The condition of Mrs. AnnieBesant, noted theosophist, who suffered a chill last week, was improving today.

MISSING MUTE IDENTIFIED BY PRESS STORY

After two days of frantic efforts to reveal his identity through sign language, Crosby Bostonian, 13, Chelsea deaf mute, was returned to his parents today.

The boy was held at Cambridge City Home after he was found wandering the streets of North Cambridge, early Monday morning.

Repeated efforts to learn his name were of no avail and the boy's identity was not disclosed until officials read newspaper descriptions of him.

Yesterday Revere Beach was searched, young Bostonian having parted from four companions there after a Sunday swim.

Young Not Candidate

New York, July 18 (AP)—Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, is not and will not be a candidate for governor of New York.

Stung

John Evening American Staff Photo

CHASED BY BEES

Gertrude Crowley of Revere was one of many stung by bees in the vicinity of Walnut ave., the swarm driving scores indoors and keeping them there until Foreman Otis Pray of the sewer department drove the bees away.

3 BATTLESHIPS IN HUB, WITH 1250 MIDDIES

In a booming salute of 13 guns, Rear Admiral G. W. Laws, U. S. N., and 1250 Annapolis midshipmen arrived at Boston Navy Yard in Charlestown today.

The battleships Arkansas, Utah and Florida are carrying the contingent on the yearly practice cruise part of the curriculum of the naval academy.

An exchange of salutes between Rear Admiral Laws and Rear Admiral Phillip Andrews, commandant of the first naval district, preceded the official meeting of the two officers.

The midshipmen will spend five days in Boston.

NANTASKET MAY HAVE TO WAIT TILL 1930 FOR GAS

Failure of the Hull Board of Selectmen to grant a franchise may delay a long-sought supply of gas at Nantasket Beach until 1930, officials announced today. Procurement of pipe lines would have to be assured by the first part of July, the Old Colony Gas Co. informed inquirers, to enable completion of the work before winter.

A contemplated public hearing failed to materialize and no action is expected by the town fathers this year.

MEARS GAINS DAY IN RACE WITH TIME

By JOHN HENRY MEARS

Written Exclusively for the Boston Evening American.

Copyright, 1928, in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, South America and Cuba by the New York American, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part absolutely prohibited. Violation of this copyright will be vigorously prosecuted.

Aboard the S. S. Empress of Russia, July 18—We have crossed the international date line and thus gained the day we lost when we started out on our race with the moon.

It seemed odd to have two Mondays, one following the other. But it was great for Capt. Collyer and myself. There can be no doubt now, barring unforeseen accidents, that we will keep up to our schedule and establish our long-sought record for the quickest time around the world.

Look for us back in New York flying our good plane, The City of New York, by Sunday or Monday.

Our boat is making excellent time. During the past three days we have averaged well over 450 knots. Sunday we covered 455 knots; on the first Monday 459 knots, and on the second Monday 460 knots. We should reach Vancouver Friday.

Sunday on shipboard on the Pacific was an impressive day. Simplicity marked everything and everybody. Simple services were conducted by the ship's officers, and they brought to us a great, heartfelt gratitude for the many narrow escapes we have had in our flight over the European and Asiatic continents.

"I am not a very religious man, I fear, but God seemed very near to me that day. I would like to challenge any non-believers to have been with us at those simple services and remained unimpressed. We could not help being overwhelmed with the realization that there is a Divine Being who rules this earth and its people.

(John Henry Mears and Charles B. D. Collyer are now steaming eastward across the Pacific on their attempt to establish a new world record by girdling the globe in less than 28 days. They will continue to send the story of their attempt exclusively to this newspaper.)

Transfer Veterans

One hundred and two of the mentally affected veterans being treated at the West Roxbury Veterans' Hospital were transferred to the new Veterans' Bureau Hospital at Bedford, Veterans' Bureau officials hope to have the transfer of the 276 patients completed this week.

Due at Navy Yard

Twelve hundred and fifty-seven midshipmen are due at the Charlestown Navy Yard today on the battleships Arkansas, Utah and Florida. They will remain about five days. The visit is part of their yearly practice cruise.

NEW ENGLAND is easy to handle COKE

No dust—no dirt—practically no ash—this cleaner, better fuel is ideal for the home—and so economical too.

Order your supply now of NEW ENGLAND COKE!

Present Price

$12.50 PER TON

Neighborhood Offices

BROOKLINE 1345 Beacon
CHELSEA 309 Broadway
DORCHESTER 691 Washington
JAMAICA PLAIN 672 Center ROXBURY — 11 Roxbury

NEW ENGLAND COKE
250 STUART ST.
Arlington St. and Columbus Ave.
Phone HUBbard 4670-8400

Boston's Busiest Watch Rep'g Dept.
Let Us Repair Your Watch—Unbreakable Crystals while you wait
ALARM CLOCKS 75c
PARLOR CLOCKS 5.00 15.00 25.00

Quick Service in Our While-You-Wait Repairing
All Glasses carefully fitted whether you pay WILSON BROS. $3, $6, $8, $10, $12, $20 or $25. We are Manufacturing Opticians with Seven Registered Optometrists on the premises who are competent to make scientific examination of your eyes when even the most complicated glasses are required. CREDIT as an added SERVICE if desired without extra charge. Artificial Human Eyes Made to Order. We believe we are doing the largest optical business in Boston. Come and see. Optometrists' and Oculists' prescriptions filled.
WILSON BROTHERS' BIG JEWELRY STORE
28-30-32 SCOLLAY SQUARE in a Safe Place to Trade
John W. Wilson ESTABLISHED 1886—OPEN SAT. NIGHTS Chas. S. Wilson

ALL WOOL
SWIMMING SUITS for Girls and Women

$1.95

ONE - PIECE STYLE with FLAP. SAMPLE SUITS and ODD SIZES. Just received from factory. Values $4.00 to $6.00. Now..... Sizes—28 to 46 Chest

ALL-WOOL SUITS FOR YOUNGSTERS
For Kiddies—One-piece style with flap..... 95c
For Boys — One-piece style with flap. Sizes up to 34 chest..... $1.95

OTHER ALL-WOOL SUITS—for the entire family—in a wide variety of styles and color combinations, priced up to $4.95 and $6.00.

JAMES W. BRINE CO.
ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS
SINCE 1870
Summer St.
BRINES 92 CORNER

Starck
Manufacturers—Est. 1851

Pianos
New and Used

This Outfit $2.50 Per Week

Players
We have some very fine Player Pianos slightly used. Some cannot be told from new. All guaranteed. Specially priced at $249
Pay $2 Per Week

The cut above illustrates the beautiful Player-Piano Outfit which can be purchased for only $2.50 per week.

Grand Pianos
If you want a GRAND PIANO or a REPRODUCING ELECTRIC GRAND PIANO—this is your opportunity to obtain one at a great reduction in price and on convenient monthly terms.

Several Very Fine Player Piano Outfits, including Lamp, Bench, Cabinet and Music Rolls. Brand new. Guaranteed. Exceptional value at $395

Electric Reproducing Grand Pianos, several latest models, wonderful tone and action, beautiful finish; greatly reduced. As low as $645

No Money Down
Your old piano or phonograph taken in trade as first payment. If you have no instrument to trade we will arrange small first payment to suit your convenience.

USED UPRIGHTS Just the thing for beginners or Camp $39 and Up

This beautiful Grand Piano included in the sale

Brand New Grand Piano $375 Fully guaranteed.

Please send me your big 1928 catalogue.
Name.....
Address.....

If we cannot sell you, we can tell you where you can buy.

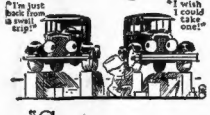
P. A. Starck Piano Co.
Manufacturers of Starck Player Pianos, $900 to $1500
156 Boylston St. Opp. Common STARCK BLDG. BOSTON

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

THIS WEEK SOCONY MEN WILL ASK YOU:

"HAVE YOU CHANGED YOUR MOTOR OIL?"

"good morning, motor"



"SAY, BOSS, I was talking with an old buddy-car of mine yesterday while we were having our oil changed. He was telling me about a trip he just made up through New England. He was wild about the roads—did more than nine hundred miles without getting off hard roads once. He worked up the shore road through New Haven and Providence to Boston. They toured up through the White Mountains, then down the Connecticut River through Windsor and Brattleboro to Greenfield. They hit the Mohawk Trail and drove to North Adams and Williamstown. He said the Madam was crazy about the hotels—food especially. Sounded like a mighty interesting trip—only gone four days. I'm tired of just taxiing about—why don't we try a run like that?"

THE Standard Oil Company of New York has instructed all its representatives to suggest to every customer a change of motor oil this week.

We make this suggestion as a matter of service, knowing that clean, fresh oil will do more than anything else to insure the pleasure of your summer touring and lengthen the life of your car.

Our engineers work in close touch with car manufacturers. This Company has anticipated every improvement in engine design by providing in advance an oil of the precise quality required by the improved motor.

Stop in at a Socony station or garage today. Tell the Socony man to flush out your crankcase with Socony Flushing Oil and refill with fresh Socony Motor Oil—every quart tested 13 times before it reaches your car.

And don't forget the rear end

The differential, and the transmission too, needs attention now and then. It's a safe rule to have the old lubricant cleaned out twice a year and replaced by fresh Socony Transmission Lubricant or Gear Oil.

TOURING THIS SUMMER? Let Socony Touring Service help you plan your trip and advise you of road conditions. The service is free. Just fill in the coupon and send it to Socony Touring Service, Room 58, 26 Broadway, New York City.

"I am going from..... to....."
Name.....
Address.....

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

GOOD GIRL

By ROY L. FOLEY

The Boston Evening American is a paper pledged to preserve peace among the citizens of this nation and promote the peace of the world.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK

SECOND SECTION

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1928

Can a Girl Have Too Much Feminine Appeal?

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Deane, golden haired, dark eyed, has been brought up by the O'Days in Worcester. She is really the daughter of Montague Deane and Julie Abbott, the former the disinherited son of a rich Boston family, but she is unaware of this relationship. She loves the O'Days and works in a lunchroom to help them. There she meets John Blair, a young man who helps her out of a difficulty and invites her to go to the circus. Although she is wary of men generally she recognizes that Blair is a gentleman and accepts.

Nancy loses her job and goes home. Mrs. O'Day tells her she's heard from her mother who's in town with the circus and wants to see the baby she deserted 18 years before. Nancy hears the true story of her parentage. She goes to the circus realizing her mother is a performer in the big show.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 3

In all her eighteen years Nancy had never seen a huge circus like this. Things were swimming about her. Her cheeks were burning. She looked down at her hands. They were shaking. She looked at John Blair's hands. Big calm hands, burned brown with the sun. He clasped them over his knees as he hunched up his six feet of husky frame in the little low backed circus seat in Section "C", reserved.

With a blare of trumpets, the great flaps of the performers' entrance were thrown aside and the big parade that starts all circuses, began.

"My mother, my true mother is down there in that parade" she kept thinking. Her head swam. She and John Blair sat so that their eyes were on a level with the riders' eyes as the parade passed. The performers would smile and bow, their lips scarlet with paint. Painted ladies. Bare back riders in flouncy skirts and tights. Women in hunting costumes, red coated, booted and spurred.

What manner of women are these, Nancy thought. When their paint is washed away, what are they like? How do they look in their street clothes? How do they live?

A woman rider in a scarlet cloak and a gorgeous head dress of flaming plumes went riding by, nodding, smiling, throwing kisses to the applauding spectators.

"Could that be my mother?" Nancy said half aloud. Her tense little fingers dug their way into John Blair's arm.

"Gorgeous, ain't she?" remarked John, "a mediaeval queen."

"Ladi—e—e—e—s and Gentle—m—e—e—n I have the honor of introducing to you Miss Lulie Abbott, aerialist extraordinary, acrobat and tight rope walker, who will dance—not walk. Ladi—e—e—e—s and Gentle—m—e—n——— I repeat that this daring little lady will dance the Charleston across the wire which you see suspended across the ring above me."

"Miss Abbott will dance, Ladi—e—s and Gentle—m—en, not walk, but dance across the wire above me. Miss Abbott will dance the Charleston to the music of a jazz band. Later she will perform other death-defying feats. Ladi—e—s and Gentle—m—e—n, Miss Abbott!"

Nancy gasped. She clutched John Blair's arm, burying her rigid fingers into his muscles.

Julie Abbott paused for a moment, acknowledged the thunder of applause that came down to her, and then ran straight across the track and bounded into the center ring.

The spotlight followed her. She ran around the ring, bowing, courtesying so low that the crisp tulle of her ballet skirt swept the sawdust. She danced around and around. Once she stopped directly in front of Nancy and John Blair and looked straight at them as though she knew them. She gave a little kick to her heels, did a step of the Charleston, and scampered over to the rope adder that led up the wire. Her yellow head was the center of ten thousand eyes as she climbed up and up.

Nancy's eyes were riveted on that head. Hair like her own, it was, kept bright, probably, with golden glints from a beauty parlor.

Julie Abbott reached the platform, did another little dance, and gave the signal for the jazz director to start the wailing, crashing instruments.

She stepped out onto the wire then, ran across and back again in less time than it takes to tell it, just as a preliminary to the exhibition. She got the feel of the thing, her balance, and then sang out:

"Let's go!"

Yes, sir, that's my baby,

"No, sir, I don't mean maybe."

The jazz band started the popular song, everyone's feet began tapping in time with the music. A few of the Charleston steps on the tiny platform first, then onto the wire danced Julie Abbott. The fluttering fans stopped. Small boys with their mouths full of popcorn ceased munching and their jaws drop.

"Yes, sir, that's my ba——"

Nancy closed her eyes. Her senses were reeling.

"Yes, sir, I don't mean maybe."

The blood pounded through her temples.

"That's my baby now!"

"That's my mother," she tried to say. Her lips wouldn't form the words.

Julie Abbott had danced across the wire and now was safe on the other platform, bending low, turning this way and that, kissing the palms of her left hand and then snapping it with two of the fingers of the right hand, as though the kiss was a thing of substance that could be caught by the audience.

The jazz instruments started moaning again. Julie flung one last kiss straight into the section

Please Turn to Page 13, Column 2.

Missing

WANTED TO WORK

Helen Gilmore, 17, of Grant ct., Charlestown, is sought following her disappearance Monday. Her father, Benjamin Gilmore, told police she wanted housework.

AGENT DRAWS REVOLVER ON STRIKE CROWD

New Bedford, July 3 (AP)—When stones were thrown at his car by mill gate pickets, John L. Burton, agent of the Nonquitt mill, drew a revolver to ward off the attack, he explained today.

"There were about 200 in the crowd at the Nashawena last night," Burton said. "I was all alone in my automobile and inclined to protect myself when stones were hurled at me. I have a permit to carry a revolver, and I used it to scare off the mob."

Usual quiet at the mill gates was broken today at the Nonquitt mill, where a worker complained to police that he was stoned as he went toward the plant.

Police reported 488 going into the buildings, compared with 419 yesterday. Most of these are bosses, who go regularly to work. Small picket lines averaging 50 to a mill patrolled most mill gates.

BACK BAY WOMAN TAKES IN HOMELESS WHITE CAT

A white cat, which seemed to be homeless, gave Mrs. Cecilia Stenberg of St. Stephen st., Back Bay, a task for a hot day. Her heart, touched by the cat's plight, Mrs. Sternberg fed it and then, with the cat in her arms, made a canvass of Back Bay homes seeking the pet's domicile. But up to date her quest has been fruitless.

Mrs. Stenberg thinks the cat's owner has "gone to the country" or seashore, forgetting all about the cat.

65 IN MYSTERY POISONING STILL OFF JOB

'GANG' RUSH REAL REEL 'WOW'

Gee, folks, but the "Our Gang" movie contest is going over big!

The Contest Editors are swamped with mail, the telephones are constantly busy, and many personal visits are being received from fond parents entering their clever youngsters in the Boston Evening American's resemblance contest.

It's a natural desire, though, as everybody loves the movies, and particularly the kiddies, who comprise the cast in "Our Gang" comedies.

The child who wins is to receive $1000 as salary during the three months he is acting in real "Our Gang" comedies.

Round-trip expenses to California of both parents and child are included in first prize.

As previously stated, six New England children will be candidates for first prize. Those six will be picked by judges during a personal appearance at Loew's Orpheum. Toward the end of the contest the Boston American will invite all the little girls entered who think they look like "Mary Ann" to appear at the Orpheum.

The judges will see them there and pick out the one they believe most resembles that prim little member of "Our Gang." There will be a "Freckles" night, a "Fatty" night, etc., until one "double" of each of "Our Gang" has been selected.

AMATEUR FILM

These six will form the cast of principals for an "Our Gang" comedy to be made in Boston and shown at the Orpheum. All other children in the contest will take part as "extras" if they desire to. Hal Roach, producer of "Our Gang" comedies, will be the sole judge in the finals.

Accompanying the pictures of four-year-old Ruby Uline, was the following letter from her mother, Mrs. Jeanette Uline, of Michigan ave., Dorchester:

Allow me to thank you for this great opportunity you have given to the mothers and children. I hope you will find, as many of my friends and I have found, the striking likeness of my daughter to "Jean Darling." My Ruby, although but four years of age, is a wonderful imitator. She has no daddy, and that is why she is anxious to find a profession at this tender age.

Mrs. Anna Ebbesen of Sunset st., Roxbury, entering her boy, George, writes:

I think he looks like "Wheezer." He would be the happiest child in the world if he was chosen as "Wheezer's" double and have the wonderful opportunity of going to California and act in the movies. It will be just great for the little boys and girls who win.

WRITES LETTER

In entering her son Paul, Mrs.

Continued on Page 16.

It has been called to the attention of the management of the Boston Evening American that parents of children entered in the "Our Gang" movie contest are being solicited by telephone by unauthorized persons who claim to be employed by this newspaper.

The Boston Evening American does not employ any one to solicit either in person or by telephone, in connection with this contest, and any person claiming to be a representative of this newspaper in such a capacity should be turned over to the police.

"OUR GANG" MOVIE CONTEST ENTRY COUPON

Full name.....

Age.....

Street and number.....

Town and State.....

I think I look like.....

of "Our Gang" and wish to enter the Boston Evening American-Loew's Orpheum Theater contest.

I agree to permit my above-named child to enter the "Our Gang" resemblance contest.

Parent's signature.....

IS HE LIKE GANG'S BIG WHEEZE?

HE SURE DOUBLES ON THE FETCHING SMILE

Robert Bristow Spaulding of Elm st., Walpole, thinks he is a double for "Wheezer" of "Our Gang." What do you think? "Bobbie" has a fine smile—he's happy over entering the great movie contest.

CHEMISTS TRY LUNCH BUT O.K. MILK

Sixty-five workmen were still absent from the Ford plant in Somerville today as a result of the mysterious illness caused by eating box lunches, and six were yet at the Somerville Hospital, while city and State officials continued painstaking tests to determine the source of the poison.

After more than 24 hours of analyzing samples of the food and experimenting with it on cats, guinea pigs and mice, the authorities were without a solution of the riddle.

Of the six victims at the hospital, only one was still far from complete recovery, according to doctors, this being John F. Powell, whose name had, however, been removed from the danger list.

BLAMES CHOCOLATE PIE

Evidence is accummulating that chocolate cream pie caused the poisoning, according to Dr. George H. Bigelow, State commissioner of health, but this evidence is chiefly from investigation outside the laboratory. Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, city health commissioner, tends to the same conclusion, but the statements of both indicate difficulties encountered in proving their beliefs.

"Any suspicion of the milk has been eliminated," said Dr. Bigelow. "But it will be some time before the particular strain of germ that caused the illness will be identified.

"We have found colonies of germs somewhat like the colon typhoid group of bacilli, in which group the organism commonly causing food poisoning falls.

FILLING TESTED

"Milk was eliminated because at one of the plants, where 13 were taken sick, a different milk was consumed than at the Ford plant, and only a few of these 13 drank milk."

"We are still in the process of examination and analysis," said Dr. Mahoney. "I would say that everything points to the filling of the chocolate cream pie, but there is nothing definite to report.

"The filling in question seems to be showing evidence of changes under tests applied and in this altered condition is being fed to guinea pigs by the director of the laboratory."

Man Held in Attack

Charged with an attack on Anna Ahern, 25, of Somerville, Arthur E. Foote, 28, married, of Bickerstaff st., Back Bay, today was held in $1000 for hearing, July 23, in Cambridge court.

Your bed wants a new "ensemble" and at these prices you can afford it!

from "underwear" to "topcoat" — all the clothes for your bed always at Jordan's bed-der very specially priced

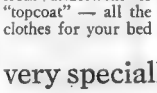
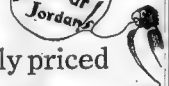
mattress covers

1.50

of unbleached cotton . . . seams bound with tape for added strength.





sheets

63x99 1.35 (torn sizes) 81x99 1.65

of bleached cotton, medium weight; contains no filling.

pillow cases 25c to match the sheets, size 45x36

blankets

3.95 pair

wool-and-cotton plaid . . . white with rose, blue, gray, tan, gold, green or lavender.

5.00 each of camel's hair-and-wool, natural color, two-bar border.

puffs 7.50

light weight, wool-filled . . . solid-colored muslin back and borders . . . floral centers of mull . . . rose, blue, gold or lavender . . . colorful, summery.

bed spreads 2.25

crinkled ecru with stripes of rose, blue, green or gold . . . 81x108.

Also, printed rayon-and-cotton spreads with ruching and flounce effects. Rose, blue, tangerine, yellow.

72x108, 7.00 90x108, 8.00

FOURTH FLOOR—MAIN STORE

Jordan Marsh Company

MORE SHOES FOR BETTER FEET summer orders frequent changes of footwear; doctors urge it; your feet plead for it; your appearance demands it . . . you can't look any better than you feel . . .

but your budget limits

you want good shoes, and they cost more . . . so you feel you can't afford extras. At just this point . . .

in steps Jordan's with a midsummer sale of women's better shoes

5.85 7.85

were 10.00 to 14.50

all sizes in the lot—but not in each style

one-strap, instep-tie, cut-out-lace styles, patent leathers, colored kids, satins

Spanish, Cuban, Louis and high heels some finest imported French shoes in the lot.

women's footwear shops

fourth floor---main store

Jordan Marsh Company

NO woman can afford to miss these magazine pages. Here you will find household information of great value, a wonderful article by an eminent physician, important advice on matters of etiquette by a woman who knows and fashion hints fresh from Paris.

Magazine Page

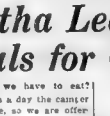
The Deepest Mine in the World

THE deepest mine in the world is No. 3 shaft of the Tamark mine in Michigan, which reaches a vertical depth of 5200 feet. There are several other shafts in the district which exceed 4000 feet.

Martha Lee Tells of Meals for Campers

WHAT shall we have to eat? Three times a day the camper has this to decide, so we are offering you some means suitable for use in a main any permanent camp.

The meals in clude a quart of milk daily for each camper to be used in various ways—as a beverage with cocoa or chocolate, as plain milk in cream of vegetable soup chowders creamed fish dishes, in custard or tapioca creams, in cottage cheese etc.



Martha Lee

The menus are good to eat, healthful and satisfying and give you a variety of dishes even with limited camp equipment.

Menu No. 1
Cereal
Sliced Bananas or Canned Sliced Peaches
Fried Liver and Bacon or Creamed Salt Fish
Flapjacks with Maple Syrup or Johnny Cake
Cocoa made with milk.

Menu No. 2
Bran Flakes
Stewed Dried Apricots or Stewed Prunes with Cottage Pud
Scrambled Eggs with Ham or Soft cooked Eggs
Wild Blueberry Biscuit or Whole Wheat Drop Biscuit
Coffee or Milk.

Menu No. 3
Cereal
Wild Berries or Apple Sauce
Broiled Bacon or Codfish Balls or Fried Corn Fish
Corn Bread
Coffee or Cocoa.

Menu No. 4
Corn Meal Mush
Sliced Oranges
Hash with Poached Egg
Toasted Brown Bread or Graham Toast
Cocoa or Coffee

Menu No. 5
Fried Indian Mush with Maple Syrup or Plums
Corned Beef Hash
Cocoa or Coffee

Menu No. 6
Oatmeal Porridge
Stewed Dried Figs
Omelet with Chopped Meat
Bran Muffins
Cocoa or Coffee

Menu No. 7
Boiled Brown Rice
Oranges
French Toast with Maple Syrup or Cream Toast with Hard-cooked Eggs
Coffee or Cocoa

Menu No. 8
Cereal
Stewed Raisins with Lemon
Hashed Brown Potatoes
Potato Cakes
Whole Wheat Toast
Cocoa or Coffee

Here are two or three recipes particularly adapted for camp cookery:

Spicy Spaghetti—¼ pound spaghetti, uncooked, 4 tbsps. butter or bacon fat; 1 green pepper, finely shredded; 1 onion, finely chopped, 4 tbsps. flour; ½ tsp. salt; 2½ c. canned tomatoes, strained, ¼ pound cheese, grated, or ¼ pound cheese and ¼ pound cooked beef or veal, ground.

Cook spaghetti (unbroken) in large amount of boiling, salted water, until tender. (Water should cover spaghetti. Place ends of uncooked spaghetti in water, and as they soften, curve them around and down into water. Melt butter in top of double boiler, over direct flame.

Add green pepper and onions, and cook until onions are yellow. Add flour and salt and stir until smooth. Add tomatoes, place over water, and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cheese (and meat, if used). Cook until blended. Combine with cooked spaghetti and serve.

Beef Loaf—2 thin 2 inch slices salt pork, diced; 2 pounds round beef, ground; 5-8 tapioca (10 tbsps.); ½ small onion, finely chopped; 2 c. canned tomatoes, strained; 2½ tsps salt; ¼ tsp. pepper

Try out salt pork until golden brown. Add pork and drippings to other ingredients and mix thoroughly. Bake in bread pan in moderate oven (350 F.) one hour. Serve hot or cold. Garnish with parsley or watercress.

Two-Of-A-Kind Scallop—2 small onions, finely chopped; 2 tbsps. butter; 2 c. canned tomatoes, strained; 6 tbsps. tapioca, 1 tsp. salt; 1 tsp. sugar; ¼ tsp paprika; 1 c. grated cheese; 24 ripe or stuffed olives, coarsely chopped; crumbs, buttered.

Brown onion in butter. Add tomato, tapioca, salt, sugar and paprika. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Place layer of tapioca mixture in greased baking dish, cover with cheese, add layer of olives; then remainder of tapioca mixture. Cover with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 45 to 50 minutes, or until crumbs brown.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE.

Relics of 5,000 Years Ago Are Discovered in Mesopotamia

Among the finds of the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania and British museums are these rare treasures taken from the ancient royal tombs in the Chaldees of Mesopotamia. The rein-ring (left) is of silver. The bull's head (at right) is of wood, covered by a thin sheet of gold, with hair, eyes and horn tips of lapis lazuli. Below is the Mosaic standard of one of the kings of Ur.

The end of a sounding box of a harp, decorated with inlay and a bullock's head of gold and lapis lazuli. This, with the other relics shown here, is now in the British museum.

A statue of Queen Shub Ab, with her interesting headdress. The tombs from which these objects were taken are about 5000 years old. The relics later will be divided by the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the British Museum.

Which Girl Shall a Man Choose? Asks Miss Beatrice Fairfax

By Beatrice Fairfax,
An Authority on the Problems of Love and Marriage.

YOUNG men are just as earnest and conscientious in their efforts to solve problems of love and romance as any girl can be. If you doubt that, I wish you could glance over the countless letters I receive from men, asking how to find and win the girl or how to hold love when it is won.

Richard's difficulty lies in deciding which of two girls is the girl for him. He insists that he is in love with both.

"Dear Miss Fairfax" writes Michael, "I am twenty-three years of age. I am in love with two girls.

"One girl—I shall call her Alice—is of my own religion, the other—Betty—belongs to another denomination. I have no bad habits. I do not mingle with bad company. I have no leaning toward the gaming table.

"Both girls know all they wish to know about my character. They are both of the quiet type, especially Betty. She is twenty-three or twenty-four, Alice is twenty-one.

"I have known Betty all my life, but only slightly. I enjoyed a wonderful evening with her at a friend's wedding. Her brother invited me to dance with her. I was the only one who did dance with her. That was about three months ago and I have not seen her since.

"I met Alice several years ago at church. I asked to call, but she told me she was going about with another young man—a friend of mine. He married another girl seven months ago. When I learned that, I wrote Alice asking to see her. She replied that her mother did not approve of her going out, and that if I had a message for her it would be best to write.

"I replied that her letter was not encouraging. She did not answer my reply. Since then I have called on her many times. Sometimes she seems to care for me, other times she is indifferent.

"I cannot understand her. She seems dissatisfied with everything. She is unhappy because her parents will not give up their business location and move to a residential section of the city. She seems to have everything her own way. Her parents are very good to me.

"Sometimes I wonder whether she will ever get over this indifference, or whether it is just her way. Perhaps she is having a lot of fun with me.

"I often wonder whether I should drop both girls. One is of a different religion, the other thinks she can play with a fellow's feelings.

"Summing up the whole snarl, it is my contention that Betty will make a better wife because she is more affectionate and discreet. I have enjoyed writing this letter because it has helped me to understand my problem better and I know you will throw still more light on the subject."

You hit upon a very deep truth, Michael, in the last sentence of your letter. It does help in solving a problem to write it out. That clears your own thought and analyzes the difficulty, often suggesting the solution. I am convinced that every girl or young man who writes this column is helped just by writing out the difficulty, regardless of the reply.

You are fond of both Alice and Betty, my friend. You admire and like both and are attracted to each. But you are not as yet in love with either. For being in love implies that one girl means more to a man than any other person in the world. Hence you cannot be in love with two at the same time.

This fact simplifies the situation. Why do you continue to pay devoted attention to a girl who has from the first acted indifferent, cold and capricious so far as you are concerned? In your heart you are convinced she would not be a good wife for you. Go to see her occasionally if you wish. But why should you waste serious attention, or thought on one who "plays with" your feelings?

Can you compromise when it comes to a difference in religions? Would you be willing, if you married, to attend your own church and permit your wife to attend hers? Would you permit children of the union to be brought up in their mother's church, not yours? If so, why do you not encourage the friendship of Betty, whom you like and admire and had such a wonderful evening with at the wedding?

Why do you not call her up soon and ask her on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon, or some evening? If she consents, prove yourself a real friend to her. Invite her to a movie or the theater some evening. In time you will learn her views regarding marriage where there is difference in religions.

To sum up, of the two girls, cultivate the one your common sense tells you will make the better wife and whether liking will develop into love and lead to happy romance. All happiness to you!

Copyright, 1928 International Features Service, Inc.

Marquis Joins Movies

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

Copyright, 1928, Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—Hereafter you will please address the Marquis de la Coudray de la Falaise as plain Henry Falaise. Henry has become Americanized and all because he wants to go into the movies. He has just signed a contract with Harry D. Edwards who will make a series of pictures with the good-looking flank as the star.

I always said, and if you read me you will remember, that if Henry ever wanted to go into the movies he would be a riot. He has charm poise and is better-looking than most of the male stars in Hollywood. Well, Hank has decided it is time he capitalizes on these assets and his first picture will be "Yours to Command," which will be made at the Metropolitan Studios.

Here's good luck to Henry Falaise our new movie star! I forgot to say Jane Powell the rose first husband. Toat is some cast, eh, boy?

* * *

IT WAS a lucky day for Edna Murphy when she walked into Warners and had herself signed up for a part in Fanny Brice's picture. Lucky, because after Jack Warner, Darryl Zanuck, and the rest of the bosses over there had a look at Edna in the "Pilum," they were so sold on her they signed her on a contract for three more pictures.

Edna's husband, Mervyn Leroy, directing over at First National, can't argue with her now that Warners or First National is making the better pictures. This contract means Edna is going to have a little exploitation. They are trying to buy a New York play for her, which I suppose means she will be Vitaphone.

* * *

MARCEL DE SANO, once called the "Hungarian Tragedy," who used to be such a social figure in our Hollywood, is now making pictures for U'FA. Moreover, Marcel has married. It is interesting to know his bride is Arlette Marchal, the French actress who was brought to this country by Goldwyn. Maybe Marcel writes he is speaking the truth.

* * *

I AM SURE after you see Jetta Goudal in "The Dangerous Lover," you will agree there are few vamps in the country to compare with her. Jetta has signed a contract to play in "La Paiva," Lupe Velez's next picture. My old friend, George Bancroft, is in the same cast.

I hate to brag about "Hoy Cardboard Lover," because they say it is not such good luck to talk about pictures in advance, but it is one of the best pictures Marion Davies has ever made. I know you will like it. It is a pleasant comedy, packed with plenty of laughs and Marion at her best.

* * *

DAY by day in every way Doug. Ilas Fairbanks is adding more and more people to his cast. It seems rather slow, the way he signs them up, one by one; but he is not the sort who would sign contracts without being perfectly sure the tools were satisfactory.

When Appetites are Hearty
Just Heat and Serve
PRUDENCE
Ready to Brown
CORNED BEEF HASH
at all chain grocers and good grocers generally

Dr. Reed Tells Latest Methods of Treatment for Rickets

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOUR child may have been born with "soft bones." This is the essential symptom of the condition known as rickets, which, however, has other evidences of defective nutrition. It is one of the so-called deficiency diseases—by which is meant some deficiency in diet.

During the past ten years, since the foregoing fact has been recognized, there have been great advances in the treatment of rickets. These advances partly have been founded on knowledge of the disease itself and partly on hospital experiments. Treatment is still in a condition of flux. A few years ago everybody was stressing the importance of a diet rich in the anti-rachitic vitamin D.

Last year artificial sunlight treatment was hailed as the ideal. Today there is reason to think that the administration in the food of artificially prepared vitamin will become the treatment of the future. There is no doubt that rickets can be cured by many means. Anti-rachitic vitamin diet, codliver oil, sunlight, artificial light—all will cure, and will take a different length of time, according to the method, the age and the patient's idiosyncrasy. But the time factor is an important one. It is thoroughly bad for any young child to have a long period of rickets. This is especially true in view of the fact that, during this period, the child is more liable to infection. These may cause damage or even death.

Everybody agrees that rickets is due to an absence in the body of the vitamin called "D." "D" can be produced by ultra-violet light, either directly in the body or in the food. There is a substance called ergost, from ergot, the "mildew" which affects rye, sometimes called "blasted rye." This substance is quite widely distributed. Amole extract preparations have demonstrated that when it is irradiated—exposed to ultra-violet light—it becomes full of vitamin "D," and therefore strongly anti-rachitic.

Aldin has tried treating a series of cases with this substance, of which, in fluid form, he gives three to ten drops twice daily. None of the children were upset at all by the medicine. After a short period of treatment the dull, motionless, Buddha-like sufferer from active rickets would become active, lively and talkative. X-rays proved that the deposit of time in the bones was going on rapidly. X-rays, however, cannot detect the very earliest signs of rickets in the head and ribs, so that most of the children treated had the disease in a fairly advanced stage.

It was found the codliver oil and antirachitic diet effected a cure in about 15 weeks. Exposure to a carbon artificial sun-lamp in addition did not appreciably shorten the time of cure. If the child had proper diet, codliver oil and ultraviolet light from a tungsten-carbon arc, the time of cure was shortened to about nine weeks. But the combination of mercury vapor lamp, codliver oil, diet and the dose of irradiated ergot produced recovery in about five weeks.

Now five weeks is not a very serious time for a child to be ill, but 15 weeks takes a large slice out of its little babyhood. If the report of Aldin is confirmed, mothers will welcome this new factor that shortens an inevitable convalescence.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Outdoor Aids to Loveliness

By MARIA JERITZA
Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day

FRESH air is more important to your beauty than food, drink or sleep. It is easy to overeat and quite possible to drink and sleep too much. But the more fresh oxygen you pump into your lungs through deep breathing, the healthier, happier and lovelier you are bound to be.

The lungs are natural ventilators of the body. When they are filled with stale air, there is a feeling of physical depression, with jangling nerves. Shallow breathers and those who prefer indoors to out, usually have dull, lifeless eyes, sallow skin and a general let down feeling best expressed in three words: "What's the use?"

The moment you step outdoors your lungs, starved for their natural food, will take in a deep, delicious draught of fresh air.

A brisk 30-minute walk early in the morning or at the close of day, should bring a lovely, fresh rosy tint to your cheeks if your skin pores are not too clogged with make-up to keep them fresh air. Walk part if not all the way and back again. If that is impossible, make it a point to take a stroll before you go to bed. Give yourself a chance to note the beauty of the moon and stars.

The French have a delightful custom of eating outdoors in summertime. Fortunately, many American restaurants are following this fashion and providing outdoor dining rooms. It is well worth while to look up such a restaurant.

Both morning chocolate and after dinner coffee taste twice as good when served on a screened-in porch or grassy terrace.

If only city dwellers would make full use of flat roof tops! A porch swing, a reed chair or two with a variety of bright cushions and possibly a strip of protective awning overhead will transform a roof into a charming outdoor living room and possibly bedroom, also, for hot nights.

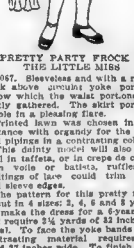
Too much cannot be said in favor of swimming, tennis, canoeing, hiking and other outdoor sports and games. They give suppleness to the figure, crispness and sheen to the hair, clearness to the eyes, nature's roses to lips and cheeks.

The disadvantages resulting from outdoor life are, of course, freckles, tan, sunburn and the weather beaten complexion. To banish or, better still, prevent these blemishes, apply plenty of oil to your skin. Rub in cold cream or cocoanut oil or olive oil freely, before and after exposure.

If the damage is already done, you might try a starch bath. Add to a bathtub of hot water half a pound of laundry powder starch. This bath should prove soothing and refreshing to your skin. A bathing suit cut with the same neckline as your evening gowns will prevent a high water mark, of tan or sunburn.

If your skin is lined after a day's motoring, cleanse it with cold cream, then remove the excess and spread on another thin film in order to during the night, protecting your pillow with a towel.

Equal parts of peroxide and rose water should fade freckles if dabbed on from time to time. But what are these tiny defects compared with the bloom of healthful beauty gained from a summer outdoors.



A PRETTY PARTY FROCK FOR THE LITTLE MISS

6067. Sleeveless and with a round neck above smooth yoke portions below which the waist portions are softly gathered. The skirt portions ripple in a pleasing flare.

Printed linen would be chosen in this instance with organdy for the yoke and pipings in a contrasting color.

This dainty model will also look well in taffeta, or in crepe de chine.

In voile or batiste, ruffles or plaitings of lace could trim skirt and sleeve edges.

The pattern for this pretty frock is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. To make the dress for a 6-year size will require 2¼ yards of 32 inch material. To face the yoke bands with contrasting material requires ¼ yard 27 inches wide. To finish with narrow bias binding, as illustrated requires 4¼ yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE SPRING AND SUMMER 1928 BOOK OF FASHIONS.

Address all orders to Boston American Pattern Dept., Box 130, Times Plaza Station, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions

Dazed by Daisies—Stylists are choosing this simple field flower to adorn the very smartest linen and organdy frocks. In their natural colorings, with centers that look convincingly real, they come singly or in bunches, as well as in their normal and also in exaggerated size.

Seeking Security—Many of the latest washable, capeskin gloves have a narrow wrist-banding, which carries a buckle to securely fasten the glove. This severely tailored type of glove looks very smart with sports costumes, especially when gloves, purse, belt and shoes match.

Fashion Fancies Fabric Footwear for evening wear, hence slippers of crepe de chine, gros grain and satin, trimmed in tiny jeweled strappings, are one of the latest footnotes of the mode. To accompany these are small evening bags, whose jewel mountings and trimmings exactly match the slippers' decoration. Slipper and purse sets are also exploited for formal afternoon wear, often combining the materials and trimmings used on frock and coat.

The Answer to a thousand questions

Women have at their instant command a willing helper in the problems of running the home. This helper comes to her every evening with fresh energy, new ideas, and answers a thousand questions that face her before the day is over.

Hardly a day passes that she cannot use this vast marketplace—Classified Ads—to advantage. It embraces millions of dollars of merchandise, services beyond numbering, suggestions and ideas, opportunities to save money.

It covers a hundred activities, brings scores of stores and shops to your very door, and asks nothing in return but your time in reading its columns.

Classified Ads are community property. They serve every walk of life, every day, every week, every year. Read and use them for profit.

Classified ADS
Boston Evening American
Telephone or Mail Your Ads in Early

TWO comic pages every day. Full of the funniest of "funnies." A great treat for the kiddies by the cleverest artists.

Fiction Page

This Day in Our History

IN contrast with the three-day service maintained by the pony mail from coast to coast, we find that on July 18th, 1861, the first mail coach reached Kansas from San Francisco after a trip of seventeen days.

Money Love

By BEATRICE BURTON
Author of "Sally's Shoulders" — "The Hollywood Girl"

Which Power Is the Greater, Money or Love?

CHAPTER XIV

IF there was one thing in the world that Lily Lexington knew absolutely nothing about, that one thing was housework.

She never had swept a room, washed a pan full of dishes, or boiled a kettle of water in her life. She never had so much as aired her own bed or hung up her nightgown in the clothes closet.

She got up in the morning to a clean house, to a well-cooked breakfast served to her on a bedside tray, to a household of which she was the petted and coddled darling.

And so she laughed and shook her head at Pat's question.

"Could I do all the work in that house? Why, Pat, I couldn't do the work in any house! I may as well be honest. If anyone gave me a basket of socks to be darned or a pan of dough to be made into loaves well, I just wouldn't know how to set to work, that's all."

Then her face grew sober. "But I could learn, I suppose," she said, slowly. "I'm awfully clever at picking up things. . . . Why did you ask me if I'd live in a house like that?"

Pat neatly turned the car at the end of the street and started down the other side, "Because you said you'd marry me today," he told her. "And I wanted to give you some idea of what marrying me would mean. It would mean the hardest kind of work, day in and day out, every day in the year. You saw that building next to our house?"

Lily nodded. It was a little two-story building with a grocery store occupying the first floor.

A barrel of potatoes and a wooden rack covered with baskets of parsnips stood on the sidewalk before it. The windows were filled with parsley and carrots and onions and turnips. Beyond them were shelves stacked with bright-colored cans and pasteboard boxes, and in the doorway stood a rosy-cheeked little woman with steel-rimmed spectacles pushed up on her forehead, a plaid shawl around her shoulders, and the whitest of starched white aprons standing out from her little waist.

"That's my mother, Lily," Pat said, quietly.

The little woman was not looking at them. She had an egg in her hand and she was studying the shell as if it were some rare discovery.

Pat laughed. "She's looking to see if the eggs are fresh or not" he said. "She always says she can tell a fresh egg by the look of the shell. I don't know whether she can or not, but she's a fine business woman."

"Business woman?" asked Lily She did not look at all like Lily's notion of a business woman—that quaint little woman with her gray hair drawn back in an old-fashioned knot and a tiny plaid shawl pinned around her shoulders.

"Yeah," answered Pat, with his husky drawl." That's our grocery store and she helps dad to run it, besides taking care of the house and bringing up three children. That is, she did bring up three of us—my two sisters and myself. We're all grown now of course."

The car had passed the grocery and the small white house, with its neat brown shutters and its geraniums. But Lily turned her lovely head and looked back at the two buildings.

"Why, she must be marvelous. Fat to keep up a house and help your father, too!" she cried, her eyes meeting his in a look of admiring wonder. "My mother keeps two maids and a laundress and a cleaning woman all the time!"

"Besides you," added Pat with an odd smile. "I've promised to whitewash the basement for her this week. She explained that she wanted the house all cleaned up because her daughter was getting married the tenth of June."

Lily Was Silent; His Words Seemed to Build Up a Wall

Lily was silent. Somehow his words seemed to build up a wall between them once more. . . . He was the man who drove her father's car and took orders from her mother. The man who was to help clean the house for her wedding—for her marriage to Staley Drummond.

"Pat, let's not talk about my mother or your mother—or anyone but you and me," she said with a kind of little wailing cry. "Let's go and get married and think of everybody else afterward. . . . Pat, do you like me, or don't you? I've run after you so much, myself, that sometimes it seems to me that all the love is on my side."

His big tanned hand, gripping here so that she cried out with the sudden pain of it, answered that question for her.

"Well, then, why don't we get married—now—today?"

Pat's fingers found the engagement ring on her hand and turned it. "That's why, for one reason. Because you're engaged to Drummond, he said. "Another reason is that I couldn't afford to have a wife like you, Lily. You'd go downtown and buy a hat and a manicure, and my salary for a week would be shot to—"

Lily looked at her manicured fingers, their nails like bits of almond-shaped coral, their skin like white velvet. Lovely soft hands that were almost as useless as the hands of a doll. . . . Hands that never had held anything heavier than a golf stick, or done any work more tiring than shuffling a deck of cards.

"You'd be the most unhappy girl in the world—married to me," Pat was saying now. "You wouldn't understand my way of living and my kind of folks any more than I can understand your kind. You wouldn't like my friends—"

"I'd love them!" Lily broke in, passionately. "I'd love them because they were your friends!"

They were going down another little side street, and all at once Pat turned the car into a driveway and stopped before a red brick building with big white letters painted across its front: "JETTERSON AUTO LAUNDRY."

"This," said Pat, waving his hand toward the building and grinning, "is the business of Jetterson Auto Company, and the place where yours truly is putting together the neatest little pleasure thing that was ever perfected." He honked the horn, and after a minute the doors of the garage slid back.

The car rolled into the gasoline-scented dimness, and Pat jumped out and vanished into an office at the right of the doorway.

In a minute or two he appeared and with him was a short blonde man with a nice good-natured face, who smiled broadly at Lily. He did not take off his checked cap nor remove an unlighted cigar from his mouth when he shook hands with her.

"Miss Lexington, I want you to meet the best friend I have in the world—Jetterson," said Pat, looking from one to the other of them.

"I certainly am pleased to meet you at last," Roy Jetterson said, pumping Lily's hand up and down with great vigor. "I certainly am!—I'd like you to meet the wife, too. She's a great little woman, Miss Lexington. You and Sadye would get along fine, wouldn't they Pat, eh?"

Pat said nothing.

He Winked at Lily and Lily Winked Back at Him

Silence fell upon the little group.

"I'm expectin' Sadye to drop in here most any minute for Roy Jetterson went on, after an uncomfortable pause. "She's going down town to buy herself a spring suit, so she tells me this morning at breakfast. 'I'll be down at about 9 for some lack,' she says. Cool, eh?"

He winked at Lily, and Lily winked back at him. She liked him in spite of his loud way of talking. He seemed to be smart and pleasant and sincere.

But a second later, when Mrs. Roy Jetterson walked into the garage on the highest heels Lily had ever seen, she disliked her thoroughly and completely.

She knew she was "Sadye" the minute she came in, for her husband called her by her name and threw an arm around her plump figure as she snuggled up against the wide-checked striped silk shirt he wore.

Sadye Jetterson proved to have been 30 years old when Lily first met her and she was dressed like a flapper of 17. Her skirt, barely reached her plump knees and she wore the thinnest of pink silken stockings. Her black satin dress was too small for her and showed too plainly a figure that was all curves.

On the front of her black satin turban was a large pearl buckle, and pearl drops were screwed into her ears. She had a pretty pink, plump face and a high soprano voice. She greeted everybody when she talked, leaned to the engine, squeezed the tiny halves of the broken spring together with his hand and signalled for the engine to be started again, crouched by the hot motor, he held the spring in place with his hand throughout the encasement of nearly an hour, thus keeping the bolts in full engine power on the job when it was most needed. For this display of stark courage and endurance, Mr. Fabris was awarded the Navy Cross.

Another of the chasers working next to Capt. Nelson's unit was the 120, temporarily commanded by Reserve Ensign Henry R. Dann. As she was bobbing along in her screening position, four British destroyers dashed by her to make a torpedo attack on the Austrian ships and docks in the harbor. The gallant Britishers swept in under the Austrian guns, fired their torpedoes with deadly aim and then turned to run for safety.

As they came out, Ensign Dann saw two floating German mines in their path. The English ships were speeding out at thirty knots and there was so close to the floating death that there was no time for Dann to get a warning signal. With less than a minute for both thought and action, Dann, like a bull against the approaching destroyers, forcing them sharply to avoid hitting him. As he swung into position, a shell from his bow threw each mine exploded one of the mines. History doesn't record the remarks of the British destroyer officers when they had to turn their ships half into the 120, before they realized what Dann had done for them. Their profuse thanks came over the day and night radio, couched in warmer phrases than were used in the cold and formal bulletin given to the public. Dann he was awarded the Navy Cross, but quite deservedly so.

The sightly modified British and English fleet was drawing up in splendid dimness for the attack on Pola, although the only actual accomplishment had been the sinking of the two abandoned ships. Austedo's three chasers had proceeded Weymouth as well as her way toward Brindisi, screening from further submarine attack by several of the British destroyers. The remaining chasers had been sent to their destinations at Otranto before they left the scene of battle, at which they had been the first to arrive. The battle of Durazzo was over.

We will take up the narrative of the 129, temporarily commanded by Reserve Ensign Henry R. Dann. As she was bobbing along in her screening position, four British destroyers dashed by her to make a torpedo attack on the Austrian ships and docks in the harbor. The gallant Britishers swept in under the Austrian guns, fired their torpedoes with deadly aim and then turned to run for safety.

As they came out, Ensign Dann saw two floating German mines in their path. The English ships were speeding out at thirty knots and there was so close to the floating death that there was no time for Dann to get a warning signal. With less than a minute for both thought and action, Dann, like a bull against the approaching destroyers, forcing them sharply to avoid hitting him. As he swung into position, a shell from his bow threw each mine exploded one of the mines. History doesn't record the remarks of the British destroyer officers when they had to turn their ships half into the 120, before they realized what Dann had done for them. Their profuse thanks came over the day and night radio, couched in warmer phrases than were used in the cold and formal bulletin given to the public. Dann he was awarded the Navy Cross, but quite deservedly so.

The sightly modified British and English fleet was drawing up in splendid dimness for the attack on Pola, although the only actual accomplishment had been the sinking of the two abandoned ships. Austedo's three chasers had proceeded Weymouth as well as her way toward Brindisi, screening from further submarine attack by several of the British destroyers. The remaining chasers had been sent to their destinations at Otranto before they left the scene of battle, at which they had been the first to arrive. The battle of Durazzo was over.

We will take up the narrative of the 129, temporarily commanded by Reserve Ensign Henry R. Dann. As she was bobbing along in her screening position, four British destroyers dashed by her to make a torpedo attack on the Austrian ships and docks in the harbor. The gallant Britishers swept in under the Austrian guns, fired their torpedoes with deadly aim and then turned to run for safety.

"That's My Mother," Cried Nancy as Julie Plunged From the Wire

Presently Julie lost her balance and fell.

The nurse told her she must leave now.

asked Pat, furiously, the minute they were out in the sunshine once more.

"Don't you know that a man ought never to discuss a woman with another man . . . The idea of talking about me to that Jetterson man—and his wild-looking wife!"

"Is she wild-looking?" Pat asked mildly, taking a brier pipe from his pocket and putting it into his mouth. With his left hand he began to fill the bowl of it as he talked. "She's a mighty nice girl—Sadye Jetterson, whether she's wild-looking or not

She and Roy are my best friends, and ten minutes ago you said you'd love my friends because they were my friends. That's why I wanted you to see them—and you have seen them. But you don't even like them."

Lily shook her beautiful head. "I never could love Sadye Jetterson and she never could be any friend of mine unless she wore longer skirts and stopped wearing pink stockings on the street. I think she's terrible."

Pat struck a match and lit his pipe —all this with his left hand, as he drove the car through the traffic with his right

"Do other make so much difference?" he asked, and Lily nodded.

"I can tell whether a woman is a lady or not, very often, just by the things she wears, and the way she wears them," she answered seriously.

"This day," she said a half hour later, when they stopped the car in a grassy lane that ran along beside an apple orchard, "was made just for us, Pat. The end of things—as they seldom-are must have decided to give us one perfect day to ourselves, and this is what it took at that bank of clouds—it's like silver."

But Pat had no eyes for the silver-white bank of clouds that lay along the eastern horizon.

He was looking at Lily and he was laughing to himself. "After all this talk about Sadye Jetterson's pink stockings, I notice you're wearing them yourself," he said with a chuckle.

It was true. Lily's stockings had been bought to match the sea-shell pink sports dress she wore. And they were just the color of Sadye Jetterson's chiffon ones!

She flushed.

"It's all right when they match your dress," she said, "And she had on a black dress. . . . What makes you be so horrid to me this morning, Pat?"

"You're not so tender and sweet to me," Pat replied. "You accuse me of talking about you to the Jettersons. You bawl me out for it. But it was Elizabeth Ertz who told them about you. I never mentioned you to them."

"And who is Elizabeth Ertz?" Lily wanted to know.

Copyright, 1926, Central Press Association

Tomorrow—Lily hears some bad news.

"Good Girl"; Nancy Discovers Why She Likes Spangles of Circus

Continued From Page 11.

Nancy fell on her knees and kissed her

What happened after that was ever after a blank to Nancy. Her next recollection was of a nervous dressing room. She was surrounded by women in tights and gay costumes. Some of them were half clothed and one was holding her forehead with a cold sponge.

"That's all right, now, dearie," the woman was saying, "that's a girlie!"

She patted Nancy's hand. "You must have fainted."

With a sickening flash Nancy remembered everything.

"Where's Julie Abbott? Where's my mother?" she asked

"Your mother! What do you mean your mother? She's in the hospital"

Nancy, weak and dazed, jumped up and ran from the tent.

At the hospital door she was questioned by Miss Jenkins, a nurse she had met after Sherry died. She stumbled off the back porch, breaking two rubs and a wrist. At that time Miss Jenkins impressed Betty as the least human being she had ever seen.

"What is it you want? Whom do you wish to see?" she asked crisply, tightening her mouth into a thin line, as Nancy, disheveled and frantic, stood out of breath before her.

"That circus lady. The one who fell. The tight rope walker. Is she here. Is she dead?"

"Yes, she's here. They brought her in 20 minutes ago. I believe she's dying."

"Please let me see her. She's my mother. I must see her before she dies. Is she conscious?"

Miss Jenkins' light eyes widened, seemed to go a shade lighter, if that were possible. She didn't answer at once, but glanced at Nancy's feet, taking in every do all of her clothing. The high-heeled patent leather shoes, now covered with dust the strap loose on one. The "nude" stockings. Nancy's extravagance, her short skirt, her tight belt, such as the flappers of her age affected.

"Your mother? Why, aren't you the O'Day girl who lives on Lawrence st. Isn't your name Nancy O'Day? The woman they brought in here is a circus woman in a billet costume. Her name is Abbott. I think her back is broken."

"Oh, Miss Jenkins, please, she's my mother."

But Miss Jenkins was obdurate and insisted on telephoning to Mrs. O'Day.

Half an hour later both Muddy O'Day and Nancy were kneeling beside the bed of Julie Abbott.

Julie opened her eyes. She looked at Mrs. O'Day, the faintest gleam of recognition crossing her face. She tried to smile. Then she turned her eyes to Nancy.

"Julie, Julie. This is your baby girl. This is your daughter, Julie. This is Nancy. Can't you see that she is the image of you, Julie? See her hair. It's like your own hair, Julie. Just like your own hair used to be."

"Sorry, you'll have to leave now" Miss Jenkins snapped out the words as though she were closing the public library and shooing out small boys

Nancy and Mrs. O'Day rose from their knees and looked down on the face of Julie Abbott. There was no sign of breathing. Nancy patted the hand on the counterpane. There were a thousand little pin-lines in it. The nails were long and pointed, and very, very pink.

Later, in the O'Day sitting room, on the old green couch with the sagging springs, Mrs. O'Day told Nancy all about the love of Monty Deane, Jr., for Julie Abbott.

"It was just 13 years ago this June," Mrs. O'Day was saying, "that was the year Danny was hurt in the mill. What with the expenses, I went to work over at the hospital that's very same hospital where Julie Abbott lays dyin' now, she was an English girl, your mother, a splash of ground with circuses. But in them days there was no such exercises as there are now. And being a circus performer wasn't looked upon as it is nowadays. The circus women were considered a pretty rough lot, and decent people was wary of 'em.

"That's why Monty Deane was disinherited when he brought your mother home to Brookline. They disowned him, and told him never to set foot inside the door while a bad that woman with him. You see he was engaged to marry a society girl and two weeks before the wedding he came home with Julie Abbott from some cheap show.

"As I remember the way Julie told it there were two of them, arrived when Mr. and Mrs. Deane were in Europe, and your parents were settled in the big house before any one heard of the wedding. They was waitin' three months for Monty's parents to come home to bestow the blessin.'

"Instead of a blessin,' mind you, Montgomery Deane went into a spasm of rage. They say the way he went on was awful. He said he'd annul the marriage but Monty was 21 So your pa ships ordered the two of them from his home, puttin' the curse on him.

"An' Monty, said he'd take his bride and go and to the devil with pa says he. An' the two of them went, it's half their times behind.

"Monty Deane never entered his pa's house again. Your mother all he disappeared or died within the year after they was married "An' then your mother went back to the circus. She hadn't no money. She could go things on the trapeze. She come from one of them circus families. She was back with the circus only a few weeks when she knew she would have to stop, because she was going to have a baby.

"She took a job here in Worcester, in the hospital, doing kitchen work. It was there that I met her. She came to board in this house until she couldn't work in the hospital kitchen no longer. Her baby was born here. You was the baby.

* * *

Nancy listened to the story without moving a muscle. Not once did she take her eyes from Mrs. O'Day's face. She was calm, now, thinking, thinking

Mrs. O'Day broke the silence.

"Nancy, Colleen, that's the story. That's your mother over there in the hospital dying A strange story. Eighteen years ago she was a beauty, a laughing, giddy, circus lady. You're the image of her now. Then she was just the age that you are now.

"And a dying now, Nancy. Your real mother is dyin'. What can you say to me now—I've tried to be a mother to you, Colleen, even if I told you the tale about you comin' from the orphan asylum in Boston.

Mrs. O'Day pressed her workworn hands into her eyes, the tears rolling down onto her, funny old dress

Nancy tried to pray that she would always be worthy of Maggie O'Day. Her lips would not move. Her prayers were broken

"Now I know where I get my love for a woman." Nancy said

"Now I know why I love glittering things and spangles, and circus and music."

Copyright 1926, King Features Synd., Inc.

Tomorrow—Nancy asks Blair to get her a job in Boston

Periscope! Yankees Save British Boats

By JOHN KNOX

CHAPTER 19.

WHILE Lieut. Comdr. P. H. Bastedo and his three submarine chasers had been playing around with their Austrian submarine friends, the rest of the chasers had been busy with affairs of their own. The pugnacious Jerry Nelson was out of luck, so far as getting into a real battle with any submarines was concerned, but he didn't lack for activity. Acting as screen for the Italian battleships and the British cruisers in turn, he ran his little boats several hundred yards inshore from the bombarding ships and had the fun of playing tag with shells from the Austrian land batteries.

Just as the action began, the trigger lanyard spring on the center gun of the S. C. 178, of Jerry Nelson's unit, broke and the boat slowed down as the engine stopped. John Fabris, first class machinists mate, leaped to the engine, squeezed the two halves of the broken spring together with his hand and signalled for the engine to be started again. Crouched by the hot motor, he held the spring in place with his hand throughout the encasement of nearly an hour, thus keeping the boat's full engine power on the job when it was most needed. For this display of stark courage and endurance, Mr. Fabris was awarded the Navy Cross.

Another of the chasers working next to Capt. Nelson's unit was the 120, temporarily commanded by Reserve Ensign Henry R. Dann. As she was bobbing along in her screening position, four British destroyers dashed by her to make a torpedo attack on the Austrian ships and docks in the harbor. The gallant Britishers swept in under the Austrian guns, fired their torpedoes with deadly aim and then turned to run for safety.

As they came out, Ensign Dann saw two floating German mines in their path. The English ships were speeding out at thirty knots and there was so close to the floating death that there was no time for Dann to get a warning signal. With less than a minute for both thought and action, Dann, like a bull against the approaching destroyers, forcing them sharply to avoid hitting him. As he swung into position, a shell from his bow threw each mine exploded one of the mines. History doesn't record the remarks of the British destroyer officers when they had to turn their ships half into the 120, before they realized what Dann had done for them. Their profuse thanks came over the day and night radio, couched in warmer phrases than were used in the cold and formal bulletin given to the public. Dann he was awarded the Navy Cross, but quite deservedly so.

The sightly modified British and English fleet was drawing up in splendid dimness for the attack on Pola, although the only actual accomplishment had been the sinking of the two abandoned ships. Austedo's three chasers had proceeded Weymouth as well as her way toward Brindisi, screening from further submarine attack by several of the British destroyers. The remaining chasers had been sent to their destinations at Otranto before they left the scene of battle, at which they had been the first to arrive. The battle of Durazzo was over.

We will take up the narrative of the 129, temporarily commanded by Reserve Ensign Henry R. Dann. As she was bobbing along in her screening position, four British destroyers dashed by her to make a torpedo attack on the Austrian ships and docks in the harbor. The gallant Britishers swept in under the Austrian guns, fired their torpedoes with deadly aim and then turned to run for safety.

there was some trouble in their line, so I decided to stand down at full speed in case of other submarines appearing in the vicinity. After the bombardment had ceased and I saw that everything had cleared away I gave orders to 215 and 128 to turn and head towards the 129, still lying to the northward with her engines disabled.

"I might say here that we had not expected to see any submarines and the only chance for excitement we seemed to have would be taking the Austrian hospital ship in at Brindisi. We knew this ship would get out when the bombardment started.

"Before the attack commenced the hospital ship steamed slowly out of Durazzo harbor and headed towards the northwest, hugging the coast. Our engineers knew exactly what to do and the officers who were to take charge of the boarding party had a clear idea of what their duties were. We had gunners, engineers and deck crews all detailed to go aboard the hospital ship.

"Before we started on Saturday about every two or three minutes one member of the crew would report that the hospital ship standing out sea,' and after we finished our attack they kept on reporting it as they were keen to go on board and take her over "All I could say was—'To Hell with the hospital ship! Let's get the submarines.'

"Now the 215 and the 128 stood back to the 129, which had repaired her engines. The three chasers started over toward the hospital ship at full speed. I could see two British destroyers somewhat to the north ward and I set the signal for them to "Stop instantly!" Naturally I wanted to get there before the destroyers did.

"As we closed the destroyers signalled—"If you want to take over the hospital ship now we will stop and take off our armed guard."

"They had taken the hospital ship while we were busy with the submarine and we hadn't noticed it!

"Shortly after dark we had orders from the Italian commander-in-chief at Brindisi to release the hospital ship so we left her and started in for the harbor entrance. I have never seen such a conglomeration of lights and shipping in my life. There was a great mixup of destroyers and battleships and light cruisers, to say nothing of the little sea chasers About the time we were nearly in the mouth of the channel we began to hear shots behind me. I would back and see all their lights that looked like dots started and then I would look back again and see certain of only two or three of them sleighing and flight cruisers, to save me because we had to get through the nets and sometimes I feared we'd have the Italian cruisers and battleships run down—but upon looking back again, there would be the lights of three dots. Gradually we finally tied up at our moorings at about five that night and needless to say everyone slept soundly after the days experiences

Copyright, 1926, by John F. Dille Co.

TOMORROW: Read how the crews of two whole patrol squadrons volunteered to go into the jaws of death and how they came back with what they went after.

Grecian relieves HAY FEVER instantly
The instant you apply Grecian you get relief! Washes away every symptom and by magic! No narcotics, no drugs. Instant relief guaranteed or money back. All drug stores.

Relief in one minute
Corns
In one minute—just that quick—Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads end corn pain. They remove the cause—friction and pressure of shoes. By this method a corn heals itself. No need to use harsh liquids or caustic plasters which expose the toes to acid burn. Zino-pads won't harm the tenderest skin. If applied at the first sign of irritation caused by tight shoes, they positively prevent corns. Zino-pads are thin, protective, healing—pain-ended absolutely safe and sure. Physicians recommend them. At all druggists and dept. stores. Buy a box today—35c
Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—pain is gone!

Advertisement

Big Change In Face Powder

A good face powder today must do more than merely remove shine—it should stay on longer, prevent the pores from getting larger, spread smoothly, and leave a peachy look on the complexion. A new French Process Powder called MELLO-GLO does these things. MELLO-GLO is truly wonderful. You will simply love it.

AUCTION BRIDGE

by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

The World's Greatest Authority

HAND NO. 403

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In this [illegible] who exi[illegible] bidding a[illegible]

Yesterday's Hand as Played by Mr Whitehead

THE PLAY

Trick	South	West	North	East	Won by N E S W
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13

Total Tricks Won

(Credit to the card led to each trick)

	Declarer	Opponents
Point Score	....	....
Honor Score	....	....

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids

Final Bid ..... Played by .....

HAND NO. 405

S-♠AQ873 ♡956 ◇J53 ♣K2
W-♠J12 ♡Q107 ◇10764 ♣985
N-♠65 ♡AJ52 ◇AKQ ♣AJ73
E-♠K109 ♡K43 ◇982 ♣Q1064

The Correct Bidding and Play

THE PLAY

Copyright 1928, Auction Bridge Magazine Inc.

Trick	South	West	North	East	Won by N E S W
1	C2	CA	C8	(C4)	/
2	S7	S5	(S2)	S8	/
3	C6	(C9)	C7	3	/
4	D3	D4	D2	(J)	/
5	S6	S3	(S8)	S10	/
6	(S9)	S4	N3	SK	/
7	(C5)	D6	H7	2	/
8	(S7)	D7	H8	DK	/
9	(DQ)	D10	DA	H3	/
10	D5	C3	(DJ)	H4	/
11	H6	H9	(HA)	H5	/
12	H2	(HK)	C7)	C10	/
13	H9	HQ	C3	(C6)	/

Total Tricks Won 4 4

	Declarer	Opponents
Point Score	30	....
Honor Score	40	....

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids
Pass	Pass	1C	Pass
2S	Pass	4NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Final Bid ..4 N. T. .. Played by North.

THE BIDDING

Because of [illegible] South doubles, North [illegible] and makes a [illegible] one Club rather than [illegible] Induce further bidding [illegible] out with one Spade, North [illegible]

THE PLAY

[illegible] East opens [illegible] Spades [illegible] Declarer [illegible] Spades [illegible] East [illegible] Declarer [illegible] Spades to go game and [illegible] East [illegible] Spades [illegible] Declarer [illegible] Spades

TOMMY TUCKER

Tommy Likes Riding Horses

By Herman Thomas

AHA!! ZERE GOES ZEE BIG BOSS!! NOW IS THE TIME TO GET RED 'N PAY A VISIT TO ZE CIRCLE J RANCH HOUSE!!
AND JUST WHO CAN THIS SINISTER SHADOW BE? WHO IS PLANNING A VISIT TO THE CIRCLE J WHILE THE OWNER IS OFF FOR PAINTED POST TO MEET HIS BROTHER FROM THE EAST?
CAN OUR HERO'S PEARL BE INVOLVED?
WHILE DAD HAS GONE TO GET UNCLE JIMMY, LET'S YOU'N ME TAKE A COUPLE OF PONIES 'N RIDE OUT TO MEET THEM!!
GOSH, ME RIDE ON A REAL HOSS?
OBOY! THIS IS BETTER'N RIDING IN A AUTO 'CEPT SOME SMART GUY ORTA INVENT UPHOLSTERED SADDLES FER HOSSES

BRINGING UP FATHER

Others in the Same Boat

By George McManus

MAGGIE- REMEMBER- THIS IS THE NIGHT YOU PROMISED TO LET ME GO OUT?
I DO- BUT I WANT YOU TO REMEMBER THIS- IF YOU ARE NOT HOME BY ONE O'CLOCK YOU WILL NOT GET IN-
IT'S JUST TWO O'CLOCK- I'LL FIX HIM- HE'LL NOT GET IN- I'M SICK AND TIRED OF HIM COMING IN AT ALL HOURS AND AWAKENING THE PEOPLE IN THESE OTHER APARTMENTS-
BY GOLLY- IT'S TWO O'CLOCK- I MUST HURRY HOME-
WE'RE ALL LOCKED OUT-
GOT A KEY?
7-18

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

Now He Has Company

By Verd

WELL, KIDS, HERE WE ARE IN THE GREAT OPEN SPACES! AND WE'RE GOING FISHING - SO THE FIRST THING TO DO IS TO DIG BAIT.
SURE!
OH, GEE! I DON'T LIKE WORMS.
AW, WORMS IS ALL RIGHT.
OH BILL-E-E! YOU CUT THAT WORM IN TWO!
YEAH- I KNOW.
HE LOOKED AWFUL LONESOME ALL BY' HIMSELF!
7-18 VERD

ABIE THE AGENT

Scientific Help

By Hershfield

OY, WILL THERE BE SWELL SPEECHES BY THE BANQUET TONIGHT
OY, FOR $10 WHAT A PHOOY SEAT I GOT WAY IN THE BACK
SPEAKERS
J. VAN BLUEY
N. COSGRAVE JAY
SIR. N. TILLBERT
THIS PROGRAM IS BEING BROADCAST BY STATION WNURKX
"AND THE NEXT SPEAKER, N. COSGRAVE JAY"
HERSHFIELD

HEALTHY CHILDREN

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

NOT so many years ago, if a child didn't rattle off his multiplication tables as quickly as his schoolmates, or went to the foot of the spelling class too many times, he was held up as an object of ridicule by the teacher, and set upon a high stool with a huge paper contraption perched on his head, the paper cone being termed a "Dunce Cap." He was dumb; he was a dunce or maybe he was accused of being just plain lazy. No more does the teacher fall so bitterly to show intelligence. Now, if a child seems slow to grasp the daily lessons, an immediate investigation is begun, to find out if he is perfectly HEALTHY, or whether there is something about his physical being which requires attention.

From the time your baby is born, he should be assured of clean, wholesome food. Perhaps you want to give him what is the very best for him, but don't know exactly what IS best.

Plenty of fresh milk, eggs in moderation, fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, especially bran, are good health builders. If you have thought it necessary to give your child a cathartic every week, try giving him a few figs each day, and include uncooked bran in a meal at least once a day. This suggestion is intended for little folk over five years. Younger than that, fresh fruit juices will, as a rule, take the place of harmful pills. Orange juice, prune juice or fig syrups are good.

If your child is old enough to play out of doors, let him do so at every possible opportunity. Sunshine is as necessary to growing children as to growing plants.

Cleanliness of body is necessary to health. Teach your child, when he is able to do so, to wash himself, so that he may keep his hands free from dirt and germs, washing them after playing or upon returning from school, a street car trip, or from public places generally.

His teeth should be scrubbed after each meal and at bedtime.

Sleep should be in periods of at least ten hours for a growing child, and should begin at the same time each night, under coverings which are warm but not heavy. Keep the bedtime hour a happy one. If you must correct a child, do so when he does the thing which needs changing or correcting. Don't make bedtime a time to re-hash all the little problems of the day. Sleep comes easily after a quiet happy hour, but the child who is excited or made to feel angry or ashamed just before he retires, cannot hope for anything more than a fitful jerky sleep, accompanied by nightmares. Keep the going-to-sleep hour peaceful and happy, and start the next day in the same manner. It will go a long way toward promoting good health and happiness.

Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

WHYTE-FOX
Makes Soft, Velvety Skin—and frees from Pimples, Sun Burns, Rash, etc.—just like Lucky Tiger gives normal scalps and luxuriant hair to millions of men. BARBERS AND DRUGGISTS

THE DAILY DIZZY

By HOBAN

WISE SAYINGS

It is not the disease but neglect of the remedy which generally destroys life.—From the Latin.

Those who bestow too much application on trifling things, become generally incapable of great ones.—La Rochefoucauld.

Genius speaks only to genius.—Stanislaus.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOME men are born liars, some acquire the art of lying, and some have lying thrust upon them by suspicious wives, weak wives or curious wives.

* * *

A married man's manners in company are usually more charming and polished than a bachelor's—probably because they get so little wear and tear around the home.

* * *

A woman can usually spot a big, black lie; it's all the little pink and blue pastel ones a man tells that confuse her.

* * *

Many a hard-working girl's smart business clothes are bought with blood money—the blood she loses by substituting a chocolate soda for a roast beef sandwich at lunch.

* * *

Marriage is the "commencement exercises" at which we take out diplomas in the school of love; thereafter, like the college graduate, we begin to learn how little we know about it all.

* * *

A man makes a virtue of a necessity, when he prides himself on being perfectly faithful to a wife who is so watchful that he never gets a chance to be otherwise.

* * *

Lament of a Popular Novelist

I'm tired of writing erotic
And trivial nonsense like this;
For love is to me a narcotic,
And marriage a dubious bliss.
I'm tired of youth and its phrases
As a subject of endless dissent;
Of sex and its mazes and crazes—
But, darling, I must pay the rent!
I'm tired of flappers and petting;
I'm sick of original sin—
But why all this fussing and fretting
As long as the dollars roll in?
There are times when I'd like to defy it
And write what I know is the truth;
But heavens, the public won't buy it!
They only want books about YOUTH!
I am weary of each variation
On the subject of love! But, my sweet,
Should I write THIS—or starvation!
And Lord knows a writer must EAT!

Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

The Uncle: "What are you going to be when you grow up, Jack?"

His Small Nephew: "I'm going to be a philanthropist—those people always seem to have a lot of money."

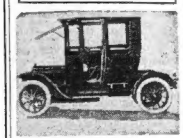
Harris Miller,
31 Creston st., Roxbury.

COOK-COOS

© 1928 Los Angeles Examiner

by Ted Cook

CONTINUED STORY
"London Society"



"Taxi," cried Sir Harry. There was no response.

SYNOPSIS—Having picked up a lady's glove at the Dragoon's Ball, Sir Harry Doncaster reads an announcement in the Southdown Reporter and Devil's Gate Express requesting that gent who found lady's glove at Dragoon's Ball be at the Zoological Gardens at half after two on Sunday next.

WALKING briskly, Sir Harry Doncaster could not but muse over the events of the last week. Carefully folded in his kerchief pocket was the lady's glove he had carelessly picked up at the Dragoon's Ball, and folded with it was the item hastily torn from the Southdown Reporter and Devil's Gate Express which said—

WILL GENT who picked up lady's glove at Dragoon's Ball kindly be at Zoological Gardens in London at half after two on Sunday next?

(Continued Tomorrow)

* * *

A COMPOSER composed through day and night,
And kept it up all the week long—
And then the poor benighted dolt
Sold the result for a song!
—Lars Owen.

* * *

Chicago will spend $3,000,000 this year scrubbing buildings blackened by smoke.

Why don't they make those bad boys use smokeless powder?

* * *

Chicago manufactures more soap than any city in the world.

Several people there own white poodle dogs.

* * *

It's easy to tell a white poodle dog from a Scottish terrier in Chicago. The poodle's hair is curly.

* * *

But a safety deposit box in Chicago solves the problem of the fellow who wants to always have a clean collar.

* * *

And professional baseball is the best training in the world—for sitting on park benches.

* * *

WARNING.

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Tom Wooton has received a letter from a phonograph company offering to let him make some test records of his yodeling and whistling. It has been Tom's ambition to make some records.

* * *

Embarrassing Moments

Emb. Mom. Cha'rm'n,
Emb. Mem. Committee—

I am a young man, born and raised in the old South. While riding on a street car I noticed some ladies standing up. In order to show my Southern breeding, I arose, tipped my hat, and offered one my seat. Imagine my embarrassment when she blatantly asked me if I was from Arkansas.

—Oscar Hatfield.

* * *

Hot stuff, 1903—

"GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN."

(Out of the moth balls by Chuck Riesner.)

* * *

Moronia, the office flapper, thinks the Bureau of Indian Affairs is a piece of early American furniture.

* * *

"When Uncle Sam adopted prohibition," protests the Rev. Mr. Wiley, "he exchanged an intoxicating young wench for a poisonous old jade."

* * *

Adam Scoffiaw's Journal

Laye wide-eyed this night and list whilst my hen partridge, saturate in beer, mumble "Abracadabra"—an hundred times untill I fear I will go daft, as this be the only words the wretch hath uttered in three dayes.

* * *

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
Can't I get a word in edgeways?

* * *

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

MATRIMONY would be a wonderful thing if we could only put it on a friendly basis.

Ideal Dumbbells

The radio bug who tried to brush the static out of his loud-speaker with a whisk broom.

You're Right

The Siamese twins are inseparable companions.

Wonders of Nature

Some girls' lips are chapped and others are calloused.

Efficiency Experts

The fellow who set the hula dancer's skirt on fire because he wanted a red hot mama.

Vital Statistics

A man very seldom kisses a girl by surprise. He only thinks he does.

Null and Void

The censors aren't worrying about what we wear at the beach. They're worrying about what we don't wear.

Connubial Casualties

It's a shame to have your husband lying sick in the hospital, but it's also a comfort to know where he is.

Pitiful Cases

The flag-pole sitter who had St. Vitus' dance.

Our Own Vaudeville

New Tenant—Has this apartment got stationary washtubs?

Landlord—Don't be silly. Who ever heard of washing stationery?

Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.

ABOUT EDUCATION

By LUCY LOWELL

"EDUCATION," wrote Ruskin, "does not mean teaching people what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do not behave.

"It is not teaching the youth the shapes of letters and the tricks of numbers and then leaving them to turn their arithmetic to roguery and their literature to lust. It means, on the contrary, training them into the perfect exercise and kingly continence of their bodies and souls.

"It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by reproach and by praise, but above all—by example."

This is what education consists of really then; not stuffing a child's head with a lot of odds and ends of technical knowledge, but gently, patiently leading him in the way which will develop his fibre, physical and spiritual.

You have heard teachers of languages say often enough that the great value of Latin to the young student is not only that it is a foundation for all languages, but it is a mental exercise which teaches him how to think.

And, from an academic angle, this is the first essential of all education —that it leads the student, of whatever age or degree of mental attainment, to think.

And one who thinks for himself, provided he is a normal human being, will rise along the road of progress; he is bound to develop spiritually as he broadens mentally.

Education, as Ruskin suggests, is not knowledge applied externally to any individual by another; it is the development of subjective potentialities by an individual, usually through the mental guidance of another.

Copyright, 1928, King Features Syn., Inc.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston Evening American.

Sergeant: Define the word, Halt.

Recruit: When the order "Halt" is given you bring the foot that is on the ground to the side of the one that is in the air and remain motionless. ROBERT BERNER, 153 Harvard st., Dorchester.

Cuticura SOAP and OINTMENT
World Famous Skin and Hair Beautifiers

Spread of Chains Excites More Talk Than Politics

By B. C. FORBES

New York, July 18—Throughout this country there is more interest in the spread of chain stores than in the presidential election.

That, at least, is the impression created by the deluge of letters pouring in. The reason doubtless is that chain stores are now multiplying at an unprecedented rate.

B. C. Forbes

A profession that these multiple stores not only spell the doom of the established local merchant, but help to bad thing for the community.

Is this true?

* * *

A recent column showed how meager are the earnings of the great majority of small merchants and suggested that those obliged to give up would probably find themselves better rather than worse off financially.

From a responsible merchant comes this analysis:

"I agree that a large majority of small business men are better off as salaried men in a large chain store. That is one side of the question; but the other side in my view is most important, although difficult to see without careful observation, and I wish to point it out.

* * *

"All that the small independent business men earn remains in the community as actual wealth. Here and there one will make a fortune, and this fortune also remains in the community and is invested in real estate improvements or financing of business. It has always been so. The prosperity of a country or town or section has been possible only after success of the local business men.

"But whenever a country or local place has produced wealth for outsiders, then it has not prospered but has declined. You will recall many places in the world made famous by the wealth produced in some kind of product for the benefit of outsiders who, when the production fell down, closed their offices and the famous place was forgotten. Right now this thing is happening in Nova Scotia and elsewhere.

* * *

"Now, I see that whenever anybody can say, a southern state pays 10 cents for a street car fare or a nickel for a phone call, or a grocery bill or dinner check, the famous money will pay the rent and the wages but all surplus will go north, never to return.

"And since these concerns drawing the money north are becoming every day more numerous, I can see the time when every kind of merchandise will be included and all the population converted into wage earners dependent on a board of directors located in New York or some other large center in the north—and they are naturally inclined to spend their profits in the north.

"I believe this will bring about a very unsound economic condition whose results nobody can foretell."

* * *

Well, do you agree or disagree with him?

The subject deserves serious thought by every citizen interested in the kind of nation we will leave to our children.

* * *

Without presuming to pronounce any verdict, may I suggest several phases which should be taken into fair consideration as contributory of the subject?

Who are the owners of our great chain store systems, our nationally-known mail order houses, our principal five and ten cent stores and the utility corporations referred to?

Take the last first. Our largest utility companies have tens of thousands of stockholders scattered all over the country. One company located not in New York but in Los Angeles, Southern Edison, has over 100,000 stockholders. All but a small percentage of them are California folk, so that only a very small part of the profits leave the territory where the service is rendered. Nearly every utility corporation has made earnest efforts to enroll as stockholders those using its service. And this movement has been crowned with extraordinary success.

The reason is, it not entirely wrong to assume that the nickels or dimes or monthly bills paid to utility companies don't pour into the pockets of a few rich New Yorkers or Chicagoans?

* * *

Woolworth has over 9000 stockholders. Other chains as well as many order houses also have their stocks traded in on the stock exchanges and have very long lists of stockholders representing every part of the land and all classes.

* * *

Again, do not these chain stores nearly always improve local property values? And do they not pay freight to the railway serving the local community, do business with the local postoffice, give more or less employment to local folk, pay taxes and buy at least some locally-produced goods? Certainly, is it not fair to assume that the local people buy from chain stores for the reason that they can thereby save money? Isn't that rather important?

* * *

This whole economic evolution should be considered broadly rather than narrowly.

Copyright, 1923, by B. C. Forbes

FLIER PRAISES AIRPORT PACT

Captain Robert F. Raymond, Jr., active chairman of the Aviation Memorial committee, which is about to erect a memorial control tower at the Boston Airport, in honor of the 225 Boston and New England men who gave their lives in aviation during the World War, today praised the action of Governor Fuller and Mayor Nichols in signing the airport agreement.

Captain Raymond, speaking for the committee, said "through the generous action of the Governor and Mayor we are now assured of an airport befitting a progressive city of Boston's standing.

"The Aviation Memorial committee goes on record as being heartily in accord with the Mayor's declaration to make Boston one of the finest airport centers in America. We are with both the mayor and governor in everything they undertake to help advance Boston as a leading aviation center.

"It is particularly gratifying to know that the new Aviation Memorial Tower will be permanent, true to the martyrs and pioneers of aviation is now assured a fitting setting at an airport that is under such responsible guidance and support soon become an outstanding example of modern airport administration.

"Any memorial to those intrepid men and women who did so much, many of them with their lives' blood, to further aviation, is worthy of a place in an airport such as no other city can approach."

After issuing the statement Capt. Raymond flew from the Boston Airport to Marblehead, where he addressed a large gathering of Rotarians at the Corinthian Yacht Club on the subject of modern airport development.

9000 EMPLOYED ON WARREN BROS. WORK

Havana advises state that an average of 9000 men of whom approximately 75 per cent are Cubans are now employed in the construction of the Central Highway throughout the island. Work is being pressed forward with great activity principally in Matanzas, the Warren Brothers tractors Co. and in Camagüey and Oriente by Warren Brothers.

Heavy rainfalls have paralyzed work in the interior to some extent, but both the Cuban contractors and Warren Brothers expect to speed up the highway construction greatly within the next few weeks as weather conditions allow embankment and surfacing work on a large scale.

BOSTON SECURITIES EXCHANGE DEALINGS

Boston & Ely (new), 100 shares at 22c.

Charlestown Gas & Electric Co., 46 at $146.

Con. Copper, 20 at 10¼.

Interest Radio, 25 at 11½.

Kirsva Smelting, 500 at 5½c.

Majestic 8th Asst. Fd., 200 at 9c.

Stafford Mills, 9 at 45.

"Our Gang" Movie Contest Rules for Children

Children in New England from three to twelve years may compete.

Each contestant may enter only one photograph or snapshot; or one in costume.

Each child may compete for only one character.

All contestants must have consent of parents.

All children may enter contest children of employes of this newspaper, of Loew's Orpheum Theater or relatives of same.

Write PLAINLY on the back of each picture, full name, age, address of child and name of "Our Gang" player he looks like.

No picture will be returned, they will be held in Boston Evening American office for two weeks after contest ends when they may be claimed by owners.

Address pictures to "Our Gang" Contest Editor, Boston Evening American, No. 8 Winthrop square, Boston Mass.

'GANG' CONTEST A 'WOW'

Continued from Page 11.

Catherine F. Boucher of Fairview st., Dorchester, wrote:

"I have been asked by my friends why we have not sent my son Paul's picture for the contest so I have decided to enter him as a double act. He looks like not only looks like 'Wheezer' but acts like him.

Mrs. May Baldwin Furtak, of Watertown, wrote:

Enclosed you will find small photograph of my daughter Violet. She thinks she looks like 'Mary' of 'Our Gang.' I think she does, too, and hope she will get a chance. She is fond of dancing and would like to be a movie actress.

Children recently entered include:

Anita Sampson, 41 Gay st., Quincy; Irene A. Fenerty, 37 Sterling st.; Miss Dorothy Bickerstaff, 46 Woodville st., Hyde Park; Robert Shea, 12 Ellis st., Jamaica Plain; Billy Leary, 163 7th st., South Boston; Frank Regan, 20 Bowdoin st.; Ruby Mesinkova, 10 Woodbury st., Roxbury; Ruth Mesinkova, 10 Woodbury st.; Marjorie Davis Baker, 118 Marion st., East Boston; Miss Ruth Cohen, 450 School st., Lowell; Shirley McDermott, 30 Mellen st., Dorchester; Miss Ruth Blanchard, 642 Main st., South Weymouth; Rowe Plummer, 30 Everett st., Allston; Barbara Greenbaum, 301 Pearl st., Malden; Miss Catherine Hall, 18 Bacon st., Natick; Miss Mildred Hall, 18 Bacon st., Natick; Miss Madden, John Nutter, 113 Boon st., Somerville; Miss Eleanor Bissett, 10 Preston st., Cambridge; Thelma Muller, 1 Ramsdell ave., Somerville; Evelyn Dean, 456 Medford st., Charlestown.

Later entries are:

Jeannett Meltzer, 49 Ashmont ave., Neponset; Miss Dorothy Bickerstaff, 46 Woodville st., Hyde Park; Robert Shea, 12 Ellis st., Roxbury; Barbara Hatch, 1188 Massachusetts ave., Arlington; Sally Lee, 1 Bay Horse st., East Boston; Daniel Fortuna, 52 Lexington st., Marblehead; Miss Dorothy Fortuna, 52 Williams st., Marlboro; Kathryn Andrews, 33 East Bedford st., Billy Mc-Swain, 379 Broadway, Somerville; Bruno Ellsworth, 32 Broadway, Somerville; Mildred Chipman, Highland st., Easton; Edward Dooley, 37 Slocum st., Dorchester; Ida Harris, 20 East Springfield st.; Gertrude Longchamps, 585 Massachusetts ave., Josephine Hoyt, 54 Hall st., Jamaica Plain; Edward Dooley, 37 Slocum st., Dorchester; Theresa Leary, 664 Tenth st., South Boston; Dorothy Ingram, 27 Selden st., Dorchester.

A few hundred dollars wisely invested in Boston real estate now, will be worth hundreds in a few years. Use the wonderful property values offered today in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

NEW YORK STOCKS

	July 18	July 17
	Bid	Ask	High	Low	Latest	Close
Amerada	30	30¼	30¼	29¾	29¾	30
Am Ag Chem.	19½	19½	19¾	19	19	19½
Am. Bosch M.	33¾	32	33¾	32	33¾	32
Am Br'k Bro.	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾	11¾
Am Can	83¾	83¾	83¾	82¾	83¾	83¾
Am Chicle	75	75	75	75	75	75
Am Express	153	154	154	153	154	154
Am Fr'ns	33¾	33¾	33¾	33¾	33¾	33¾
Am Ice	32¾	33¼	33¾	32¾	33¾	32¾
Am Int Corp	32¾	33	33¼	32¾	33¼	33
Am Republics	62¾	62¾	62¾	61¾	62¾	61¾
Am Smelting	137¾	137¾	137¾	136¾	137¾	136¾
Am Steel Fdrs.	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾
Am Sugar	68	67	68	67	68	68
Am Sumatra	60	60	60	60	60	60
Am Tel & Tel.	124¾	124¾	124¾	124¾	124¾	124¾
Am Tobacco	156½	156½	156½	—	—	—
Am Woolen pf.	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾
Am Wat W & E	55	55	55	55	55	55
Anaconda	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
Atch Top & Sta Fe	41¾	41¾	41¾	41	41¾	41
Atch T & S F 1sts	85¾	86	86	85¾	86	85¾
Atl Refining	145	145	145	145	145	145
Balt & Ohio	50¾	50¾	50¾	50¼	50¾	50¾
Barnsdall Cl A	20¾	20¾	20¾	20¾	—	—
Beth Steel	103	103	103	103	103	103
Beth Steel pf.	53¾	53¾	53¾	53	53¾	53
Briggs Mfg.	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾
Brunswick Col	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾
Bur Add M.	175	167	175	161	175	161
Butte Copper	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾
Butte Superior	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾
Butterick	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾	40¾
Byers	94	92	94	92	94	92
Calumet	22	21¾	22	21¾	22	21¾
Can Pacific	202	202	202	200	202	200
Case Thresh	123¾	123¾	123¾	123¾	123¾	123¾
Chi Gt W pf.	26¾	26¾	26¾	26¾	26¾	26¾
Chi M & St P.	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾
Chi R I & P pf.	44¾	44¾	44¾	44¾	44¾	44¾
Chi & N W.	79¾	79¾	79¾	78¾	79¾	78¾
Chile Copper	44¾	44	44¾	44	44¾	44
Chino	70¾	70¾	70¾	70¾	70¾	70¾
City Stores B.	80	80	80	80	80	80
Coca Cola	164¾	164¾	164¾	164¾	164¾	164¾
Colorado & An.	57	56¾	57	55¾	57	55¾
Colo Fuel & I	53¾	53¾	53¾	52¾	53¾	52¾
Colum Graph	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
Comm'l Cr & S.	107	107	107	107	107	107
Com Power	73	72¾	73	72¾	73	72¾
Com Solvent.	146¾	146¾	146¾	146¾	147¾	146¾
Consol Cigar	114	114	114	114	114	114
Corn Prod	70¾	70	70¾	69¾	70¾	69¾
Cuba Cane pf	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾
Cuba Cane Sug	18¾	18¾	18¾	18¾	18¾	18¾
Cudahy Pack	68¾	68¼	68¾	68¾	—	—
Curtiss Aero	101	100¾	101	100¾	—	—
Davison Chem	52¾	51¾	52¾	51¾	52¾	51¾
Del & Hudson.	154	154	154	154	154	154
Del Edison	109¼	109¼	109¼	201	—	—
Drug Inc	92¼	92¼	92¾	92¼	92¾	92¼
Dupont d N.	374	374	374	374	374	374
Eaton Axle	38¾	38¼	38¾	38¼	38¾	38¼
Elec Autolite	67	67	67	66	—	—
Elec & Battery	76¾	76¾	76¾	76¾	76¾	76¾
Erie R R	51¾	51¾	51¾	51¾	51¾	51¾
Fisk Rubber	11¾	11	11¾	11	—	—
Fleischmann	68¾	68¾	68¾	68¾	68¾	68¾
Fox Film	77	76¾	77	75¾	—	—
Freeport	66	66	66	66	—	—
Gabriel	8	8	8	8	—	—
Gen Asphalt	71¾	71¼	71¾	71	—	—
Gen Electric	147	145	147	145	—	—
Gen Motors	49¾	49½	50	49¾	—	—
Gen Motors.	188¾	188¾	188¾	188	188	188
Gen Ry Sig	107	107	107	107	107	107
Gillett R	100¼	100¼	100¼	100¼	100¼	100¼
Glimbel Bros	53¾	53¾	53¾	53¾	53¾	53¾
Goodrich B F	74¼	74¼	74¼	74¼	74¼	74¼
Goodyear	48¾	47¾	48¾	47¾	—	—
Graham Paige	33	32¾	33	32¾	—	—
Granby	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾	52¾
Gt Nor Ore	29¾	29¼	29¾	29¼	29¾	29¼
Greene Can	99	98¾	99	98¾	99	98¾
Gulf & S Am	43¾	43½	43¾	43½	43¾	43½
Hudson Motor	82¾	81	82¾	81¾	—	—
Hupp Motor	55¾	55¼	55¾	55¼	55¾	55¼
Ill Central	139¾	139¾	139¾	138¾	—	—
Independ Oil	24	24	24	23¾	—	—
Indian Refg	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾	—	—
Inspiration Cp	21¾	21¼	21¾	21¼	—	—
Inter Rubber	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	—	—
Int Agricul pf	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾	—	—
Int Harvester	263¼	263½	263¾	261	—	—
Int Business	129	128½	130	129	—	—
Int Com Eng	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾	—	—
Int Match pf	103¾	102½	103¾	102¾	—	—
Intl Mer Marpf	36	36	36	36	—	—
Intl Nickel	90¾	90¼	90¾	90¼	—	—
Intl Paper	68¾	68¾	68¾	68¾	—	—
Intl Tel & Tel	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾	—	—
Jones Store	27¼	27¼	27¼	27	—	—
Kan City & So	46¾	45¾	46¾	46¾	—	—
Kelly Springfd	47¾	47¾	47¾	47¾	—	—
Kennecott Cop	91¾	91¼	91¾	91¼	—	—
Kraft Cheese	62¾	62¾	62¾	62¾	—	—
Lee Tire	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	—	—
Loew's Inc	23¾	23¾	23¾	23¾	—	—
Liggett Myers	97¾	96¾	97¾	96¾	—	—
Lorillard & Co	25¾	25¾	25¾	25¾	—	—
Louisiana Oil	13¾	13¾	13¾	13¾	—	—
Lou G & E.	83¾	83¾	83¾	83¾	—	—
Ludlum Steel	55¾	55	55¾	55¼	—	—
Mack Trucks	90¾	90¼	90¾	90¼	—	—
Macy	36¾	36¾	36¾	36¾	—	—
Mallinson H R	15	15	15	15	—	—
Manhatt R Sup	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾	—	—
Marland Oil	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾	—	—
Mathieson	124	124	124	121	—	—
Max Motor A	29¾	29¾	29¾	29¾	—	—
Mex Seabd Oil	24¾	23¾	24¾	23¾	—	—
Mid Cont Pet	27¾	27¾	27¾	27¾	—	—
Mid States Oil	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾	—	—
Mo Kan&T pf	103¾	103¼	103¾	103¼	—	—
Mo Pacific pf	114¾	114¾	114¾	112¾	—	—
Montgy Ward	159	156	158½	155¾	—	—
Moon Motor	7	7	7	7	—	—
Moto-Meter A	16¼	16¼	16¼	16¼	—	—
Mush Motors	29	29	29	29	—	—
Nat Biscuit	162	162	162	161¼	—	—
Nat Dairy Pr	77	76¼	77	76¼	—	—
Nat Enam & St	29	29	29	29	—	—
Nat P & L.	32¾	32¾	33¾	32¾	—	—
Nev Cons Cop	22¾	22¾	22¾	22¾	—	—
New Cent Coal	16¼	16¼	16¼	16¼	—	—
New Haven pf.	113¾	113¾	113¾	113¾	—	—
New Haven	55¾	55¾	55¾	55¾	—	—
New Orl Gt W	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾	—	—
New Pr pf.	95¼	95¼	95¼	95¼	—	—
Nicholas Copp	21¾	21¾	21¾	21¾	—	—
Ohio Oil	22¾	22¾	22¾	22	—	—
Pac Gas & El	47¾	47¾	47¾	47¾	—	—
Pac Mail	41	41	41	41	—	—
Pan-Am Pet	41	41	41	41	—	—
Pan-Am Pet B	41¼	41¼	41¼	41¼	—	—
Panhandle P&R	15	15	15	14¾	—	—
Panhandle P&R 15	15	15	15	15	—	—
Par Fa Lasky	127¾	127¾	127¾	127¾	—	—
Penn R R	39¾	39¾	39¾	39¾	—	—
Penn Seaboard	70¼	70¼	70¼	70¼	—	—
Peoples Gas	114¾	113¾	114¾	113¾	—	—
Pere Marq pf	35	35	35	35	—	—
Phila Co	46	45¾	46	45¾	—	—
Phillips Petrol	22¾	22¾	22¾	22¾	—	—
Pierce Arrow	61¾	61¾	61¾	61¾	—	—
Pierce Oil	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	—	—
Pittsburgh Coal	80¾	80¾	80¾	80

LORD BURGHLEY IS TO WED DUKE'S DAUGHTER

London, July 18 (AP)—The engagement of Lord Burghley, ambridge university and British Olympic team hurdler, to Lady Mary Montagu-Douglas-Scott, the fourth daughter of the Duke of Buccleuch, was announced today.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

LOST AND FOUND

FOUND BY THE POLICE
Boston terrier, dk. brindle and white; spaniel, pure dog, male, tan and black; Boston terrier, female, black and white; lamp roll of paper; Pennington's bicycle. Call MISS JAMES, Liberty 2000.

PEKINGESE DOG
LOST, SABLE AND WHITE; DARK BROWN EYES; ANSWERS TO NAME "CY." CLOSELY MALE. ABOUT 1 YR. OLD. 12th REAL REWARD. CONCORD, MASS.; TEL. 246-W.

CROSS OF GOLD; LOST AT NANTASKET; REWARD. HANCOCK 0726.

CANARY—Lost from 96 Mount Vernon St., Beacon Hill; finder return to Robert Cushman at the above address.

DOG—Lost, small mongrel white with black ear, name Prince. Lib. 2000. Reward.

DOG—Found, female Boston terrier; owner identify call Revere 2700-M.

BEAUTY AIDS

STUDLEY BEAUTY PARLOR
$8 Permanent Wave $8
Permanent waving done by a licensed operator of 15 years' experience. Call or MADAME WHITEHEAD, 125 Tremont St., Room 3102, Tel. Lib. 5668.

HAIR COLORING
Perfect color guaranteed, any permanent wave, $5 up or Bob a cut. Will stay in 12 months. 30 years' experience. 3 Winter St., Room 1, Cambridge. Kirkland 4.

$ PERMANENT WAVE $8
FIRST OIL TREATED
A Permanent wave with natural ends
BEAUTY HAVEN SHOPPE,
220 Boylston St., Room 306, Capitol 3996

Complete Permanent Wave $9
Shampoo and Set Free
"Charm" Beauty Shoppe, 9 Winter St., Rm. 906, Han. 1795.

PERMANENT WAVING
Frederic's Vita Tonic Process, $10
Ringlet Finish, No extra charges. Call DOLORES HALL, Harvard 1563
4 Winter St., Room 1105

ELECTRIC NEEDLE SPECIALIST

HAIR in ladies' face permanently removed, by Prof. Scott, Physicians' references. 8213 BELLEVUE BUILDING, 125 Tremont St., Bos. 3110. Hancock 7256

PERMANENT WAVING
GUARANTEED TO LAST 6 MONTHS.
6 WINTER ST., RM. 710, LIB. 8082.

$5—Permanent, finest cash. Miss Dell, 8 Winter St., room 1105. Han. 8082.

DRESSMAKING—TAILORING

SIMMER dresses made; prices reas. Violet F. Cormier, 61 Hall St., Dor. 1576-M.

DERMATOLOGY

LOOK
20 Years Younger in 1 Hour
FACE LIFTED
This Week
$50
Boston's Leading Plastic Surgeon
DR. E. P. REID
100 Boylston St., Boston
Room 829 Phone HANcock 1319
Thirty Years' Exclusive Practice
A Specialty of Name "Skin Specialist"
All Imperfections of Face — Skin — Body — Nose — Scalp — Hair — Hands — Feet — Figure — Poise — Carriage — Voice — Manner — Speech — Walk — Dress — Etc. — Etc. — Etc.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE

BOSTON ~~SUNDAY~~ EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, JULY 18, 1928

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON: 1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

When Heroes Fall

Duty of the Community Toward the Dependents of Policemen and Firemen Killed "in Action"

It is to be hoped that the Legislature will not be prorogued until it has passed a general law for the proper care of the widows and dependent children of policemen killed or incapacitated while engaged in the performance of their duties.

Day after day the police officer leaves the station house to take up his tour of duty ignorant of what may be in store for him.

His comrades who have just heard him laughing and joking may learn within the hour that his life has been snuffed out by a reckless thief.

He is the soldier of peace, engaged in a war without end.

When he falls, before the "gat" of housebreaker or holdup man, the custom has been to "pass the hat" for the relief of his dependents. If there has been something spectacular about his taking off, the popular subscription is a success, for the more generous among his fellow citizens would not have it otherwise.

But "passing the hat," we submit, is not a seemly way, not the dignified way, not the proper way, to make provision for the dependents of a hero.

The city should provide for the loved ones of its peace officers with the promptness and regularity with which the Nation takes care of the dependents of soldiers and sailors.

One proposal is that the widow shall be paid an annuity of $1000 so long as she remains unmarried; and that a monthly allowance be made for the children until they have become self-supporting.

The legislative Committee on Pensions, following a public hearing, has voted to report such a bill, to apply only in such cities and towns as "accept" it. We would very much prefer a MANDATORY act, operative at once throughout Massachusetts, but the committee bill will be at least a beginning and it can be amended hereafter as experience may suggest.

The bill as reported, by Senator Webber of East Bridgewater, provides for the dependents of firemen as well as those of policemen. This makes it so much the better. It ought to pass.

Murderers

What Else Are Motorists Who Hit—AND KILL—and Drive Away?

DEATH AND HIS TRUMP CARD

There is reason for believing that the hit-and-run sneak whose big blue sedan struck and killed an old man in the Wollaston section of Quincy last Sunday night had been involved in at least one other such murder.

Immediately upon striking 72-year-old Jacob McLeod, the sneak at the wheel TURNED OFF THE LIGHTS OF HIS CAR AND SPED AWAY.

McLeod's death was ONE OF FIVE in Massachusetts on Sunday at the hands of hit-and-runners.

All but one of the victims was more than 50 years of age.

The hit-and-runner's victims are always pedestrians; usually they are either very young or elderly.

WHAT are we going to do about these slayers and WHEN?

Mr. Goodwin suggested, many months ago, that investigation would show that in most cases they have more to fear than the punishment that might be coming to them for the "accident."

It was the opinion of the former Registrar of Motor Vehicles, based upon observation and experience, that the brute who hits and runs away is in most cases either a drunken driver, with a "record," or a bootlegger, with or without.

It may be, however, that he is a SOBER sneak, fearful of both losing his license and going to jail.

In either case he IS a sneak, and appealing to his sense of duty is like appealing to a hog's sense of decency.

The one hope of the WALKING public, in the situation which has developed here, lies in co-operation.

When YOU witness an automobile accident be quick to TAKE THE NUMBER OF THE OFFENDING CAR.

State and city police can help by seeing to it that automobile numbers are LEGIBLE.

The hit-and-run driver, judging by recent records, is Death's trump card, his "ace."

He has added greatly to the dangers of the highway.

He is a menace to life and limb.

His continued presence cannot help but increase the regulations and restrictions imposed upon the law-abiding driver.

He is today's greatest problem of the highways,

He MUST be suppressed.

Summer Madness

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

JEALOUSY IS A FORM OF EGOTISM

By DR. FRANK CRANE

SOMETIMES I have heard it said that strong jealousy is an indication of true love. If one does not care enough to be jealous, then he cannot love much.

Careful reflection upon this matter, however, rather leads to the conclusion that jealousy hasn't anything to do with love. It is a form of egotism. A man is jealous because his ego is offended on account of his rights or privileges being invaded.

His love is not hurt because the beloved one may fancy someone else. That is no offense to him; but his vanity is extremely wounded.

Pure and unselfish love simply seeks the welfare of the beloved, but a great deal that is called love is a search for gratification or for something that can please us.

Perhaps it is too much to ask of poor human nature that we should be devoted so sincerely to the welfare of one we love that we are willing to sacrifice all of our interests for the beloved's sake; yet that is a very romantic and ideal state of perfection which few of us reach.

Why be jealous? Jealousy means that in some way we feel our rights have been infringed upon. Wherever one establishes a right over another person, there is sure to be trouble. If all we claimed over another were the privilege of serving that other, there would not be any jealousy.

It is hard to believe that so good and perfect a thing as love can anywise beget jealousy, for that way madness lies.

Jealousy works as a poison in the blood and leads to all sorts of vicious actions, from the crime of Othello down to petty wickedness.

It would seem that for one's own sake, for the sake of one's own self-respect and integrity, it would be much better to turn away from all thoughts of jealousy than to give way to angry and vicious imaginings.

Unfortunately some men can only love according to their traditions. It must be a proprietary kind of love. The beloved object must have no thought, no interest, except for them, and the slightest sign of independence is looked upon as treachery.

This is the idea of property right gone mad. No person can have such claims upon another, and our love for that other will be more secure if it is accompanied by a disposition to grant the beloved one reasonable freedom.

©Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I WANT to tell you about this corner of your paper. It is not, as you have guessed, like any other corner of the paper. There is something queer about it—something comforting, something cantankerous, almost as if it were alive—

And the truth is, IT IS ALIVE. IT IS A LIVING SPIRIT, REACHING THROUGH THIS SHEET OF PAPER TO YOU.

You've never thought of newspapers in that way, have you? Never thought of them as having a living part. And, generally speaking, they haven't had a living part. Newspapers have been something you could buy. Like pickles. Or tar paper. Or cold cream. Or corn plasters. Something you held for a little while in your hand, read, laughed at, scowled over, tossed, away, forgot. Something that only touched the outside of your hand, the outside of your life—something that couldn't possibly touch the INSIDE THINGS, your hidden loneliness and hunger, wonder and tenderness.

A lifeless, printed sheet—that was a newspaper.

Yet all the while, on the other side of that printed sheet, life was going on in a warm, restless tide—the life of the men and women who made that paper—life which was filled with the same loneliness and hunger which you felt, the same wonder and tenderness.

You couldn't see those other lives or feel them—

They couldn't see you or feel you—

That printed sheet stood like a wall between you—

But, at last, a little piece of the wall has gone down. Life has grown more free, more brave in every way. It has grown brave enough to break through even a newspaper sheet. So a little piece of the wall has gone down in this column. And through the rent there comes, not news which you can buy inch by inch, but that human warmth which no money can ever buy.

THROUGH THAT RENT IN THE WALL THERE HAS COME AT LAST THE HANDCLASP OF A FRIEND.

This column is actually a hand outstretched to you. Not my hand alone, but the hands of all those simple, kindly people who build this paper. It is not a very wise hand nor a very graceful hand, not even a very clean hand. It is calloused and clumsy and stained, as human hands are apt to be. But it is real. And through it beats the hot and restless tides of our common life.

Here, if you will have it, is a part of the paper which you will not forget when you have read the stock quotations and the funnies. Here is a part that will watch with you through the darkness and work with you in the light. Will you take it? Will you read this column, not as you read a printed handbill, but as you read the line of a friend? And, having read it, will you let its humanness warm the rest of the paper into humanness for you—will you see through all these printed films the comrades who march with you, sharing your life?

Will you give yourself back to me as I give myself to you—telling me of your weakness and your wrongs, your confidence and your confusion, as I tell you of mine? Yes, I will answer you always. In a private letter, if you will send your address. And each talk between us will be held sacred if you wish. Just as though you were my kin. FOR YOU ARE MY KIN, and there is between you and this paper something more than a bond of trade. There is the blood bond of brothers. For we are all comrades on one trail—we are all soldiers in one great battle. And this thin sheet of paper which makes a little darkness between us, will not, cannot, separate us if you will put out your hand and grasp mine. WILL YOU?

Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 18—The charm of Greenwich Village is pronounced on a sultry evening. It is a part of town that completely relaxes in the splendor of a dying day and manages somehow to create a mood—detached, somber and a little mellow.

There is a verdant freshness to the little triangular squares which does not come to the other open places in the city. And the aura of quiet sublimity about the Queen Anne cottages with ivy clad lintels and the faded old red-bricked mansions impresses the stranger.

The Village has an Old World manner. Worn brick pavements fill with leisurely groups and you see young folks drifting cater-cornered across the street with arms thrown over each others' shoulders. Women in fresh lawn dresses occupy camp chairs in doorways. Dogs roam at random.

The doors of the coffee shops and waffle parlors are wide open and the proprietors often sit out front in skirt-sleeved ease. Whole families, too, occupy the high front stoops. Children roll hoops, play hide and seek and other games in the dwindling light.

Very few Village stores open until noon, but they are open all evening, at which time they do their biggest business. They deal chiefly in batik gowns, hand-woven dresses, samovars, art metal work, lamp shades, sundry antiques, trick ukuleles and naughty pictures.

On a summer evening windows of the high-ceiled studios are usually open, thus revealing the colorful comfort of the open fireplaces, the high mantels and expansive mirrors of another generation. Blobs of light from gas jets flickering and dancing in attics also add their touch.

The Village has many back yards that have been brick-walled off into tiny gardens slit with cool gravel paths and blooming with flowers. And usually a bench protected by a gay striped umbrella. Along some of the Village streets there still remain trees with fresh moist leaves, a sort of idyllic mockery to a city that neglects its trees.

THE produce district sprawling along the southern section of West street is another vivid contrast from the usual in New York. The buildings are of old red brick with wooden awnings spreading out over the sidewalk. Across the street are the piles of steamship piers. Out front is a panorama of mountainous piles of crated produce. All day long there are groups of boys defying death under motor trucks and horse drawn wagons to play ball. At night the sacks and boxes are dotted with seamen, longshoremen and other water front characters who prefer their uncomfortable couches to bug-ridden lodging houses.

AROUND the gloomy dark warehouses at night are wizened old women who carry sacks and forage for kindling, rotting fruit and other articles that drop from wagons. In the half light they are reminiful of buzzards pecking at carrion.

AN auto dealer tells me New York has a number of professional "samplers." They are usually men and women of good addresses and are able to supply themselves with cars almost continuously by offering themselves as prospective patrons at various auto agencies. In this way they secure trial cars to attend the theater shop and even go on short touring trips.

AND large jewelry houses are frequently the victims of those estimables who secure jewels over night on approval, wearing them to the play or opera, and returning them in the morning.

THE only way I was ever able to get anything free—outside of the customary air from magazine editors—has been on Pullman cars, but that is ended. They have stopped putting little black combs in the washrooms.

AND add similes: As useless as those little green hammocks they hang between Pullman berth windows.

Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Good Work by Lindbergh

Why Doesn't the Government Imitate It?

Colonel Lindbergh arranges to train sixty-three young fliers, one selected by competition from each State and from large cities.

They will learn flying at San Diego, California. The best flier of the sixty-three will receive a $12,000 airplane like the ship in which Lindbergh crossed the ocean.

Every university in the country should give free instruction to any young man willing to fly. And the National Government should train, as it easily could do, thousands of young fliers every year to form a reserve in case of need. Navy pilots and machines could do the work.

Tariff and the Farmer

Cut One, You Cut the Other

Democrats, you are told, will "shun a low tariff plank." That will be wise shunning. The "octopus of capital" gets nourishment from the tariff undoubtedly. But the tariff enables that octopus to pay workmen in America at least twice what they get in other countries. And a part of what the workers get is all the American farmer can get.

Cut the tariff, cut wages, and you really will have a farm problem.

What Do You Know?

BOSTON'S ORIGINAL KNOWLEDGE TEST

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Match correctly:

1—Robert Burns	American naval officer
2—George Arliss	Norwegian dramatist
3—Johann Strauss	Scottish poet
4—Henrik Ibsen	English actor
5—Reginald de Koven	Austrian composer
6—David Farragut	American composer

Fill each blank:

7—The faithful daughter in "King Lear" is ——.
8—Father Matthew was the "apostle of ——."
9—Rutger's College is in ——, New Jersey.
10—Calculus is a branch of the science of ——.
11—The substance that gives the blood the red color is ——.

Do you Know:

12—Who said, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever"?
13—Where is the island of Elba?
14—On what part of the body are sandals worn?
15—What color is nacrine?

See tomorrow's paper to verify your results. Answers to yesterday's test:

1—Pope. 2—Palestine. 3—"Robinson Crusoe." 4—Ireland. 5—Hawk. 6—Western bank of Hudson river. 7—Air pressure. 8—Delight. 9—Time. 10—Eyes. 11—Malta. 12—Trafalgar. 13—Dartmouth. 14—Sackville. 15—Abyssinia.

Copyright, 1928, Boston American and King Feature Syndicate, Inc.